A. Whenever the Auditor General determines through the periodic review established in § 6 or § 7 that program, division, chapter, enterprise or entity has failed to implement the corrective action plan approved by the Budget and Finance Committee within the time table set by the corrective action plan or the Auditor General, the Auditor General shall immediately report that failure to the Controller of the Navajo Nation and to the Budget and Finance Committee.

B. As a sanction for failure to implement the corrective action plan, the Controller shall cause ten percent (10%) of monies payable from any governmental fund of the Navajo Nation as defined at 12 N.N.C. § 810(R) to be withheld after the recommended sanction is approved by the Budget and Finance Committee and issued to the program, division, chapter, enterprise or entity until such time as the program, division, chapter, enterprise or entity demonstrates to the Auditor General that the corrective action plan has been implemented. Once proof of implementation of the corrective action plan has been demonstrated, the Auditor General shall immediately report this compliance to the Controller who shall then release all withheld funds to the program, division, chapter, enterprise or entity.

C. In addition, the director of any program, division, or entity of the Navajo Nation which fails to implement a corrective action plan, as reported by the Auditor General, shall have twenty percent (20%) of their salary withheld by the Controller after the recommended sanction is approved by the Budget and Finance Committee until such time as the program, division, enterprise or entity which is subject to his or her direction demonstrates to the Auditor General that the corrective action plan has been implemented. Whenever the audited program is a chapter of the Navajo Nation, twenty percent (20%) of any payment prospectively due the chapter officials shall be withheld by the Controller and the chapter government. Once proof of implementation of the corrective action plan has been demonstrated, the Auditor General shall immediately report this compliance to the Controller and, where applicable, the chapter government, who shall then release the withheld salary to the director of the program, division, enterprise, or entity or to the chapter official.

D. Any director or chapter official whose salary or other payments are withheld pursuant to § 9(C) shall have the right to have the withholding reviewed by the Navajo Nation Office of Hearings and Appeals. The withholding of salary shall be upheld if there is a preponderance of evidence in support of these factors. The decision of the Office of Hearings and Appeals shall be final and no appeal shall lie to the courts of the Navajo Nation.

§ 331. Competitive Sealed Bidding

Competitive Sealed Bidding shall be the preferred method of source selection, and shall be conducted in a manner consistent with the procedures set forth in the Navajo Nation Business Opportunity Act, 5 N.N.C. § 205.

A. Invitation for bids. An invitation for bids shall include a purchase description, and all contractual terms and conditions applicable to the procurement. Purchase descriptions, terms and conditions, and specifications for goods and services shall not be unduly restrictive. The invitation for bids shall set forth the criteria to be used in evaluation of bids which are submitted. The invitation for bids shall refer to the preference of Navajo and Indian-owned businesses under the Navajo Nation Business Opportunity Act., 5 N.N.C. § 201 et seq.

B. Public Notice. Adequate public notice of the invitation for bids shall be issued a reasonable time prior to the date set for the opening of bids. Certified entities under the Navajo Nation Business Opportunity Act shall be provided such notice as set forth in the Navajo Nation Business Opportunity Act. Such notice may include publication in a newspaper of general circulation a reasonable time prior to bid opening.

C. Bid Opening. Bids shall be opened publicly in the presence of one or more witnesses at the time and place designated in the invitation for bids. The opening of bids shall be performed a manner consistent with the Navajo Nation Business Opportunity Act. The amount of each bid, and such other relevant information as may be specified by regulation, together with the name of each bidder shall be recorded; the record and each bid shall be open to public inspection, to the extent permitted by the Navajo Nation Privacy and Access to Information Act, 2 N.N.C. § 81 et seq.

D. Bid Acceptance and Bid Evaluation. Bids shall be unconditionally accepted without alteration or correction, except as authorized by the Navajo Nation Business Opportunity Act, or other provisions of law. Bids shall be evaluated based on the requirements set forth in the invitation for bids, which may include criteria to determine acceptability such as inspection, testing, quality, workmanship, delivery, and suitability for a particular purpose. The criteria affecting the bid price and considered in evaluation for award shall be objectively measurable, such as discounts, transportation costs, and total or life cycle costs. No criteria may be used in bid evaluation that are not set forth in the invitation for bids.

E. Correction or Withdrawal of Bids; Cancellation of Awards. Correction or withdrawal of inadvertently erroneous bids before or after award, or cancellation of awards or contracts based on such bid mistakes, shall be permitted in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Budget and Finance Committee. After bid opening no changes in bid prices or other provisions of bids prejudicial to the interest of the Navajo Nation or fair competition shall be permitted. Except as otherwise provided by regulation, all decisions to permit the correction or withdrawal of bids, or to cancel awards or contracts based on bid mistakes, shall be supported by a written determination made by the Director, Division of Finance, Purchasing Department or authorized designee or head of a purchasing agency.

F. Award. The contract shall be awarded with reasonable promptness by written notice to the lowest responsible and responsive bidder whose bid meets the requirements and criteria set forth in the invitation for bids. In the event all bids in a procurement exceed available funds as certified by the appropriate fiscal officer, and the low responsive and responsible bid does not exceed such funds by more than five percent (5%), the Director, Division of Finance, Purchasing Department or authorized designee, or the head of a purchasing agency, is authorized in situations where time or economic considerations preclude re-solicitation of work of a reduced scope to negotiate an adjustment of the bid price, including changes in the bid requirements, with the low responsive and responsible bidder, in order to bring the bid within the amount of available funds.

G. Multi-Step Sealed Bidding. When it is considered impractical to initially prepare a purchase description to support an award based on price, an invitation for bids may be issued requesting the submission of unpriced offers to be followed by an invitation for bids limited to those bidders whose offers have been qualified under the criteria set forth in the first solicitation.

§ 332. Competitive sealed proposals

A. Conditions for Use. When, under regulations promulgated by the Budget and Finance Committee, the Director, Division of Finance, Purchasing Department, the head of a purchasing agency, or a designee of either officer determines in writing that the use of competitive scaled bidding is either not practicable or not advantageous to the Navajo Nation, a contract may be entered into by competitive sealed proposals. The Budget and Finance Committee may provide by regulation that it is either not practicable or not advantageous to the Navajo Nation to procure specified types of supplies, services, or construction by competitive sealed bidding. The competitive sealed proposals process shall be conducted in a manner consistent with the procedures set forth in the Navajo Nation Business Opportunity Act, 5 N.N.C. § 205.

B. Request for Proposals. Proposals shall be solicited through a request for proposals. A request for proposals shall be issued and shall include a purchase description, and all contractual terms and conditions applicable to the procurement. Purchase descriptions, terms and conditions, and specifications for goods and services shall not be unduly restrictive. The request for proposals shall set forth the criteria to be used in evaluation of proposals which are submitted. The request for proposals shall refer to the preference of Navajo and Indian-owned businesses under the Navajo Nation Business Opportunity Act, 5 N.N.C. § 201 et seq.

C. Public Notice. Adequate public notice of the request for proposals shall be given in the same manner as provided in 12 N.N.C. § 331(B) (Competitive Sealed Bidding, Public Notice).

D. Opening of Proposals. The opening of proposals shall be performed in a manner consistent with the Navajo Nation Business Opportunity Act, 5 N.N.C. § 201 et seq. Proposals shall be opened so as to avoid disclosure of contents to competing offerors during the process of negotiation. A register of proposals shall be prepared in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Budget and Finance Committee, and shall be open for public inspection after contract award, to the extent provided in the Navajo Nation Privacy and Access to Information Act, 2 N.N.C. § 81 et seq.

E. Evaluation Factors. The request for proposals shall state the relative importance of price and other evaluation factors. The contract shall be awarded with reasonable promptness by written notice to the lowest responsible and responsive offeror whose proposal meets the requirements and criteria set forth in the request for proposals. In the event all proposals in a procurement exceed available funds as certified by the appropriate fiscal officer, and the low responsive and responsible proposal does not exceed such funds by more than five percent (5%), the Director, Division of Finance, Purchasing Department or authorized designee, or the head of a purchasing agency, is authorized in situations where time or economic considerations preclude re-solicitation of work of a reduced scope to negotiate an adjustment of the proposal price, including changes in the proposal requirements, with the low responsive and responsible offeror, in order to bring the proposal within the amount of available funds.

F. Discussion with Responsible Offerors and Revisions to Proposals. As provided in the request for proposals, and under regulations promulgated by the Budget and Finance Committee, discussions may be conducted with responsible offerors who submit proposals determined to be reasonably susceptible of being selected for award for the purpose of clarification to assure full understanding of, and responsiveness to, the solicitation requirements. Offerors shall be accorded fair and equal treatment with respect to any opportunity for discussion and revision of proposals, and such revisions may be permitted after submissions and prior to award for the purpose of obtaining best and final offers. In conducting discussions, there shall be no disclosure of any information derived from proposals submitted by competing offerors.

G. Award. Award shall be made to the responsible offeror whose proposal is determined in writing to be the most advantageous to the Navajo Nation taking into consideration price and the evaluation factors set forth in the request for proposals. No other factors or criteria shall be used in the evaluation. The contract file shall contain the basis on which the award is made, and shall be made public to the extent provided in the Navajo Nation Privacy and Access to Information Act, 2 N.N.C. § 81 et seq.

A. Applicability. Any procurement not exceeding fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) may be made using small purchase regulations adopted by the Budget and Finance Committee, provided, however, that procurement requirements shall not be artificially divided so as to constitute a small purchase under this section. § 345. Fiscal responsibility

Every contract modification, change order, or contract price adjustment under a construction contract with the Navajo Nation in excess of ten percent

(10%) of the original contract amount shall be subject to prior written certification by the fiscal officer of the entity responsible for funding the project or the contract, or other official responsible for monitoring and reporting upon the status of the costs of the total project budget or contract budget, as to the effect of the contract modification, change order, or adjustment in contract price on the total project budget or the total contract budget. In the event that the certification of the fiscal officer or other responsible official discloses a resulting increase in the total project budget and/or the total contract budget, the procurement officer or authorized designee shall not execute or make such contract modification, change order, or adjustment in contract price unless sufficient funds are available therefor, or the scope of the project or contract is adjusted so as to permit the degree of completion that is feasible within the total project budget and/or total contract budget as it existed prior to the contract modification, change order, or adjustment in contract price under consideration; provided, however, that with respect to the validity, as to the contractor, of any executed contract modification, change order, or adjustment in contract price which the contractor has reasonably relied upon, it shall be presumed that there has been compliance with the provisions of this Section.

§ 346. Architect-engineer and land surveying services

A. Applicability. Architect-engineer and land surveying services shall be procured as provided in this Section except as authorized by 12 N.N.C. § 334 (Small Purchases), 12 N.N.C. § 335 (Emergency Procurement), and 12 N.N.C. § 336 (Sole Source Procurement).

B. Policy. It is the policy of the Navajo Nation to publicly announce all requirements for architect-engineer and land surveying services and to negotiate contracts for architect engineer and land surveying services on the basis of demonstrated competence and qualification for the type of services required, and at fair and reasonable prices.

C. Architect-Engineer Selection Committee. In the procurement of architect-engineer and land surveying services, the Director, Division of Finance, Purchasing Department or the head of a purchasing agency shall encourage firms engaged in the lawful practice of their profession to submit annually a statement of qualifications and performance data. The Director, Division of Finance, Purchasing Department and a representative of Navajo Design and Engineering Services shall comprise the Architect-Engineer Selection Committee for each architect engineer and land surveying services contract over two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000). The Selection Committee for architect-engineer and land surveying services contracts under this amount shall be established in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Budget and Finance Committee. The Selection Committee shall evaluate current statement of qualifications and performance data on file with the Navajo Nation, together with those that may be submitted by other firms regarding the proposed contract. The Selection Committee shall conduct discussions with no less than three firms (if at least three firms respond to the solicitation) regarding the contract and the relative utility of alternative methods of approach for furnishing the required services, and then shall select therefrom, in order of preference, based upon criteria established and published by the Selection Committee, no less than three of the firms (if at least three firms respond to the solicitation) deemed to be the most highly qualified to provide the services required.

D. Negotiation. The procurement officer shall negotiate a contract with the highest qualified firm for architect-engineer or land surveying services at compensation which the procurement officer or authorized designee determines in writing to be fair and reasonable to the Navajo Nation. In making this decision, the procurement officer or authorized designee shall take into account the estimated value, the scope, the complexity, and the professional nature of the services to be rendered. Should the procurement officer or authorized designee be unable to negotiate a satisfactory contract with the firm considered to be the most qualified, at a price the procurement officer or authorized designee determines to be fair and reasonable to the Navajo Nation, negotiations with that firm shall be formally terminated. The procurement officer shall then undertake negotiations with the second most qualified firm. Failing accord with the second most qualified firm, the procurement officer or authorized designee shall formally terminate negotiations. The procurement officer or authorized designee shall then undertake negotiations with the third most qualified firm. Should the procurement officer or authorized designee be unable to negotiate a contract at a fair and reasonable price with any of the selected firms, the procurement officer or authorized designee shall select additional firms in order of their competence and qualifications, and the procurement officer or authorized designee shall continue negotiations in accordance with this Section until an agreement is reached.

O. “Object Code Transfer” means the transfer of appropriated funds from one object code to another object code within the same account while still maintaining the original intent of the appropriation account.

P. “Operating Budget” means a plan of financial operation embodying an estimate of proposed expenditures for a fiscal year and the proposed means of financing them (i.e., revenue estimates).

Q. “Program Budget” means an account, designated by the Office of Management and Budget, or series of accounts, related to a specific function, objective, or purpose.

R. “Spending Authority” means the legislative act by the Navajo Nation Council of authorizing the expenditure of appropriated funds which have been accepted by the Navajo Nation through the appropriate approval process.

S. All funds of the Navajo Nation government shall be classified and defined as follows:

1. “Government Fund Types.” Governmental funds are those groups of accounts which account for most governmental functions of the Navajo Nation. The acquisition, use and balances of the Navajo Nation’s expendable financial resources and the related liabilities (except those accounted for in proprietary funds and the long-term obligations account group) are accounted for through governmental funds. The measurement focus is based upon determination of changes in financial position, rather than upon net income determination. The following are the Navajo Nation's governmental fund types:

- a. "General Fund." This Fund is the general operating fund of the Navajo Nation. It is used to account for all financial resources except those required to be accounted for in another fund.
 - b. "Special Revenue Fund." This Fund is used to account for the proceeds of specific revenue sources (other than expendable trusts or major capital projects) that are legally restricted to expenditures for specified purposes. This Fund includes externally restricted funds which is defined as funds received by the Navajo Nation from sources other than the Navajo Nation for a specific purpose.
 - c. "Capital Projects Fund." This Fund is used to account for the financial resources and expenditure for the acquisition or construction of those capital improvements defined in Subsection (F) above (other than those financed by proprietary funds and fiduciary funds).
2. "Proprietary Fund Types." Proprietary funds are used to account for the Navajo Nation's ongoing organizations and activities which are similar to business operations in the private sector. The measurement focus is upon determination of net income and capital maintenance. The following are the Navajo Nation's proprietary fund types:
- a. "Enterprise Fund." This Fund is used to account for Navajo Nation operations that are financed and operated in a manner similar to private business enterprises—where the intent is that the costs of providing goods or services to the public be financed or recovered primarily through user charges: or where a periodic determination of revenues earned, expenses incurred, and/or net income is appropriate for accountability purposes.
 - b. "Internal Service Fund." This Fund is used to account for the financing of goods or services provided (inter and intergovernmental) on a cost-reimbursement basis.
3. "Fiduciary Fund Types." Fiduciary funds are used to account for assets held by the Navajo Nation in a trustee capacity or as an agent for individuals, private organizations, other governmental units, and/or other funds. These funds include but are not limited to expendable and nonexpendable trust funds, and pension trust funds, etc. Expendable trust funds are accounted for in a manner similar to governmental funds. Nonexpendable trust funds and pension trust funds are accounted for in a manner similar to proprietary funds.
4. The foregoing definitions concerning fund types shall not be deemed to create any exceptions to the Navajo Nation Sovereign Immunity Act.

F. Non-Recurring Revenues. The Nation shall restrict non-recurring revenues to budget non-recurring expenditures. In addition, non-recurring revenues will be budgeted only after an examination by the Controller to determine whether or not the revenues are subsidizing an imbalance between recurring revenues and expenditures, and expenditures may be authorized only if a long-term (three-to-five year) forecast shows that the operating deficit will not continue. Otherwise, non-recurring revenues will be added to the Unreserved, Undesignated Fund balance. This provision may be amended or waived only by a two-thirds vote of the full Council.

G. Matching Requirements. Funds appropriated to match funds from external sources shall be maintained in separate accounts administered by the Controller. If matching funds are not obtained from the external sources, the appropriated funds shall revert to the Unreserved, Undesignated Fund balance.

H. Long-Term Debt. Annual debt service for long-term debt shall not exceed eight percent (8%) of annual recurring revenue and long-term debt shall not be authorized until the impact of annual debt service on the annual operating budget, including sinking fund contributions, has been analyzed and a determination has been made that debt service payments are in compliance with this Section.

I. Capital Budget. Development of the Capital Budget shall be coordinated with development of the Operating Budget. All budget requests for capital improvements shall be in compliance with an adopted Capital Improvement Plan and shall not be approved unless in compliance with the Plan.

The Minimum Fund balance may be amended only by 2/3 vote of the full membership of the Navajo Nation Council. The Controller shall keep the Office of the President, the Office of the Speaker and the Budget and Finance Committee of the Navajo Nation Council advised at least quarterly as to the status of the Minimum Fund balance for Unreserved, Undesignated Fund balance. Further, Unreserved, Undesignated Fund balance shall not be utilized for funding recurring expenditures or operations of the Navajo Nation government.

K. Receipt of Additional Revenues. Funds received in excess of the initial or current revenue projection shall be deposited into the General Fund Unreserved, Undesignated Fund balance unless otherwise designated by the Navajo Nation Council.

L. Supplemental Appropriations. The Navajo Nation Council may adopt and approve supplemental appropriations to the Annual Comprehensive Budget during the fiscal year. Supplemental appropriations of General Funds within the current fiscal year are permitted, if and when additional sources of revenues above and beyond the initial or current revenue projections are projected and which are also in excess of the reserve amount set forth at § 820(J). Upon notification from the Controller of additional projected funds, the Budget and Finance Committee may convene budget hearings for the purpose of hearing and considering requests for supplemental appropriations. Supplemental appropriations to programs or activities with approved fiscal year operating budgets must be supported by additional recurring revenues for the same fiscal year. The Budget and Finance Committee, at the recommendation of the respective oversight standing committee(s), may recommend supplemental appropriations to the Navajo Nation Council. Supplemental appropriations made from non-recurring revenues shall only be made for non-recurring operations or purposes, as set forth at § 820(F). Appropriations to the chapters of the Navajo Nation shall not lapse at the end of the fiscal year provided that the chapters shall budget those funds in the subsequent fiscal year in accordance with the purposes and conditions originally set forth by the Navajo Nation Council in its appropriations.

O. Distributions to Chapter. Where not otherwise prohibited by existing law, any appropriation intended for distribution to all chapters of the Navajo Nation shall be allocated as follows: fifty percent (50%) of the appropriation shall be divided equally among all chapters and the remaining fifty percent (50%) shall be divided proportionately among the chapters using a percentage equal to that figure which the number of registered voters in each chapter bears to the whole of registered Navajo Nation voters as determined by the most current voter registration figures available as of the date of the appropriation.

P. Navajo Nation Grants. Any entity of the Navajo Nation requesting a grant from the Navajo Nation through the submission of a budget request shall first meet the following requirements:

§ 1320. Long term debt policies

A. Per 12 N.N.C. § 820(H), Long-term debt limitation. Annual debt service for long-term debt shall not exceed the sum of (i) eight percent (8%) of annual unrestricted recurring revenue, and (ii) projected annual project revenue, as calculated by the Controller, and long-term debt shall not be authorized until the impact of annual debt service on the annual operating budget, including sinking fund contributions, has been analyzed and a determination has been made that debt service payments are in compliance with this Section. For purposes of this Section, “annual debt service” payments for long-term debt shall only include the payment of scheduled principal, interest, costs associated with any credit enhancement device and other bond-related costs reasonably estimated to be or become payable in connection with any long-term debt consisting of a general obligation bond of the Navajo Nation or any other bond backed by the full faith and credit of the Navajo Nation which is not subject to annual appropriation by the Nation. “Projected annual project revenue” shall refer to annual revenues generated by a capital improvement or other project financed with either general obligation bonds of the Navajo Nation or other bonds backed by the full faith and credit of the Navajo Nation, as certified to the Controller on an annual basis by a financial advisor, feasibility consultant, accountant or other appropriate professional service provider acceptable to the Controller.

§ 1330. Financing of capital improvements and related projects

A. General Obligation Bonds. A governmental unit may issue general obligation bonds upon the adoption of an authorizing resolution or the enactment of an ordinance by its governing body for the financing of specific capital improvements for such governmental unit. Additionally, the Navajo Nation, through its Controller, may issue general obligation bonds for the financing of specific capital improvements for the Navajo Nation or any other governmental unit pursuant to an authorizing resolution or ordinance adopted or enacted by either its Council or the Budget and Finance Committee of the Council, provided that such improvements are part of an approved Capital Improvement Plan. The Controller shall review a request from the Navajo Nation to issue general obligation bonds. If the Controller can certify that funding is available to pay principal and interest within the limitations of the general revenues of the Navajo Nation and other designated available revenues, the issuance of general obligation bonds by the Navajo Nation to fund the capital improvements may be presented to the full Council or to the Budget and Finance Committee for approval or rejection only. The Controller shall have the responsibility for issuing general obligation bonds on behalf of the Navajo Nation and thereafter shall identify the requirements for payment of interest and principal on such bonds as part of the annual budget planning and preparation process until such time as the bonds are retired. General obligation bonds issued by a governmental unit other than the Navajo Nation shall be subject to all budgetary, approval and other requirements applicable to the governmental unit issuing general obligation bonds. In addition, notwithstanding the provisions of any law applicable to an issuing governmental unit, including without limitation those granting borrowing and other financing authority and powers to the governmental unit, including § 103 of the Local Governance Act, no governmental unit shall issue general obligation bonds unless such governmental unit has made application to the Controller and such application has been reviewed and approved by the Controller and, with respect to legal matters, approved by the Department of Justice. The Office of the Controller shall charge each governmental unit proposing to issue general obligation bonds an application fee in an amount sufficient to pay all costs associated with such review and approvals.

The Controller may, in providing the certification or approval required by the foregoing paragraph, retain the services of financial advisors, accountants, appraisers, feasibility consultants and other appropriate professional service providers and reasonably rely on the opinions, findings, statements and conclusions provided by such persons. Fees and costs associated with such services shall be paid by the Controller from application fees required to be paid to the Controller by the issuing governmental unit, as established by the Controller from time to time. All procurement of services must comply with applicable Navajo Nation laws, including the Navajo Preference in Employment Act, the Navajo Business and Procurement Act, and the Navajo Nation Procurement Act (12 N.N.C. § 301, et seq.)

B. Revenue Bonds. A governmental unit may issue revenue bonds upon the adoption of an authorizing resolution or the enactment of an ordinance by its governing body for the financing of specific capital improvements or for any other lawful public purpose identified by such governmental unit. Additionally, the Navajo Nation, through its Controller, may issue revenue bonds for the financing of specific capital improvements, provided that such improvements are part of an approved Capital Improvement Plan, pursuant to an authorizing resolution or ordinance adopted or enacted by either its Council or the Budget and Finance Committee of the Council, and provided further that the specific revenue stream upon which payment of principal and interest on the bonds will be made shall be identified and pledged to the payment of the bonds at the time the bonds are issued. The Controller shall review a request from the Navajo Nation to issue revenue bonds in light of guidelines. If the Controller can certify that funding within any applicable limitations are available from the identified revenue sources, the issuance of revenue bonds by the Navajo Nation to fund the proposed improvements may be presented to the full Council or to the Budget and Finance Committee for approval or rejection only. The Controller shall have the responsibility for issuing revenue bonds on behalf of the Navajo Nation and thereafter shall identify the requirements for payment of interest and principal on such bonds as part of the annual budget planning and preparation process until such time as the bonds are retired. Revenue bonds issued by a governmental unit other than the Navajo Nation shall be subject to all budgetary, approval and other requirements applicable to the governmental unit issuing revenue bonds. In addition, notwithstanding the provisions of any law applicable to an issuing governmental unit, including without limitation those granting, borrowing and other financing authority and powers to the governmental unit, including § 103 of the Local Governance Act, no governmental unit shall issue revenue bonds unless such governmental unit has made application to the Controller and such application has been reviewed and approved by the Controller and, with respect to legal matters, approved by the Department of Justice. The Office of the Controller shall charge each governmental unit proposing to issue revenue bonds an application fee in an amount sufficient to pay all costs associated with such review and approvals.

The Controller may, in providing the certification or approval required by the foregoing paragraph, retain the services of financial advisors, accountants, appraisers, feasibility consultants and other appropriate professional service providers and reasonably rely on the opinions, findings, statements and conclusions provided by such persons. Fees and costs associated with such services shall be paid by the Controller from application fees required to be paid to the Controller by the issuing governmental unit, as established by the Controller from time to time. All procurement of services must comply with applicable Navajo Nation laws, including the Navajo Preference in Employment Act, the Navajo Business and Procurement Act, and the Navajo Nation Procurement Act (12 N.N.C. § 301, et seq.)

A governmental unit issuing a revenue bond may pledge to the payment of such bonds, or may make a revenue bond payable from, all or any portion of:

1. The revenues of any revenue producing facility owned or operated by or providing services to such governmental unit or financed by the revenue bond;
2. The revenues of a public utility or system, or an addition or extension to the public utility or system, where the improvements, projects or facilities financed by the revenue bond are a portion of the public utility or system;
3. All or any portion of any other revenues of the governmental unit, regardless of whether such revenues are related to the improvements, projects or facilities financed by the revenue bond.

If a governmental unit determines that it is necessary to provide additional security for revenue bonds, the governmental unit may mortgage, grant security interests in or otherwise encumber facilities, projects, utilities or systems owned or operated by the governmental unit. Such security may be given in favor of the holders of revenue bonds, a trustee therefor or as security for its obligations arising under any credit enhancement device. A governmental unit may obtain a credit enhancement device for revenue bonds provided that such credit enhancement device shall be payable solely from revenues, the proceeds of revenue bonds, and the other additional security provided for in this paragraph.

C. Pledge of Nation's Full Faith and Credit. Only a bond issued by the Navajo Nation as a general obligation bond of the Navajo Nation in compliance with all provisions and requirements of this Chapter shall be backed by the full faith and credit of the Navajo Nation. No bond issued by a governmental unit, other than a general obligation bond of the Navajo Nation, shall be backed by the full faith and credit of the Navajo Nation unless the full faith and credit of the Navajo Nation has been specifically pledged to the payment of such bond by the Navajo Nation Council, the Controller has consented to such pledge, and the bond has been issued in compliance with all provisions and requirements of this Chapter for the issuance of a general obligation bond by the Navajo Nation. The Navajo Nation, acting through its Controller, may condition the lending of the full faith and credit of the Navajo Nation to back bonds issued by another governmental unit upon the satisfaction of such terms and conditions and the payment of such fees and charges as the Controller may establish from time to time.

D. Bond Issuance. In issuing bonds, a governmental unit may:

1. Subject to the limitations contained in this Chapter, establish the maturity schedules, interest rates, including fixed, variable or adjustable interest rate terms, tender or redemption provisions, provisions for capitalized interest and other bond terms;

2. Appoint a bond trustee and bond counsel and retain the services of financial advisors, underwriters, paying agents, legal counsel and other professional service providers in connection with the issuance of bonds;

3. Execute and deliver any necessary or appropriate agreement or other document in connection with obtaining a credit enhancement device;

4. Enter into covenants for the benefit of bondholders and the provider of any credit enhancement device to improve the security of bondholders or the provider of a credit enhancement device, or to maintain the tax-exempt status of interest payable on bonds;

5. Establish such bond funds as may be necessary or desirable to pay debt service, to secure bonds and for any other purpose reasonably related thereto; and

6. To apply bond proceeds to pay bond related costs.

E. Limitation on Bond Maturity. All long term debt issued will be repaid within a period not to exceed the expected useful lives of the capital improvement projects financed by the long term debt as certified to the Controller by a financial advisor, feasibility consultant, accountant or other appropriate professional service provider reasonably acceptable to the Controller. For purposes of this Section, the reasonably expected remaining economic life of a bond financed capital improvement shall be determined as of the date on which bonds are issued based on the expected remaining economic life of the equipment and other components of the bond financed improvement. Land shall not be taken into account in determining the economic life of a capital improvement, except that, in the event twenty-five percent (25%) or more of the proceeds of a bond issue financing such improvement are expended to acquire land, such land shall be treated as having an expected remaining economic life of thirty (30) years, and shall be taken into account in determining the reasonably expected remaining economic life of the bond financed improvement.

F. Investment of Bond Proceeds and Funds. Prior to the expenditure of bond proceeds for the purposes authorized by this Chapter, including the payment of bond related costs, such proceeds and investment earnings thereon, together with all other amounts held in any bond fund, shall be invested at the direction of the issuing governmental unit in accordance with and subject to the limitations of the applicable laws and regulations of the Navajo Nation and the governmental unit and in compliance with the investment policies established by the Controller from time to time for such proceeds and funds.

G. Refunding Bonds. A governmental unit that is authorized to issue general obligation bonds or revenue bonds pursuant to § 1330(A) or § 1330(B) may from time to time in its discretion upon the adoption of an authorizing resolution or the enactment of an ordinance by its governing body issue refunding bonds for the purpose of paying, defeasing, redeeming or retiring bonds previously issued by such governmental unit. Refunding bonds may, however, be issued by a governmental unit, only after such governmental unit has complied fully with the refunding rules applicable to such bonds issued by the Controller from time to time, including the payment of any fees required to be paid by the governmental unit to the Controller.

H. Manner of Sale. Bonds issued pursuant to this Chapter may be sold by a governmental unit pursuant to a public competitive bid or at a private negotiated sale, as determined by the governmental unit in accordance with prudent financial management practices. A governmental unit issuing bonds shall take all reasonable measures directed by the chief financial officer of the governmental unit to assure compliance by the governmental unit with the requirements of all applicable securities laws. In determining an appropriate manner of sale and in making recommendations to comply with applicable securities laws, a governmental unit and its chief financial officer may rely on the advice of its financial advisor or bond counsel, and may in its discretion retain the services of special counsel, financial advisors, investment bankers and other appropriate experts and reasonably rely on the advice and opinions provided by such persons.

I. Execution of Bonds. Bonds issued pursuant to this Chapter shall be signed by the chief executive and the chief financial officer of the governmental unit issuing bonds, by either manual or facsimile signature. For bonds issued by the Navajo Nation, the chief executive and the chief financial officer shall be the President and the Controller of the Navajo Nation, respectively. For bonds issued by a chapter, the chief executive and the chief financial officer shall be the chapter President and its Secretary/Treasurer, respectively. For bonds issued by a governmental unit other than the Navajo Nation or a Chapter, the chief executive and the chief financial officer shall be those persons designated as such for the governmental unit in the charter, legislation, plan of operation or other authority creating such unit. No person executing a bond on behalf of a governmental unit shall be liable personally on the bond by reason of the issuance thereof. In the event that a person whose signature appears on a bond as that of the chief executive or chief financial officer of the governmental unit ceases to hold such office prior to the delivery of a bond, the signature of such person shall, nevertheless, be valid and sufficient for all purposes, the same as if such person had remained in office until delivery.

J. Severability. If any provision of this Chapter, or its application to any governmental unit or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the provisions of this Chapter, and their application to any governmental unit or circumstance, shall not be affected.

K. Changes in Law. No provision of law applicable to a governmental unit issuing bonds hereunder that is enacted or adopted following the issuance of a bond, or any ordinance, resolution, initiative, referendum or other action adopted or taken subsequent to the issuance of a bond shall be given any force or effect if to do so would materially impair any obligation or covenant made with the holder of such bond or the interest of the provider of any credit enhancement device supporting or securing such bonds.

2. Equipment and utensils shall be thoroughly washed in the first compartment with a hot detergent solution that is kept clean; and
3. Equipment and utensils shall be rinsed free of detergent and abrasive with clean water in the second compartment.

E. Equipment and utensils shall be sanitized in the their compartment as follows:

1. Immersion for a least one-half (1/2) minute in clean, hot water at a temperature of at least 170°; or
2. Immersion for at least one minute in a clean solution containing at least 50 parts per million of available iodine and at a temperature of at least 75°F; or
3. Immersion for at least one minute in a clean solution containing at least 50 parts per million of available chlorine as a hypochlorite and at a temperature of at least 75°F; or
4. Immersion in a clean solution containing any approved sanitizing agent that will provide the equivalent bactericidal effect of a solution containing at least 50 parts per million of available iodine and at a temperature of a least 75°F for one minute; or
5. Treatment with steam free from unapproved materials or additives in the case of equipment too large to sanitize by immersion, but in which steam can be confined; or

§ 154. Mechanical cleaning and sanitizing

A. Cleaning and sanitizing may be done by spray-type or immersion dishwashing machines or by any other type of machine or device if it can be demonstrated to the Health Advisor that it thoroughly cleans and sanitizes equipment and utensils. These machines and device shall be properly installed and maintained in good repair. Machine and device shall be operated in accordance with manufacturers' instructions, and utensils and equipment placed in the machine shall be exposed to all dishwashing cycles. Automatic detergent dispensers, wetting agent dispensers, and liquid sanitizer injectors, if any, shall be an approved device properly installed and maintained.

B. Drain boards shall be provided, be self-draining, and be of adequate size for the proper handling of soiled utensils prior to washing and of cleaned utensils following sanitization and shall be so located and constructed as not to interfere with the proper use of the dishwashing facilities. This does not preclude the use of easily movable dish tables or carts for the storage of clean utensils following sanitization.

F. Equipment and utensils shall be flushed or scraped and, when necessary, soaked to remove food particles and soil prior to being washed in a dishwashing/warewashing machine unless a pre-wash cycle is a part of the dishwashing/warewashing machine operation. Equipment and utensils shall be placed in racks, trays, or baskets, or on conveyors, in a way that food-contact surfaces are exposed to the unobstructed application of detergent wash and clean rinse waters and that permits free draining.

G. Machines (single-tank, stationary-rack, door-type machines and spray-type glass washers) using chemical for sanitization may be used; provided, that:

1. The temperature of the wash water shall not be less than 120°F.
2. The wash water shall be kept clean.
3. Chemicals added for sanitization purposes shall be automatically dispensed.
4. Utensils and equipment shall be exposed to the final chemical sanitizing rinse in accordance with manufacturers' specifications for time and concentration.
5. The chemical sanitizing rinse water temperature shall be not less than 75°F nor less than the temperature specified by the machine's manufacturer.
6. Approved chemical sanitizer shall be used.
7. A test kit or other device that accurately measures the parts per million concentration of the solution shall be available and used.

1. Single-tank stationary-rack, dual-temperature machine:
 - Wash temperature 150°F
 - Final rinse temperature 180°F
2. Single-tank, stationary-rack, single-temperature machine:
 - Wash temperature 165°F
 - Final rinse temperature 165°F
3. Single-tank, conveyer machine:
 - Wash temperature 160°F
 - Final rinse temperature 180°F
4. Multi-tank, conveyer machine:
 - Wash temperature 150°F
 - Pumped rinse temperature 160°F
 - Final rinse temperature 180°F
5. Single-tank, pot, pan, and utensil washer (either stationary or moving-rack):
 - Wash temperature 140°F
 - Final Rinse temperature 180°F

I. All dishwashing/warewashing machines shall be thoroughly cleaned at least once a day or more often when necessary to maintain them in a satisfactory operating condition.

§ 402. Findings and purpose

A. Tobacco use leads to disease and death and has created an epidemic of tragic proportions. More than 400,000 deaths per year in the United States are tobacco-related. Tobacco causes more deaths than AIDS, homicide, suicide, automotive accidents, and alcohol and drug use combined.

B. According to the United States Surgeon General, Native Americans have “substantially higher” smoking rates than any other group in the general United States population. Data compiled by the National Center for Health Statistics shows that the overall prevalence of cigarette smoking among American Indians and Alaska Natives was forty-eight and two-tenths percent (48.2%) in 1978 and thirty-nine and two-tenths percent (39.2%) in 1994–5.

C. Smoking rates of Native American minors are significantly higher than the smoking rates of all other groups of minors in the United States. According to the United States Surgeon General, the prevalence of previous-month cigarette smoking during 1990–94 was thirty-nine and four-tenths percent (39.4%) among American Indian and Alaska Native females and forty-one and one-tenth percent (41.1%) among males. A 1992 survey of Navajo and Pueblo school children found that thirty and six-tenths percent (30.6%) of fifth graders and sixty and four-tenths percent (60.4%) of seventh graders had tried smoking. Approximately seventy percent (70%) of all adult smokers start smoking before the age of 18.

D. The use of tobacco is unique among all consumer products sold in the Navajo Nation. It is the only product which, when used as the manufacturer intends, will lead to disease and/or death.

E. Tobacco use in the Navajo Nation has resulted in a health care crisis. In conjunction with the United States government, the Navajo Nation provides medical assistance to tribal members. In responding to the health care crisis resulting from tobacco use, the Navajo Nation has paid millions of dollars each year, including payments funded by the Indian Health Care Improvement Act, 25 U.S.C. § 1601, et seq., to treat the tobacco-related illnesses of tribal members.

F. In addition to the health care costs arising from tobacco-related illnesses, tobacco use imposes incalculable additional costs on the Navajo Nation. These costs include, but are not limited to, the income that would be generated by those tribal members who suffer debilitating illness or death at the hands of tobacco and the costs of caring for dependents or such tribal members.

G. It is a policy of the Navajo Nation, as well as that of the United States pursuant to the Indian Health Care Improvement Act,¹ to raise the health status of tribal members to the highest possible level and to reduce the prevalence and incidence of preventable illnesses among, and unnecessary and premature deaths of, tribal members.

H. It is the intent of the Navajo Nation and the Indian Health Care Improvement Act¹ that the Navajo Nation recover the costs of providing health care services from third parties held liable for such costs. It is intended that the Navajo Nation shall recover from a liable tobacco manufacturer the costs of treating the tobacco-related illnesses of tribal members.

I. In order to protect the health of tribal members, it is also a policy of the Navajo Nation to prevent restraints of trade, and unfair, deceptive, fraudulent and unconscionable acts or practices committed in the sale of tobacco products.

J. This Act shall be liberally construed so that its beneficial purposes may be served.

§ 403. Definitions

A. “Tribal member” means any member of the Navajo Nation.

B. “Tobacco” means any tobacco product, including but not limited to loose tobacco suitable for smoking, snuff flour, cavendish, plug and twist tobacco, fine cut and other kinds and forms of tobacco suitable for chewing and smoking, including cigars and cigarettes.

C. “Tobacco manufacturer” means any person engaged in the process of designing, fabricating, assembling, producing, constructing or otherwise preparing a product containing tobacco, including any packaging or labeling or repacking or relabeling of such product, with the intention of selling the product for gain or profit. “Tobacco manufacturer” does not include persons whose activity is limited to growing natural leaf tobacco or to selling tobacco products at wholesale or retail to consumers; Provided that this term shall not be interpreted to mean any person that engages in the defined activities in furtherance of a religious practice, e.g. Navajo Mountain tobacco.

D. “Liable tobacco manufacturer” means a tobacco manufacturer having an obligation under this Act, or otherwise by law, to pay all or any portion of the medical expense incurred by the Navajo Nation to treat the tobacco-related illnesses of tribal members. The obligation is not discharged by virtue of being undiscovered or undeveloped at the time assistance is provided. Liability includes a finding of legal liability by a court of law.

E. A “restraint of trade” means a contract, combination, or conspiracy between two or more persons in restraint of trade or commerce. It is a restraint of trade hereunder to agree not to research, develop, manufacture or sell less harmful tobacco products, or to advertise tobacco based on comparative health claims.

F. An “unfair” act or practice is one which:

1. Offends public policy as defined by statute or common law;
2. Is immoral, unethical, oppressive or unscrupulous;
3. Causes substantial injury to consumers; or
4. A reasonable person would conclude was designed to encourage or does encourage persons under the age of 18 to use tobacco products.

G. A “deceptive” act or practice is one which has the tendency or capacity to deceive concerning a material fact which a person could be expected to consider in determining whether to commence or continue using tobacco products or a particular brand or type of tobacco product, whether or not any person has in fact been misled, deceived or damaged thereby. It includes the use or employment of any deception, fraud, false pretense, false promise, misrepresentation or the concealment, suppression or omission of any material fact. Actual reliance by a person is not required. Nor is it necessary to prove intent to deceive. In evaluating representations and omissions hereunder, the test is whether the act or practice has the tendency or capacity to deceive or mislead the least sophisticated consumer. The technical correctness of a representation is irrelevant if the capacity to deceive or mislead is found.

H. “Unconscionable acts or practices” include, without limitation:

1. Withholding, suppressing or altering information concerning the deleterious health effects of tobacco products in any manner which deprives consumers or governmental authorities of such information;
2. Making insupportable, bad-faith claims of attorney client privilege or work product protection in order to suppress information about the adverse health effects of tobacco;
3. Deliberately enhancing the addictive qualities of tobacco products through such means as increasing the bioavailability of nicotine in tobacco smoke and breeding or selecting strains of tobacco plants that have unusually high nicotine content;
4. Designing ventilation holes and other technology to provide the smoker with higher levels of “tar” and nicotine than those documented in F.T.C. tests; and
5. Not informing “low tar” or “light” smokers of the proper manner in which to smoke those products in order to obtain the lower “tar” and nicotine levels advertised by the tobacco manufacturers.

I. “Person” shall include, where applicable, natural persons, corporations, trusts, unincorporated associations and partnerships, and governmental entities.

J. “Caused” as used in § 404(B)(3) of this Act means that the tobacco product was a material element and a substantial factor in bringing about the health conditions and includes both direct and indirect effects.

K. “Unit” as used in this Act means a pack of cigarettes or a package of smokeless tobacco.

§ 404. Liability for tobacco-related illnesses

A. After the Navajo Nation has provided medical assistance to tribal members for tobacco-related illness under any program, it may recover from tobacco manufacturers the amount paid or likely to be paid for medical assistance to such persons, plus civil penalties, costs, reasonable attorneys’ fees and other appropriate relief.

B. In order to recover under subsection (A) of this section, the Navajo Nation shall prove:

1. That a tobacco manufacturer, in the research, design, manufacture, distribution, marketing or sale of a tobacco product, did one or more of the following:
 - a. Conspired to restrain trade or engage in restraints of trade;
 - b. Committed an unfair or deceptive act or practice;
 - c. Committed an unconscionable act or practice;
 - d. Was negligent or produced a defective product unreasonably dangerous to the user or consumer who received or will receive medical assistance; or
 - e. Violated any other duties owed under the law of the Navajo Nation.
2. That the tobacco manufacturer’s perpetration of any such act as enumerated in Subsection (B)(1) was a factor in tribal members’ use of unreasonably unsafe tobacco products.
3. That the tobacco products caused the health conditions for which the Nation seeks reimbursement; and any rights or causes of action by an individual tribal member to recover damages or other relief as a result of tobacco-related illness. In the event that recovery of health care expenditures had been achieved hereunder, and the individual tribal member thereafter recovers damages from a tobacco manufacturer, then the tobacco manufacturer shall be entitled to a setoff for the amount of any such recovery which represents the expenditure on behalf of the individual tribal member.
4. The amount of compensatory damages and the appropriateness of any other relief sought.

B. Existing common law and statutory actions available to recover health care expenditures from a tobacco manufacturer, including direct action, are expressly preserved. An action brought pursuant to this Act may be brought in addition to any existing common law or statutory action, or both, and shall not preempt, limit or extinguish those actions.

A. Principles of common law and equity as to assignment, lien, subrogation, comparative negligence, assumption of risk, and all other affirmative defenses normally available to a tobacco manufacturer are to be abrogated to allow full recovery from tobacco manufacturers. Such principles shall not act to reduce the recovery of the Navajo Nation pursuant to this Act. Common law theories of recovery shall be liberally construed to accomplish this intent.

B. The defenses of statute of repose and statute of limitations shall not apply to any action brought under this Act.

A. The concept of joint and several liability applies to any judgment on behalf of the Navajo Nation under this Act.

B. In any action brought pursuant to this Act, the Navajo Nation shall be allowed to proceed under a market share theory, provided that the products involved are substantially interchangeable among brands, and that substantially similar factual and legal issues would be involved in seeking recovery against each tobacco manufacturer individually. In the event the Navajo Nation elects to proceed under such a market share theory, the concept of joint and several liability shall not apply.

B. In any action brought under this Act wherein the number of tribal members is so large as to cause it to be impracticable to join or identify each claim, the Nation shall not be required to identify the individual for which payment has been made, but rather can proceed to seek recovery based upon payments made on behalf of all tribal members as a group.

C. The evidence code shall be liberally construed regarding issues of causation and of aggregate damages, and causation and damages in any such action may be proven by use of statistical analysis.

B. No more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) per advertisement where such advertisement violates this Act; or

§ 1033. Manual cleaning and sanitizing

A. For manual rinsing and sanitizing of utensils and equipment, a sink with not fewer than three compartments shall be provided and used. Sink compartments shall be large enough to permit the accommodation of the equipment and utensils, and each compartment of the sink shall be supplied with hot and cold potable running water. Fixed equipment and utensils and equipment too large to be cleaned in sink compartments shall be washed manually or cleaned through pressure spray methods.

B. Drain boards or easily movable utensil tables of adequate size shall be provided for proper storage and handling of soiled utensils prior to cleaning and for cleaned utensils following sanitizing and shall be located so as not to interfere with proper use of the warewashing facilities.

C. Equipment and utensils shall be pre-flushed or pre-scraped and, when necessary, pre-soaked to remove food particles and soil.

D. The sinks shall be cleaned before use.

E. When a three-compartment sink is utilized for warewashing, the operation shall be conducted in the following sequence:

1. Equipment and utensils shall be thoroughly cleaned in the first compartment with a hot detergent solution that is kept clean and at a concentration indicated on the manufacturer's label; and

2. Equipment and utensils shall be rinsed free of detergent and abrasive with clean water in the second compartment; and

3. Equipment and utensils shall be sanitized in the third compartment according to one of the methods included in § 1033 (H) (Items 1–5) of this Code.

F. When a two-compartment sink is utilized for warewashing, one of the following two methods shall be used:

1. Equipment and utensils shall be thoroughly cleaned in the first compartment with a hot detergent solution that is kept clean and at a concentration indicated on the manufacturer's label; and shall be sanitized in hot water in the second compartment in accordance with § 1033(H)(1) of this Code; or

2. Equipment and utensils shall be thoroughly cleaned in the first compartment with a hot detergent sanitizer solution that is kept clean and at a concentration indicated on the manufacturer's label; and shall be sanitized in the second compartment in hot water in accordance with § 1033(H)(1) of this Code.

G. When pressure spray methods are utilized for cleaning and sanitizing, the equipment and utensils shall be thoroughly flushed with a detergent-sanitizer solution until the article is free of visible food particles and soil. The detergent-sanitizer solution shall be used in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions and shall be of the type that does not require a potable water rinse when used according to those instructions.

H. The food-contact surfaces of all equipment and utensils shall be sanitized by:

1. Immersion for at least 1/2 minute in clean, hot water of a temperature of at least 170°F (77°C); or

2. Immersion for at least one minute in a clean solution containing at least 50 parts per million of available chlorine as a hypochlorite and having a temperature of at least 75°F (24°C); or

3. Immersion for at least one minute in a clean solution containing at least 12.5 parts per million of available iodine, having a pH range which the manufacturer has demonstrated to be effective and at a temperature of at least 75°F (24°C); or

4. Immersion for at least one minute in a clean solution containing 200 parts per million of a quaternary ammonium compound and having a temperature of at least 75°F (24°C). The quaternary ammonium compound used shall have been compounded by the manufacturer to assure effectiveness in waters up to 500 parts per million hardness at use concentration; or

5. Immersion in a clean solution containing any other chemical sanitizing agency allowed under 21 CFR 178.1010 that will provide the equivalent bactericidal effect of a solution containing at least 50 parts per million of available chlorine as a hypochlorite at temperature of at least 75°F (24°C) for one minute; or

6. Treatment with steam from materials or additives other than those specified in 21 CFR 173.310 in the case of equipment too large to sanitize by immersion, but in which steam can be confined; or

7. Rinsing, spraying, or swabbing with a chemical sanitizing solution of at least twice the strength required for that particular sanitizing solution under § 1033(H)(2), (3) and (5) of this Code in the case of equipment too large to sanitize by immersion.

I. When hot water is used for sanitizing, the following equipment shall be provided and used:

1. An integral heating device or fixture installed in, on or under the sanitizing compartment of the sink capable of maintaining the water at a temperature of at least 170°F (77°C); and

2. A numerically scaled indicating thermometer, accurate to 3°F (1°C) convenient to the sink for frequent checks of water temperature; and

3. Utensil racks or baskets of such size and design to permit complete immersion of utensils and equipment in the hot water.

J. When chemicals are used for sanitization, they shall not have concentrations higher than the maximum permitted under 21 CFR 178.1010 and a test kit or other device that measures the parts per million concentration of the solution shall be provided and used.

K. Facilities and/or equipment shall be available, either in a servicing area or in place, to provide for proper cleaning and sanitizing of all food-contact surfaces including product modules, lids and dispensing utensils.

All joints and welds in food-contact surfaces shall be smooth, and all internal angles and corners of such surfaces shall be rounded to facilitate cleaning.

C. If solder or other sealer is used on food-contact surfaces, it shall be composed of safe materials and be corrosion resistant.

D. All food-contact surfaces of vending machines, including containers, pipes, valves, and fittings, shall be constructed and repaired with safe materials, including finishing materials; shall be corrosion-resistant, non-absorbent, easily cleanable and durable under conditions of normal use; and shall be cleaned, rinsed, and sanitized at a frequency established by the Health Advisor based upon the type of product being dispensed.

13 N.N.C. § 1341

HEALTH AND WELFARE

E. All food-contact surfaces unless designed for in-place cleaning, shall be accessible for manual cleaning, rinsing, sanitizing and inspection:

1. Without being disassembled; or
2. By disassembly without the use of tools; or
3. By easy disassembling with the use of only simple tools such as a screwdriver or an open-end wrench.

F. All food-contact parts or surfaces not designed for in-place cleaning (§ 1341 (G)) shall be cleaned, rinsed and sanitized in clean, portable containers or in utensil washing sinks at the location or at the commissary. Cleaning shall consist of washing in warm water containing a suitable detergent and brushing or wiping, as appropriate. Rinsing shall consist of immersion or wiping with clean clear rinse water. Sanitizing shall be accomplished by.

1. Immersion or rinsing in water of at least 170°F (76.7°C) for 30 seconds; or
2. Immersion for 1 minute in a chemical sanitizing solution containing at least 50 parts per million (p.p.m.) of available chlorine, or 12.5 p.p.m. of available iodine, or 200 p.p.m. of quaternary ammonium sanitizer.

G. In machines designed so that food-contact surfaces are not readily removable, all such surfaces intended for in-place cleaning shall be designed and fabricated that:

1. Cleaning and sanitizing solutions can be circulated throughout a fixed system using an effective cleaning and sanitizing regimen; and
2. Cleaning and sanitizing solutions will contact all food contact surfaces; and
3. The system is self-draining or capable of being completely evacuated; and
4. The procedures utilized result in thorough cleaning of the equipment.

H. The openings into all nonpressurized containers used for the storage of vendible food, including water, shall be provided with covers which prevent contamination from reaching the interior of the containers. Such covers shall be designed to provide a flange which overlaps the opening, and shall be sloped to provide drainage from the cover wherever the collection of condensation, moisture, or splash is possible. Concave covers are prohibited. Any port opening through the cover shall be flanged upward at least three-sixteenths of an inch, and shall be provided with an overlapping over flanged downward. Condensation, drip, or dust deflecting aprons shall be provided on all piping, thermometers, equipment, rotary shafts, and other functional parts extending into the food containers unless a watertight joint is provided. Such aprons shall be considered as satisfactory covers for those openings which are in continuous use. Gaskets, if used, shall be of safe materials, relatively stable, and relatively non-absorbent, and shall have a smooth surface. All gasket retaining grooves shall be easily cleanable.

I. The delivery tube or chute and orifice of all bulk food vending machines shall be protected from normal manual contact, dust, insects, rodents, and other contamination. The design shall divert condensation or moisture from the normal filling position of the container receiving the food. The ending stage of such machines shall be provided with a tight-fitting, self-closing door or cover which is kept closed except when food is being removed. The cup filling area or platform of controlled location vending machines shall not require a door or cover if there is no opening into the cabinet interior at that point other than for dispensing tube(s) or trapped waste tubing. The dispensing compartment of prepackaged candy and similar product vending machines shall be equipped with a self-closing lid at vending locations where insect or rodent entry into the machine may occur.

J. The food storage compartment and other compartments in refrigerated vending machines which are subject to condensation or cooling water retention shall be self draining or equipped with a drain outlet which permits complete draining. In vending machines designed to store cartoned beverages, diversion devices and retention pans or drains for leakage shall be provided. All such drains, devices, and retention pans shall be easily cleanable.

K. Can and bottle openers which come into contact with the food or the food-contact surfaces of the containers shall be constructed of corrosion-resistant, non-absorbent, and safe materials and shall be kept clean. Cutting or piercing parts of multiuse openers which come into contact with the food or food-contact surfaces of the containers shall be constructed of corrosion-resistant, nonabsorbent, and safe materials and shall be kept clean. Cutting or piercing parts of multiuse openers which come into contact with the food or food-contact surface of containers shall be reasonably protected from manual contact, dust, insects, rodents, and other contamination; and such parts shall be readily removable for cleaning.

§ 1342. Exterior construction and maintenance—General

A. The vending machine shall be of sturdy construction and the exterior shall be designed, fabricated, finished and maintained to facilitate its being kept clean, and to minimize the entrance of insects and rodents. The exterior of the machine shall be kept clean. The vending machine shall not constitute a safety hazard.

B. Door and panel access openings to the food and container storage spaces of the machine shall be tight fitting, and if necessary, gasketed to prevent the entrance of dust, moisture, insects, and rodents.

HEALTH AND WELFARE

C. All ventilation louvers or openings into vending machines shall be effectively screened. Screening material for openings into food and container storage spaces of the machine shall be not less than 16 mesh to the inch or equivalent. Screening materials for openings into condenser units which are separated from food and container storage spaces shall be not less than 8 mesh to the inch or equivalent.

D. In all vending machines in which the condenser unit is an integral part of the machine, such unit when located below the food and container storage space, shall be separated from such space by a dust proof barrier, and when located above, shall be sealed from such space.

E. In order to prevent seepage underneath the machine and to promote cleaning, free standing vending machines shall have one or more of these elevation or movability features:

1. Be light enough to be manually moved with ease by one person; or
2. Be elevated on legs or extended sidewalls to afford, with or without kickplates, an unobstructed vertical space of at least 6 inches (15.24 cm) under the machine; or
3. Mounted on rollers or casters which permit easy movement; or
4. Be sealed to the floor.

F. Where used, kickplates shall be easily removable or be capable of being rotated. These kickplates shall be designed and installed to make the area under the machine easily accessible for routine cleaning without unlocking the cabinet door.

G. Counter type machines shall be:

1. Sealed to the counter; or
2. Mounted on 4-inch (10.16 cm) legs or the equivalent; or
3. Easily moved for cleaning with service connections in place.

H. All service connections through an exterior wall of the machine including water, gas, electrical, and refrigeration connections, shall be grommeted, or closed with no opening over 1/32 inch (0.79 mm) to prevent the entrance of insects and rodents. All service connections to machines vending potentially hazardous food shall be such as to discourage their unauthorized or unintentional disconnection.

To prevent leaching of toxic materials caused by possible interaction of carbonated water, piping and contact surfaces, post-mix soft drink vending machines manufactured after January 1, 1975, which are designed with an incoming water supply air gap shall have no copper tubing or other potentially toxic water system tubing between the air gap and the downstream, carbonated water dispensing nozzle.

D. To prevent leaching of toxic materials caused by possible interaction of carbonated water, piping and contact surfaces, post-mix soft drink vending machines which are directly connected to the external water supply system shall be equipped with a double (or two single) spring-loaded check valves or other devices which will provide positive protection against the entrance of carbon dioxide or carbonated water into the water supply system. Backflow preventive devices shall be located to facilitate servicing and maintenance. No copper tubing or other potentially toxic tubing or contact surfaces shall be permitted in or downstream from the check valves or backflow devices. These check valves or device shall be inspected and cleaned or replaced annually.

E. Where spring-loaded check valves are used to prevent the backflow of carbon dioxide into accessible upstream copper or other potentially toxic piping or tubing, a screen of not less than 100 mesh to the inch shall be installed in the water line immediately upstream from the check valves in a location which permits servicing or replacement.

F. In all vending machines in which carbon dioxide is used as a propellant, all food-contact surfaces from the check valves or other protective devices, including the valves or devices, shall be of such material as to preclude the production of toxic substances which might result from interaction with carbon dioxide or carbonated water.

§ 1362. Waste disposal—General

A. All trash and other solid or liquid waste shall be removed from the machine location as frequently as may be necessary to prevent nuisance and unsightliness, and shall be disposed of in a manner meeting the approval of the health advisor.

B. Self-closing, leak-proof, easily cleanable, insect-proof and rodent-proof waste receptacles shall be provided in the vicinity of each machine or machines to receive used cups, cartons, wrappers, straws, closures, and other items. Such machines shall be equipped with an automatic shut-off device at the waste pail or other devices or valves which will place the machine out of operation before the waste pail overflows. Such devices shall prevent water or liquid product from continuously running in the event of the failure of any single control, high level control, or other flow control device in the liquid product or water system.

E. Controlled location vending machines not connected to a water supply system, and which generate no internal liquid wastes, may be equipped with easily removable drip pans at the dispensing platform in lieu of internal waste containers and automatic shut-off devices.

F. Controlled location vending machines that are connected to a water supply and have no internal waste containers, shall be equipped with at least two independently operated controls to prevent the continued flow of water in event of failure of any single flow control device.

G. Containers or surfaces on which such wastes may accumulate shall be readily removable for cleaning, shall be easily cleanable, and shall be corrosion-resistant. If liquid wastes from drip, spillage, or overflow, which originate within the machine are discharged into a sewerage system, the connection to the sewer shall be through an air gap.

§ 3255. Definitions

As used in this Code, the following definitions apply:

A. Subjects. As used in this Code, “Subjects” means a living individual about whom a researcher (whether professional or student) conducting research obtains private information or data through intervention or interaction with the individual, involving physical procedures by which data are gathered (for example, venipuncture) and/or manipulations of the subject or the subject’s environment.

B. Navajo Nation Human Research Review Board. This is the Board Created in Section 3256 of this Code

C. Research. As used in this Code, “research” is the use of systematic methods (including but not limited to note taking, interviewing, video and audio taping) to gather and analyze information for the purpose of proving or disproving a hypothesis, concepts or practices, or otherwise adding to knowledge and insight in a particular medical or psychological discipline. Generally, proposed studies are defined as “research” if their goal is to produce generalizable descriptive knowledge through the use of human subjects or volunteers whose protection must be assured in accordance with the ethical principles of respect for persons; the duty to help others or beneficence; and justice or fairness. This may include, at the discretion of the Navajo Nation Human Research Review Board, quality assurance activities, chart reviews and program evaluations. All data and research subject to this Code are the property of the Navajo Nation, although a researcher may be given a permit.

D. Publication. As used in this Code, the term “Publication” includes all proposed professional and program papers and reports concerning Navajo individuals. Also requiring advance approval are papers based on research conducted within the territorial jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation, prepared for presentation at national or international professional society meetings by researchers. Papers or reports for technical and lay audiences prepared and approved by Indian Health Service or the Navajo Nation for compliance with contract or grant requirements are specifically excluded from this definition.

E. Researcher. As used in this Code, the term “researcher” means any person, organization, business or other entity which conducts research within the territorial jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation.

In order to collect the reimbursements from third party payors, the home health services must be in accordance with HCFA's Conditions of Participation and the reimbursement regulations outlined in the Home Health Agency Manual (HIM 11). Once these regulations are met, the NHHA will apply for federal and state certification and licensure, respectively.

§ 261. Traffic control signal legend

A. When traffic is controlled by traffic control signals showing different colored lights, or colored lighted arrows, either one-at-a-time or in combination, only the colors green, red, and yellow shall be used, except for special pedestrian signals carrying a word legend. Such lights shall indicate and apply to drivers of vehicles and pedestrians as follows:

1. Green indication:
 - a. Vehicular traffic facing a green signal may proceed straight through or turn right or left unless a sign at that place prohibits either turn. Vehicular traffic, including vehicles turning right or left, shall yield the right-of-way to other vehicles and to pedestrians lawfully within the intersection or an adjacent crosswalk at the time the signal is shown.
 - b. Vehicular traffic facing a green arrow signal, shown alone or in combination with another indication, may cautiously enter the intersection only to make the movement indicated by such arrow, or such other movement as is permitted by other indications shown at the same time. Such vehicular traffic shall yield the right of way to pedestrians lawfully within an adjacent crosswalk and to other traffic lawfully using the intersection.

c. Unless otherwise directed by a pedestrian control signal, as provided in § 262 herein, pedestrians facing any green signal, except if the sole green signal is a turn arrow, may proceed across the roadway within any marked or unmarked crosswalk.

2. Steady yellow indication:

a. Vehicular traffic facing a steady yellow signal is being warned that the related green indication is being terminated or that a red indication will be shown immediately thereafter when vehicular traffic shall not enter the intersection.

b. Pedestrians facing a steady yellow signal, unless otherwise directed by pedestrian control signals as provided in § 262, are thereby advised that there is not enough time to cross the roadway before a red indication is shown and no pedestrian shall then start to cross the roadway.

3. Red indication:

a. Vehicular traffic facing a steady red signal alone shall stop at a clearly marked stop-line before entering the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection, or if none, then before entering the intersection and shall remain at a standstill or stopped until an indication to proceed is shown except as provided in subdivision (b) of this paragraph.

b. The driver of a vehicle which is stopped as close as practicable at the entrance to the crosswalk on either side of the intersection or, if there is no crosswalk then at the entrance to the intersection, in obedience to a red signal, may make a right turn, but shall yield the right-of-way to pedestrians and other traffic proceeding as directed by the signal. Right turns may be prohibited against a red signal at any intersection when a sign is erected at the intersection prohibiting such turn.

c. Unless otherwise directed by a pedestrian control signal as provided in § 262, pedestrians facing a steady red signal shall not enter the roadway.

B. If an official traffic control signal is erected and maintained at a place other than an intersection, the provisions of this section shall be applicable. Any stop required shall be made at a sign or marking on the pavement indicating where the stop shall be made, but in the absence of a sign or marking, the stop shall be made at the signal.

§ 262. Pedestrian control signals; loitering prohibited

A. When pedestrian control signals exhibiting the words “Walk” or “Don’t Walk” are in place, the signals shall indicate as follows:

1. “Walk”. Pedestrians facing the signal may proceed across the roadway in the direction of the signal and shall be given the right-of-way by the drivers of vehicles.

2. “Don’t Walk”. No pedestrians shall start to cross the roadway in the direction of the signal, but any pedestrian who has partially completed his or her crossing on the “walk” signal shall proceed to a sidewalk or safety island while the “don’t walk” signal is showing.

B. A pedestrian shall not loiter or unduly delay crossing the roadway after traffic has stopped to give the right-of-way.

A. Flashing red (stop signal). When a red light shows rapid intermittent flashes, drivers of vehicles shall stop before entering the nearest crosswalk at an intersection or at a limit-line when marked, or if none, then before entering the intersection. The right to proceed shall be subject to the rules applicable after making a stop at a stop sign.

No person shall place upon any traffic sign or signal any commercial advertising or political campaign literature. This section shall not prohibit the erection upon private property adjacent to highways, of signs giving useful directional information and of a type that cannot be mistaken for official signs.

Annotations

1. Liability

“Navajo law imposes a duty on drivers to exercise ‘reasonable precaution’ when approaching horse drawn vehicles and livestock. This Court has recognized a heightened standard of care for drivers in open range areas on the Navajo Nation. This heightened standard of care, however, does not apply in a closed range area where a fence prevents livestock from trespassing onto an adjacent highway. Under these circumstances, a grazing permittee has a duty to contain her livestock inside the fenced area and off of the highways.” Castillo, et al. v. Charlie, et al., 7 Nav. R. 181, 183–184 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1995).

§ 539. Dangerous substances

Dangerous substances include but are not limited to:

A. Flammable Liquid—A flammable solid is a solid substance other than one (1) classified as an explosive, which is liable, under conditions incident to transportation, to cause fires through friction, through absorption of moisture, through spontaneous chemical changes, or as a result of retained heat from the manufacturing or processing.

B. Oxidizing Materials—An oxidizing material is a substance such as chlorate, permanganate, peroxide, or nitrate, that yields oxygen readily to stimulate the combustion of organic matter.

C. Acids and other Corrosive Liquids—Corrosive liquids are those acids, alkaline caustic liquids and other corrosive liquids which, when in contact with living tissue, will cause severe damage of such tissue by chemical action; or in case of leakage, will materially damage or destroy other freight by chemical action; or are liable to cause fire when in contact with organic matter or with certain chemicals.

D. Compressed Gas—A compressed gas is defined as any material with a gauge pressure exceeding forty (40) pounds per square at seventy degrees (70°) Fahrenheit; or any liquid flammable material having a Reid vapor pressure exceeding forty (40) pounds per square inch, absolute, at one hundred degrees (100°) Fahrenheit.

No one shall transport compressed gas (butane propane) in an enclosed vehicle, but should transport it in an open, ventilated transportation device. Transportation of such compressed gas shall comply with other Navajo Nation environmental protection regulations.

E. Poison—

1. Class A. Extremely Dangerous Poison—Poisonous gases or liquids of such nature that a very small amount of the gas, or vapor of the liquid mixed with air, is dangerous to life. Poisonous gases shall be labeled as dangerous.

2. Class B. Less Dangerous Poisons—Poison liquid or solid, including pastes and semi-liquids, are substances of such nature that they are chiefly dangerous by external contact with the body or by being taken internally as in contaminated foods or feeds.

The vapors of some of this class of materials are also offensive and dangerous; these poisons shall be labeled as such.

3. Class C. Tear Gases or Irritating Substances—Tear gases are liquid or solid substances which upon contact with fire, or when exposed to air give off dangerous or intensely irritating fumes, such as brombensylcyanide, chloracetophonone, diphenylaminechlorisane, and diphelychlorasine. These substances shall be labeled as such.

“We hold that the cited provisions of the 1985 Navajo Preference in Employment Act are valid exercises of the treaty powers, inherent powers, and police power of the Navajo Nation.  - 1. To provide employment opportunities for the Navajo work force;

§ 604. Navajo employment preference

A. All employers doing business within the territorial jurisdiction [or near the boundaries] of the Navajo Nation, or engaged in any contract with the Navajo Nation shall:

1. Give preference in employment to Navajos. Preference in employment shall include specific Navajo affirmative action plans and timetables for all phases of employment to achieve the Navajo Nation goal of employing Navajos in all job classifications including supervisory and management positions.

2. Within ninety (90) days after the later of: (a) the effective date of this § 604(A)(2); or (b) the date on which an employer commences business within the territorial jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation, the employer shall file with ONLR a written Navajo affirmative action plan which complies with this section and other provisions of the Act. In any case where a labor organization represents employees of the employer, the plan shall be jointly filed by the employer and labor organization. Any such associated labor organization shall have obligations under this section equivalent to those of the employer as to employees represented by such organization. Failure to file such a plan within the prescribed time limit, submission of a plan which does not comply with the requirements of the Act, or failing to implement or comply with the terms of a conforming plan shall constitute a violation of the Act. In the event of a required joint plan by an employer and associated labor organization, only the noncomplying party shall be deemed in violation of the Act, as long as the other party has demonstrated a willingness and commitment to comply with the Act.

3. Subject to the availability of adequate resources, ONLR shall provide reasonable guidance and assistance to employers and associated labor organizations in connection with the development and implementation of a Navajo affirmative action plan. Upon request, ONLR shall either approve or disapprove any plan, in whole or in part. In the event of approval thereof by ONLR, no charge shall be filed hereunder with respect to alleged unlawful provisions or omissions in the plan, except upon thirty (30) days prior written notice to the employer and any associated labor organization to enable voluntary correction of any stated deficiencies in such plan. No charge shall be filed against an employer and any associated labor organization for submitting a non-conforming plan, except upon thirty (30) days prior notice by ONLR identifying deficiencies in the plan which require correction.

B. Specific requirements for Navajo preference:

1. All employers shall include and specify a Navajo employment preference policy statement in all job announcements and advertisements and employer policies covered by this Act.

2. All employers shall post in a conspicuous place on its premises for its employees and applicants a Navajo preference policy notice prepared by ONLR.

3. Any seniority system of an employer shall be subject to this Act and all other labor laws of the Navajo Nation. Such a seniority system shall not operate to defeat nor prevent the application of the Act, provided, however, that nothing in this Act shall be interpreted as invalidating an otherwise lawful and bona fide seniority system which is used as a selection or retention criterion with respect to any employment opportunity where the pool of applicants or candidates is exclusively composed of Navajos or of non-Navajos.

4. The Navajo Nation when contracting with the federal or state governments or one of its entities shall include provisions for Navajo preference in all phases of employment as provided herein. When contracting with any federal agency, the term Indian preference may be substituted for Navajo preference for federal purposes, provided that any such voluntary substitution shall not be construed as an implicit or express waiver of any provision of the Act nor a concession by the Navajo Nation that this Act is not fully applicable to the federal contract as a matter of law.

5. All employers shall utilize Navajo Nation employment sources and job services for employee recruitment and referrals, provided, however, that employers do not have the foregoing obligations in the event a Navajo is selected for the employment opportunity who is a current employee of the employer.

6. All employers shall advertise and announce all job vacancies in at least one newspaper and radio station serving the Navajo Nation, provided, however, that employers do not have the foregoing obligations in the event a Navajo is selected for the employment opportunity who is a current employee of the employer.

7. All employers shall use non-discriminatory job qualifications and selection criteria in employment.

8. All employers shall not penalize, discipline, discharge nor take any adverse action against any Navajo employee without just cause. A written notification to the employee citing such cause for any of the above actions is required in all cases.

Provided, that this subsection shall not apply to Division Directors, or to other employees and officials of the Navajo Nation who serve, pursuant to a specific provision of the Navajo Nation Code, at the pleasure of the Navajo Nation Council, the standing committees of the Navajo Nation Council, the President of the Navajo Nation, the Speaker of the Navajo Nation Council, the Chief Justice of the Navajo Nation, or those persons employed pursuant to 2 N.N.C. §§ 281(C) and 1009.

9. All employers shall maintain a safe and clean working environment and provide employment conditions which are free of prejudice, intimidation and harassment.

10. Training shall be an integral part of the specific affirmative action plans or activities for Navajo preference in employment.

11. An employer-sponsored cross-cultural program shall be an essential part of the affirmative action plans required under the Act. Such program shall primarily focus on the education of non-Navajo employees, including management and supervisory personnel, regarding the cultural and religious traditions or beliefs of Navajos and their relationship to the development of employment policies which accommodate such traditions and beliefs. The cross-cultural program shall be developed and implemented through a process which involves the substantial and continuing participation of an employer's Navajo employees, or representative Navajo employees.

12. No fringe benefit plan addressing medical or other benefits, sick leave program or any other personnel policy of an employer, including policies jointly maintained by an employer and associated labor organization, shall discriminate against Navajos in terms or coverage as a result of Navajo cultural or religious traditions or beliefs. To the maximum extent feasible, all of the foregoing policies shall accommodate and recognize in coverage such Navajo traditions and beliefs.

C. Irrespective of the qualifications of any non-Navajo applicant or candidate, any Navajo applicant or candidate who demonstrates the necessary qualifications for an employment position:

1. Shall be selected by the employer in the case of hiring, promotion, transfer, upgrading, recall and other employment opportunities with respect to such position; and

2. Shall be retained by the employer in the case of a reduction-in-force affecting such class of positions until all non-Navajos employed in that class of positions are laid-off, provided that any Navajo who is laid-off in compliance with this provision shall have the right to displace a non-Navajo in any other employment position for which the Navajo demonstrates the necessary qualifications.

3. Among a pool of applicants or candidates who are solely Navajo and meet the necessary qualifications, the Navajo with the best qualifications shall be selected or retained, as the case may be.

D. All employers shall establish written necessary qualifications for each employment position in their work force, a copy of which shall be provided to applicants or candidates at the time they express an interest in such position.

“The Council clearly intended to apply the NPEA to Navajo corporations when they have contracts with the Nation, regardless of the status of the land where the contract is performed. 15 N.N.C. § 604(A) extends the NPEA separately to (1) activities within the territorial jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation, and to (2) activities performed under contracts with the Navajo Nation. 4. Jurisdiction

“We hold that the Navajo Nation’s NPEA subject matter jurisdiction extends to the activities of Navajo corporations under contracts with the Nation, whether or not the contract is to be performed within the territorial jurisdiction of the Nation.” Cabinets Southwest, Inc. v. Navajo Nation Labor Commission, No. SC-CV-46-03, slip op at 7 (Nav. Sup. Ct. February 11, 2004).

“Like FECA, the NPEA is a more narrowly drawn statute. We find that NPEA claims should function in a manner analogous to FECA claims. However, while FECA provides access to the federal courts, the NPEA provides access to tribal courts.” Stago v. Wide Ruins Community School Inc., No. SC-CV-63-99, slip op. at 11 (Nav. Sup. Ct. August 29, 2002).

§ 605. Reports

All employers doing business or engaged in any project or enterprise within the territorial jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation or pursuant to a contract with the Navajo Nation shall submit employment information and reports as required to ONLR. Such reports, in a form acceptable to ONLR, shall include all information necessary and appropriate to determine compliance with the provisions of this Act. All reports shall be filed with ONLR not later than ten (10) business days after the end of each calendar quarter, provided that ONLR shall have the right to require filing of reports on a weekly or monthly schedule with respect to part-time or full-time temporary employment.

5. Sufficiency of evidence

“Cameron’s original notification was written on torn scrap paper and stated only that Manygoats was fired for ‘violating company policies.’ Given that Cameron (1) had no formal personnel policies and procedures in place, (2) did not properly document Manygoats’ alleged offenses at the time they occurred, and (3) never told Manygoats until after she was fired that she was in violation of company policies, the Labor Commission was reasonable in concluding that Cameron did not show that it had just cause to terminate Manygoats’ employment.” Manygoats v Atkinson Trading Company, Inc., No. SC-CV-62-00, slip op. at 12-13 (Nav. Sup. Ct. August 12, 2003).

6. Notice

“Cameron’s original notification did not meet the NPEA’s requirement that written notification must in all cases cite the cause or specific reasons for the adverse action taken by an employer against an employee. 15 N.N.C. § 604(B)(8). One of the main purposes of the written notification provision is to “inform an individual of the basis for adverse action.” . . . This ensures that employees are given the opportunity to decide whether to take appropriate legal action if they feel they have been wronged. In this case, the notice Manygoats received contained no facts that would support her termination. She had to file a complaint with the ONLR to find out why she had been terminated.” Manygoats v Atkinson Trading Company, Inc., No. SC-CV-62-00, slip op. at 13 (Nav. Sup. Ct. August 12, 2003).

strike, and peaceably picket to secure their legal rights shall not be abridged in any way by any person. The right to strike and picket does not apply to employees of the Navajo Nation, its agencies, or enterprises.

B. It shall be unlawful for any labor organization, employer or employment agency to take any action, including action by contract, which directly or indirectly causes or attempts to cause the adoption or use of any employment practice, policy or decision which violates the Act.

ONLR may determine necessary to secure sufficient wage information on similar construction projects.

5. The term “classifications” means all job positions in which persons are employed, exclusive of classifications with assigned duties which are primarily administrative, executive or clerical, and subject to satisfaction of the conditions prescribed in §§ 607(E)(7) and (8), exclusive of “apprentice” and “trainee” classifications as those terms are defined herein.

9. The term “contract” shall mean the prime construction contract and all subcontracts of any tier thereunder entered into by parties engaged in commercial, business or governmental activities (whether or not such activities are conducted for profit).

B. Establishment of wage rates.

1. For all construction reasonably anticipated to occur in the area on a regular basis, ONLR shall establish a general prevailing wage rate for each classification within specified types of construction. ONLR shall define classifications and types of construction in accordance with guidelines generally recognized in the construction industry. In all cases where construction is contemplated for which prevailing wage rates have not been set, the contract letting entry shall submit to ONLR a written request for a project prevailing wage scale. Such request shall be submitted not less than sixty (60) days prior to the scheduled date for bid solicitation and shall include detailed information on the anticipated construction classifications, nature of the project and completion plans. ONLR shall use its best efforts to provide a project prevailing wage scale for each classification involved in the project construction within sixty (60) days after receipt of a request therefor.

2. In setting prevailing wage rates, ONLR shall conduct such surveys and collect such data as it deems necessary and sufficient to arrive at a wage determination. Wage data may be collected from contractors, contractors' associations, labor organizations, public officials and other sources which reflect wage rates paid in classifications on types of construction in the area, including the names and addresses of contractors and subcontractors; the locations, approximate costs, dates and types of construction; the number of workers employed in each classification on the project; and the wage rates paid such workers. Wage rate data for the area may be provided, and considered in making wage determinations, in various forms including signed statements, collective bargaining agreements and prevailing wage rates established by federal authorities for federally-assisted construction projects.

3. Any classification of workers not listed in a prevailing wage rate and which is to be used under a construction contract shall be classified in conformance with the prevailing wage determination issued and applicable to the project; provided that an additional classification and prevailing wage rate therefor will be established in the event each of the following criteria are satisfied:

- a. The work performed by the proposed classification is not performed by a classification within the existing prevailing wage scale;
- b. The proposed classification is utilized in the area by the construction industry; and
- c. The wages set for the proposed classification bear a reasonable relationship to the wage rates contained in the existing scale for other classifications.

4. Subject to the prior written approval thereof by the Director of ONLR, a general prevailing wage rate shall be effective on the date notice of such rate is published in a newspaper in general circulation in the Navajo Nation. The notice shall contain the following information:

- (1) The fact a prevailing wage rate has been set and approved in writing by the Director of ONLR;
- (2) The type of construction for which the rate was established;
- (3) The effective date, described as the date of publication of the notice or other specified date;
- (4) The address and telephone number of ONLR; and
- (5) A statement that ONLR will provide a copy of the full wage determination on request, and respond to any reasonable questions regarding such determination or its application.

a. General prevailing wage rates shall continue in effect until such time as any modifications are adopted.

b. A prevailing wage rate for a particular project shall be effective on the date of issuance to the requesting party of a written wage determination approved by the Director of ONLR. The wage determination shall continue in effect for the duration of the project; provided that any such determination may be modified by ONLR in the event the period of time from the effective date of the determination to the date bids are solicited exceeds one hundred eighty (180) days and the estimated date of completion of the project is more than one (1) year after the effective date of the determination.

c. Project and general wage determinations may be modified from time to time, in whole or in part, to adjust rates in conformity with current conditions, subject to the special conditions applicable to project determinations. Such modifications become effective upon the same terms and conditions which are applicable to original determinations.

d. Fringe benefits. The fringe benefit amount of wages reflected in a prevailing wage rate shall be paid in cash to the employee, and shall not be deducted from such employee's wages, unless each of the following conditions is satisfied:

(1) The deduction is not contrary to applicable law;

(2) A voluntary and informed written consent authorizing the deduction is obtained from the employee in advance of the period in which the work is to be done and such consent is not a condition either for the obtaining or continuing employment;

(3) No profit or other benefit is obtained as a result of deduction, directly or indirectly, by the contractor, subcontractor or any person affiliated with them in the form of a commission, dividend or other consideration; and

(4) The deduction serves the convenience and interests of the employee.

C. No contract-letting entity, contractor or subcontractor shall proceed with a construction contract subject to this section in the absence of a contractual requirement for payment of prevailing wages pursuant to a specified wage determination issued by ONLR. Violation of this obligation shall render the contract-letting entity, and the employer contractor or subcontractor, jointly and severally liable for the difference between wages actually paid and the prevailing wage rate, together with interest thereon (or if no prevailing wage rates have been set, such wage rate as may be issued by ONLR during the course, or after the completion, of the construction project).

1. Failure by any employer, contractor or subcontractor to pay prevailing wages shall render such employer liable for the difference between the amount of wages actually paid and the prevailing rate, together with interest thereon.

2. Any deduction of fringe benefits by an employer contractor or subcontractor in violation of § 607(C) shall render such employer liable for the amount of such deduction, together with interest thereon.

3. Upon written request of ONLR, a contract-letting entity or contractor, as the case may be, shall withhold from any monies payable on account of work performed by an employer contractor or subcontractor under a construction contract such sums as may be determined by ONLR as necessary to satisfy any liabilities of such contractor or subcontractor for unpaid prevailing wages or wrongful deduction of fringe benefits.

4. If following a hearing under § 611 a contract-letting entity (other than the Navajo Nation), contractor or subcontractor is found to have willfully violated this section the Commission may enter a debarment order disqualifying such party from receiving any contract, or subcontract thereunder, with the Navajo Nation for a period not to exceed three (3) years.

5. The liabilities described in this § 607(C) shall not foreclose the Commission from awarding such other relief or imposing such other civil penalties as may be appropriate following a hearing conducted under § 611.

D. Exemptions. This section shall not apply to:

1. A contract associated with a construction activity which relates to the provision of architect, engineer, legal or consultant services, or, except as provided under § 607(A)(8)(d), the manufacturing or furnishing of materials or performance of services and maintenance work by persons not employed by a prime contractor or any of its subcontractors.

2. A construction contract relating to a project having a total cost of two thousand dollars ($2,000) or less.

3. A construction contract which is let by a natural person who is an owner or person legally authorized to let such contract, for such person's personal, family or household purposes.

4. A construction contract to the extent the work thereunder is performed by employees of the owner, or employees of the person or entity legally authorized to let the prime contract.

5. A construction contract for a project receiving federal financial assistance to the extent the prevailing wage is set by federal authorities pursuant to the Davis-Bacon Act, 40 U.S.C., § 276a et seq.,¹ (as amended), or other federal law applicable to such project.

6. A construction contract to the extent such contract requires payment of wages pursuant to a wage scale established under a collective bargaining agreement between any contractor or subcontractor and a labor organization.

7. With the exception of the provisions of § 607(C), an apprentice, provided that the apprentice is paid not less than: (a) the basic hourly rate prescribed in the registered program for the apprentice's level of progress, expressed as a percentage of the applicable journeyman rate specified in the prevailing wage rate; and (b) the fringe benefit amount prescribed in the registered program or, if not specified, the fringe benefit amount set in the prevailing wage rate for the applicable journeyman classification. An apprentice who is not enrolled in a registered program (within the meaning of § 607(A)(6)), shall be paid wages in an amount of not less than the level prescribed for the applicable journeyman classification specified in the prevailing wage rate.

8. With the exception of the provisions of § 607(C), a trainee provided that the trainee is paid not less than: (a) the basic hourly rate prescribed in the approved program for the trainee's level of progress, expressed as a percentage of the applicable journeyman rate specified in the prevailing wage rate; and (b) the fringe benefit amount prescribed in the approved program or, if not specified and as to federally approved programs only, the fringe benefit amount set in the prevailing wage rate for the applicable journeyman classification. A trainee who is not enrolled in an approved program (within the meaning of § 607(A)(7)), shall be paid wages in an amount not less than the level prescribed for the applicable journeyman classification specified in the prevailing wage rate.

§ 610. Monitoring and enforcement

A. Responsible Agency. Compliance with the Act shall be monitored and enforced by ONLR.

B. Charges.

1. Charging Party. Any Navajo may file a charge (“Individual Charge”) claiming a violation of his or her rights under the Act. ONLR, on its own initiative, may file a charge (“ONLR Charge”) claiming a violation of rights under the Act held by identified Navajos or a class of Navajos, including a claim that respondent is engaging in a pattern of conduct or practice in violation of rights guaranteed by the Act. An individual Charge and ONLR Charge are collectively referred to herein as a “Charge”.

2. Form and Content. A Charge shall be in writing, signed by the charging party (which shall be the Director of ONLR in the case of an ONLR Charge), and contain the following information:

- a. The name, address any telephone number of the charging party;
 - b. The name and address or business location of the respondent against whom the Charge is made.
 - c. A clear and concise statement of the facts constituting the alleged violation of the Act, including the dates of each violation and other pertinent events and the names of individuals who committed, participated in or witnessed the acts complaint of;
 - d. With respect to a Charge alleging a pattern or practice in violation of the Act, the period of time during which such pattern or practice has existed and whether it continues on the date of the Charge;
 - e. The specific harm sustained by the charging party in the case of an Individual Charge or the specific harm sustained by specified Navajos or a class of Navajos with respect to an ONLR Charge; and
 - f. A statement disclosing whether proceedings involving the alleged violation have been initiated before any court or administrative agency or within any grievance process maintained by the respondent, including the date of commencement, the court, agency or process and the status of the proceeding.
 - g. ONLR shall provide assistance to persons who wish to file Individual Charges. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, a Charge shall be deemed sufficient if it contains a reasonably precise identification of the charging party and respondent, and the action, pattern or practice which are alleged to violate the Act.
3. Place of Filing. Individual Charges may be filed in any ONLR office. An ONLR Charge shall be filed in ONLR's administrative office in Window Rock.
4. Date of Filing. Receipt of each Individual Charge shall be acknowledged by the dated signature of an ONLR employee which shall be deemed the date on which the Individual Charge is filed. The date on which an ONLR Charge is signed by the ONLR Director shall be deemed the date of filing for such Charge.
5. Amendment. A Charge may be amended by filing, in the office where the Charge was first submitted, a written instrument which sets forth the amendment and any portions of the original Charge revised thereby. To the extent the information reflected in the amendment arose out of the subject matter of the original Charge, the amendment shall relate back and be deemed filed as of the filing date of such Charge. Any portion of the amendment which does not qualify for relation back treatment shall constitute a new Charge.
6. Time Limitation. A Charge shall be filed within one (1) year after accrual of the claim which constitutes the alleged violation of the Act. The date of accrual of a claim shall be the earlier of:
- a. The date on which the charging party had actual knowledge of the claim; or
 - b. Taking into account the circumstances of the charging party, the date on which the charging party should reasonably have been expected to know of the existence of the claim; provided, however, that a Charge relating to a continuing, or pattern or practice, violation of the Act shall be filed within one (1) year after the later of:

(1) The date of termination of such violation, pattern or practice; or

(2) The date of accrual of the claim to which the Charge relates. Failure to file a Charge within the time limitations prescribed herein shall bar proceedings on the related claim before the Commission or in any Court of the Navajo Nation; provided, however, that nothing herein shall be interpreted as foreclosing proceedings before any Navajo Court or administrative body (other than the Commission) on any claim which also arises under applicable common, statutory or other law independent of this Act.

7. Notice to Respondent. Within twenty (20) days after a Charge is filed, ONLR shall serve a copy thereof on respondent; provided, however, that if in ONLR's judgment service of a copy of the Charge would impede its enforcement functions under the Act. ONLR may in lieu of a copy serve on respondent a notice of the Charge which contains the date, place and summary of relevant facts relating to the alleged violation, together with the identity of the charging party unless withheld for the reason stated above. Service of any amendment to the Charge shall be accomplished within twenty (20) days after the amendment is filed. Failure of ONLR to serve a copy of a Charge or notice thereof within the prescribed time period shall not be a ground for dismissal of the Charge or any subsequent proceedings thereon.

8. Withdrawal of Charge.

a. ONLR may, in its discretion, withdraw any ONLR Charge upon written notice thereof to respondent and each person identified in the Charge whose rights under the Act were alleged to have been violated. Any person receiving notice of withdrawal or any other person who asserts a violation of his or her rights as a result of the violation alleged in the withdrawn ONLR Charge may file an Individual Charge which, if filed within ninety (90) days after the issuance date of ONLR's withdrawal notice, shall relate back to the filing date of the ONLR Charge.

b. Any charging party may, in his or her discretion, withdraw an Individual charge by filing a written notice of withdrawal with the ONLR Office where the Charge was submitted, with a copy thereof filed with the ONLR administrative office in Window Rock. ONLR shall, within twenty (20) days after receiving the notice, transmit a copy to the respondent. Within ninety (90) days after receipt of the withdrawal notice, ONLR may file an ONLR Charge relating in whole or part to the violations alleged in the withdrawn Individual Charge. Any filing of an ONLR Charge within the prescribed time period shall relate back to the filing date of the withdrawn Charge.

9. Overlapping Charges. Nothing herein shall be construed as prohibiting the filing of any combination of Individual Charges and an ONLR Charge which, in whole or part, contain common allegations of violations of the Act.

10. Informants. Irrespective of whether a person is otherwise eligible to file an Individual Charge, any such person or an organization may in lieu of filing a Charge submit to ONLR written or verbal information concerning alleged violations of the Act and may further request ONLR to file an ONLR Charge thereon. In addition to other limitations on disclosure provided in § 610(M) and in the absence of the written consent of the informant, neither the identity of the informant nor any information provided by such informant shall be disclosed to the respondent, agents or legal counsel for the respondent, or the public, either voluntarily by ONLR or pursuant to any discovery or other request for, or order relating to, such information during the course of any judicial or non-judicial proceeding, including a proceeding before the Commission or any subsequent appeal or challenge to a Commission or appellate decision; provided, however, that in the event the informant is called as a witness by ONLR at a Commission proceeding involving the information provided by the informant:

a. The informant's name may be disclosed, but his or her status as an informant shall remain privileged and confidential and shall not be disclosable through witness examination or otherwise; and

b. With the exception of the witness status as an informer, information provided by the informant is disclosable in accordance with the procedures outlined under § 610(M).

C. Investigation of Charges.

1. ONLR shall conduct such investigation of a Charge as it deems necessary to determine whether there is probable cause to believe the act has been violated.

2. Subpoenas.

a. The Director of ONLR shall have the authority to sign and issue a subpoena compelling the disclosure by any person evidence relevant to a Charge, including a subpoena ordering, under oath as maybe appropriate:

(1) The attendance and testimony of witnesses;

(2) Responses to written interrogatories;

(3) The production of evidence, including without limitation books, records, correspondence or other documents (or lists or summaries thereof) in the subpoenaed person's possession, custody or control of which are lawfully obtainable by such person; and

(4) Access to evidence for the purposes of examination and copying. Neither an individual charging party nor a respondent shall have a right to demand issuance of a subpoena prior to the initiation of any proceedings on the Charge before the Commission, in which event subpoenas are issuable only pursuant to the procedures governing such proceedings.

b. Service of the subpoena shall be effected by one of the methods prescribed in § 610(O). A subpoena directed to a natural person shall be served either on the person at his or her residence or office address or, in the case of personal delivery, at such residence or office either on the person subpoenaed or on anyone at least eighteen (18) years of age (and in the case of office service, a person who is also an employee of such office). Service of a subpoena directed to any other person shall be addressed or delivered to either the statutory agent (if any) of such person or any employee occupying a managerial or supervisory position at any office of the person maintained within or outside the territorial jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation. Personal service may be performed by a natural person at least eighteen (18) years of age, including an employee of ONLR.

c. The subpoena shall set a date, time and place for the attendance of a witness, or production of or access to evidence, as the case may be, provided that the date for compliance shall be not less than thirty (30) days after the date on which service of the subpoena was effected.

d. Any person served with a subpoena intending not to fully comply therewith shall, within five (5) business days after service, serve on the Director of ONLR a petition requesting the modification or revocation of the subpoena and identifying with particularity each portion of the subpoena which is challenged and the reasons therefor. To the extent any portion of the subpoena is not challenged, the unchallenged parts shall be complied with in accordance with the terms of the subpoena as issued. The ONLR Director shall issue and serve on petitioner a decision and reasons therefor within eight (8) business days following receipt of the petition, and any failure to serve a decision within such period shall be deemed a denial of the petition. In the event the Director's decision reaffirms any part of the subpoena challenged in the petition, the Director may extend the date for compliance with such portion for a period not to exceed ten (10) business days. Any petitioner dissatisfied with the decision of the ONLR Director shall either:

(1) Comply with the subpoena (with any modifications thereof reflected in the Director's decision); or

(2) Within five (5) business days following receipt of the Director's decision or the date such decision was due, file a petition with the Commission (with a copy concurrently served on the ONLR Director) seeking modification or revocation of the subpoena and stating with particularity therein each portion of the subpoena challenged and the reasons therefor. A copy of the ONLR Director's decision, if any, shall be attached to the petition.

e. In the event a person fails to comply with a served subpoena, ONLR may petition the Commission for enforcement of the subpoena. For purposes of awarding any relief to petitioner, the Commission may issue any order appropriate and authorized in a case where it is established that a Commission order has been violated. A copy of the petition shall be concurrently served on the non-complying person.

f. Beginning on the first day of non-compliance with a subpoena served on a respondent, or any employee or agent of respondent, until the date of full compliance therewith, there shall be a tolling of all periods of limitation set forth in this section.

D. Dismissal of Charges.

1. Individual Charges. ONLR shall dismiss an Individual Charge upon reaching any one or more of the following determinations:

a. The Individual Charge, on its face or following an ONLR investigation, fails to demonstrate that probable cause exists to believe a violation of the Act has occurred;

b. The Individual Charge was not filed within the time limits prescribed by § 610(B)(6);

c. The charging party has failed to reasonably cooperate in the investigation of, or attempts to settle, the Individual Charge;

d. The charging party has refused, within thirty (30) days of receipt, to accept a settlement offer agreed to by respondent and approval by ONLR, which accords substantially full relief for the harm sustained by such party; or

e. The Charge has been settled pursuant to § 610(G).

2. ONLR Charges. ONLR shall dismiss an ONLR Charge upon determining that:

a. No probable cause exists to believe a violation of the Act has occurred;

b. The Charge was not filed within the time limits prescribed by § 610(B)(6); or

c. The Charge has been settled pursuant to § 610(G).

3. Partial Dismissal. In the event a portion of a Charge is dismissable on one or more of the foregoing grounds, only such portion of the Charge shall be dismissed and the remainder retained by ONLR for final disposition.

4. Notice. Written notice of dismissal, stating the grounds therefor, shall be served on respondent and the individual charging party in the case of an Individual Charge or, in the case of an ONLR Charge, on the respondent and any person known to ONLR who claims to be aggrieved by the violations alleged in such Charge. Such notice shall be accompanied by a right to sue authorization pursuant to § 610(H).

E. Probable Cause Determination. Following its investigation of a Charge and in the absence of a settlement or dismissal required under § 610(D), ONLR shall issue written notice of its determination that probable cause exists to believe a violation of the Act has occurred or is occurring. Such notice shall identify each violation of the Act for which probable cause has been found, and copies thereof shall be promptly sent to the respondent, the charging party in the case of an Individual Charge, and, in the case of an ONLR Charge, each person identified by ONLR whose rights are believed to have been violated. Any probable cause determination shall be based on, and limited to, the evidence obtained by ONLR and shall not be deemed a judgment by ONLR on the merits of allegations not addressed in the determination.

F. Conciliation. If, following its investigation of a Charge, ONLR determines there is probable cause to believe the Act has been or is being violated, ONLR shall make a good faith effort to secure compliance and appropriate relief by informal means through conference, conciliation and persuasion. In the event there is a failure to resolve the matter informally as to any allegations in an Individual Charge for which probable cause has been determined, ONLR shall either issue the notice prescribed in § 610(H) or initiate a Commission proceeding under § 610(I) concerning unresolved allegations. A successful resolution of any such allegation shall be committed to writing in the form required under § 610(G). Nothing herein shall be construed as prohibiting ONLR from initiating or participating in efforts to informally resolve a Charge prior to issuance of a probable cause determination.

G. Settlement.

1. Settlement agreements shall be committed to writing and executed by respondent, the individual charging party if any and, in the case of any Charge, by the Director of ONLR. Refusal of an individual charging party to execute a settlement agreement subjects the Individual Charge to dismissal under the conditions set forth in § 610(D)(1)(d). Settlement agreements may also be signed by those aggrieved persons identified as having a claim with respect to an ONLR Charge.

2. Settlement agreements hereunder shall be enforceable among the parties thereto in accordance with the terms of the agreement. Any member of a class of persons affected by the settlement who is not a signatory to the agreement shall have the right to initiate proceedings before the Commission pursuant to the procedure in § 610(H)(2)(a)(3).

3. Each settlement agreement shall provide for the dismissal of the Charge to the extent the violations alleged therein are resolved under the agreement.

4. Any breach of a settlement agreement by respondent shall present grounds for filing a Charge under this section. A charging party asserting a claim for breach may either seek:

a. Enforcement of that portion of the settlement agreement alleged to have been breached; or

b. In the case of a material breach as to any or all terms, partial or total rescission of the agreement, as the case may be, and such other further relief as may have been available in the absence of settlement. A Charge asserting a breach of a settlement agreement with respect to any original allegation in the Charge covered by such agreement shall, for purposes of all time limitations in this section, be deemed to arise on the accrual date of the breach.

H. Individual Right to Sue.

1. Individual Charges.

a. Prior to the expiration of one hundred eighty (180) days following the date an Individual Charge was filed, ONLR, by notice to the individual charging party, shall authorize such individual to initiate a proceeding before the Commission in accordance with the procedures prescribed in § 610(J), if:

(1) The Individual Charge has been dismissed by ONLR pursuant to § 610(D)(1);

(2) ONLR has issued a probable cause determination under § 610(E), there has been a failure of conciliation contemplated by § 610(F), and ONLR has determined not to initiate a Commission proceeding on behalf of the individual charging party; or

(3) Notwithstanding the absence of a probable cause determination or conclusion of conciliation efforts, ONLR certifies it will be unable to complete one or both of these steps within one hundred eighty (180) days after the date on which the Individual Charge was filed.

b. After the expiration of one hundred eighty (180) days following the date an Individual Charge was filed, the individual charging party shall have the right to initiate a proceeding before the Commission irrespective of whether ONLR has issued a notice of right to sue, made a probable cause determination, or commenced or concluded conciliation efforts.

2. ONLR Charges.

a. Prior to the expiration of one hundred eighty (180) days following the date an ONLR Charge was filed, ONLR, by notice to any person known to it who claims to be aggrieved by the allegations presented in such Charge, shall authorize such person to initiate a proceeding before the Commission in accordance with the procedures prescribed in § 610(J), if:

(1) The ONLR Charge has been dismissed by ONLR pursuant to § 610(D)(2);

(2) ONLR has issued a probable cause determination under § 610(E), there has been a failure of conciliation contemplated by § 610(F), and ONLR has determined not to initiate a Commission proceeding on the Charge;

(3) ONLR has entered into a settlement agreement under § 610(G) to which such aggrieved person is not a party; or

(4) Notwithstanding the absence of a probable cause determination or conclusion of conciliation efforts, ONLR certifies it will be unable to complete one or both of these steps within one hundred eighty (180) days after the date on which the ONLR Charge was filed.

b. After the expiration of one hundred eighty (180) days following the date an ONLR Charge was filed and prior to the date on which ONLR commences a Commission proceeding, any person claiming to be aggrieved by the allegations presented in such Charge shall have the right to initiate a proceeding before the Commission irrespective of whether ONLR has issued a notice of right to sue, made a probable cause determination or commenced or concluded conciliation efforts.

3. Content of Notice. A notice of right to sue shall include the following information:

- a. Authorization to the individual charging party or aggrieved person to initiate a proceeding before the Commission pursuant to and within the time limits prescribed by § 610(J);
- b. A summary of the procedures applicable to the institution of such proceeding, or a copy of the Act containing such procedures;
- c. A copy of the Charge; and
- d. A copy of any written determination of ONLR with respect to such Charge.

4. ONLR Assistance. Authorization to commence Commission proceedings hereunder shall not prevent ONLR from assisting any individual charging party or aggrieved person in connection with Commission proceedings or other efforts to remedy the alleged violations of the Act.

I. ONLR Right to Sue.

1. Individual Charges. ONLR shall have the right to initiate proceedings before the Commission based on the allegations of an Individual Charge with respect to which ONLR has issued a probable cause determination under § 610(E) and there has been a failure of conciliation contemplated by § 610(F). ONLR shall have such right notwithstanding that the individual charging party has a concurrent right to sue hereunder which has not been exercised. ONLR's right to sue shall continue until such time as the individual charging party commences a Commission proceeding and, in that case, shall be revived in the event the proceeding is dismissed or concluded for reasons unrelated to the merits. Initiation of Commission proceedings by ONLR shall terminate the right to sue of an individual charging party, subject to revival of such right in the event the proceeding is dismissed or concluded for reasons unrelated to the merits. Nothing herein shall be construed as foreclosing ONLR from exercising its right to intervene in a Commission proceeding under § 610(L).

2. ONLR Charges. ONLR shall have the right to initiate proceedings before the Commission based on the allegations of an ONLR Charge with respect to which ONLR has issued a probable determination under § 610(E) and there has been a failure of conciliation contemplated by § 610(F). ONLR shall have such right notwithstanding that a person claiming to be aggrieved as a result of the allegations in the ONLR Charge has a concurrent right to sue hereunder which has not been exercised. In the event an aggrieved person first initiates a Commission proceeding in an authorized manner, ONLR's right to sue shall only expire as to such person and shall revive in the event the aggrieved person's proceeding is dismissed or concluded for reasons unrelated to the merits. Nothing herein shall be construed as foreclosing ONLR from exercising its right to intervene in a Commission proceeding under § 610(L).

J. Initiation of Commission Proceedings. Proceedings before the Commission shall be initiated upon the filing of a written complaint by a petitioner with the Commission.

- 1. Complaints shall satisfy each of the following conditions:

- a. The petitioner is authorized to file the Complaint under the terms and conditions prescribed by this section;
- b. The underlying Charge was filed within the time limits prescribed in § 610(B)(6); and
- c. The complaint was filed within three hundred sixty (360) days following the date on which the underlying Charge was filed.

2. Upon motion of respondent and a showing that any one or more of the foregoing conditions has not been satisfied, the Commission shall dismiss the complaint; provided, however, that no complaint shall be dismissed under (b) above as to any allegation of a pattern of conduct or practice in violation of the Act to the extent such pattern or practice continued to persist during the time limits prescribed in § 610(B)(6); and provided further that, in the absence of dismissal or conclusion of Commission proceedings on the merits, nothing herein shall be construed as prohibiting the refiling of a Charge alleging the same or comparable pattern or practice violations of the Act which continued to persist during the time limits prescribed in § 610(B)(6) for refiling such Charge.

K. Preliminary Relief. Prior to the initiation of Commission proceedings on a Charge and notwithstanding the failure to satisfy any precondition to such proceedings, either ONLR, an individual charging party or aggrieved person may, upon notice to respondent, petition the Commission for appropriate temporary or preliminary relief in the form of an injunction or other equitable remedy on the ground that prompt action is necessary to carry out the purposes of the Act, including the preservation and protection of rights thereunder. Nothing herein shall be construed as foreclosing a petition which seeks comparable relief subsequent to the commencement of Commission proceedings.

L. Intervention in Commission Proceedings. Within three (3) business days after the date on which any complaint, or petition pursuant to § 610(K), is filed with the Commission, other than a complaint or petition filed by ONLR, the Commission shall cause copies thereof to be sent to the ONLR Director and the Attorney General of the Navajo Nation. ONLR shall have an unconditional right to intervene in the Commission proceeding initiated by such complaint or petition upon the timely application by motion accompanied by a pleading setting forth the claims for which intervention is sought.

M. Confidentiality.

1. Conciliation. In the absence of written consent of the persons concerned, statements or offers of settlement made, documents provided or conduct by participants in conciliation efforts under § 610(F) shall not be admissible in any Commission or other proceeding relating to the Charge which is the subject of conciliation, to prove liability for or invalidity of the Charge or the amount or nature of relief therefor; provided, however, that nothing herein shall be construed as requiring the exclusion of such evidence merely because it was presented in the court of conciliation if:

- a. The evidence is otherwise discoverable; or
- b. The evidence is offered for another purpose, including without limitation, proving bias or prejudice of a witness, negating a contention of undue delay, or proving an effort to obstruct a criminal investigation or prosecution.

2. Charge, Records and Information.

a. Prior to the institution of Commission proceedings thereon, and in the absence of the written consent of the persons concerned, ONLR shall not disclose as a matter of public information any Charge, response thereto, any statements or other information obtained in the course of its investigation of the Charge, except that nothing herein shall prevent earlier disclosure of such information by ONLR in its discretion:

(1) To charging parties or their attorneys, respondents or their attorneys, witnesses or other interested persons where the disclosure is deemed by ONLR to be necessary for securing a resolution of the Charge, including appropriate relief therefor; or

(2) To employees or representatives of the Navajo Nation or employees or representatives of federal, state or local authorities have a governmental interest in the subject matter of the Charge; or

(3) To persons for the purpose of publishing data derived from such information in a form which does not reveal the identity of charging parties, aggrieved persons, respondents or persons supplying the information.

b. Except as otherwise provided herein, any person to whom a permissible disclosure is made hereunder shall be bound to maintain the confidentiality of such information from further disclosure and shall use the information solely for the purpose for which it was disclosed.

2. Privileged Information. Neither ONLR, charging parties, aggrieved persons, respondents, witnesses or persons supplying information in connection with a Charge shall be compelled, either before or after commencement of Commission proceedings, to disclose any information which represents the opinions or conclusions formed by ONLR during the course of its investigation of a Charge, or any information which is protected by the attorney-client privilege, the informer's privilege referred to in § 610(B)(10), or any other absolute or limited privilege recognized under the laws of the Navajo Nation. To the extent justice requires, the Commission may, balancing the rights of parties and affected persons, prohibit or limit the disclosure of any other information for good cause shown, including a showing that disclosure would impede enforcement of the Act, jeopardize rights guaranteed thereunder, or cause annoyance, embarrassment, oppression or undue burden or expense to parties or affected persons.

N. Non-retaliation. It shall be unlawful for any employer, labor organization, joint labor-management committee involved in apprenticeship or other matters relating to employment, employment agency or other person to, directly or indirectly, take or attempt to induce another person to take, any action adversely affecting:

1. The terms and conditions of any person's employment or opportunities associated with such employment;
2. An applicant's opportunity for employment;

3. The membership of an employee or applicant for employment in a labor organization; or

4. Any other right, benefit, privilege or opportunity unrelated to employment, because such person has opposed an employment practice subject to this Act or has made a charge, testified, or assisted or participated in any manner in an investigation, proceeding or hearing under the Act.

O. Service of Documents. Service of any notice, determination or other document required to be transmitted under this section shall be accomplished by personal delivery or certified mail, return receipt requested.

Annotations

1. Jurisdiction

“Like FECA, the NPEA is a more narrowly drawn statute. We find that NPEA claims should function in a manner analogous to FECA claims. However, while FECA provides access to the federal courts, the NPEA provides access to tribal courts.” Stago v. Wide Ruins Community School Inc., No. SC-CV-63-99, slip op. at 11 (Nav. Sup. Ct. August 29, 2002).

“Upon reconsideration we hold that Dr. Stago’s NPEA claim falls outside the Federal Tort Claims Act (FTCA) and that the NNLC [Navajo Nation Labor Commission] has jurisdiction over her claim.” Stago v. Wide Ruins Community School Inc., No. SC-CV-63-99, slip op. at 1 (Nav. Sup.Ct. August 29, 2002).

2. Ministerial acts

“The receipt of an employment charge form and its subsequent filing are nothing more than ministerial acts, which the law does not restrict to compliance officers. [. . .] Presumably, any ONLR employee may receive and file an employment charge form.” Kirk, et al. v. Office of Navajo Labor Relations, 7 Nav. R. 363, 365 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1998).

3. Filing a charge

“The filing of an amended complaint with the Commission does not require the petitioner to return to the ONLR with an amended charge, therefore, 15 N.N.C. § 610(B)(5) does not apply to the amended complaint.” Loley v. Department of Employment and Training, 7 Nav. R. 406, 411 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1999).

“We agree with the Commission that telephone calls do not qualify as an attempt to file a charge with the ONLR.” Kirk, et al. v. Office of Navajo Labor Relations, 7 Nav. R. 363, 364 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1998).

4. Limitations, generally

“We do not believe the timing requirements are jurisdictional for purposes of a writ of prohibition. Petitioner relies on a statement in Harvey v. Kayenta Unified School District that Section 610(J)(1)(c) ‘appears to be a hybrid of a jurisdictional statute and a limitation statute.’ 7 Nav.R. 374, 375 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1999). However, further in the Harvey opinion we indicated that equitable tolling may apply, suggesting that Section 610(J)(1)(c) operates as a statute of limitations and not a jurisdictional condition. Id. At 375-76. Though our opinion in Harvey was not clear, we clarify today that the NPEA timing requirements are not jurisdictional, in that they may be waived by failure of the respondent to plead them as a defense, and may be altered by other considerations such as equitable tolling. We reject any suggestion in Harvey to the contrary.” Peabody Western Coal Company, Kayenta Mine v. Navajo Nation Labor Commission, No. SC-CV-33-04, slip op. at 2-3 (Nav. Sup. Ct. May 24, 2004).

“The NPEA requires the complaint to be filed within three hundred sixty (360) days of the charge.” Peabody Western Coal Company, Kayenta Mine v. Navajo Nation Labor Commission, No. SC-CV-33-04, slip op. at 1-2 (Nav. Sup. Ct. May 24, 2004).

“The statute appears to be a hybrid of a jurisdictional statute and a limitations statute. [. . .] . . . [C]onsiderations of fairness and substantial justice require that parties have . . . opportunity to assert equitable tolling before the Commission.” Harvey v. Kayenta Unified School District, 7 Nav. R. 374, 375 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1999).

5. Consent to application

“On appeal, Central Consolidated additionally argued that the Navajo Preference in Employment Act, 15 N.N.C. § 601 et seq., conflicts with the New Mexico Human Rights Act, § 28-1-1, et seq. MNSA 1978, and was not enforceable according to the Lease. This Court issued a memorandum decision affirming the Navajo Nation Labor Commission. We held that Central Consolidated consented to the application of the NPEA and that the NPEA was not in conflict with the New Mexico Human Rights Act." Office of Navajo Labor Relations v. Central Consolidated School District No. 22, No. SC-CV-37-00, slip op. at 2-3 (Nav. Sup. Ct. June 23, 2004).

§ 611. Hearings

A. The Commission shall schedule a hearing within sixty (60) days of the filing of a written complaint by a petitioner with the Commission. The hearing shall be held at a location designated by the Commission.

1. Notice. The Commission shall issue a notice of hearing. The time and place of the hearing shall be clearly described in the notice. The notice shall also set forth in clear and simple terms the nature of the alleged violations and shall state that: (a) the violations may be contested at a hearing before the Commission; and (b) any party may appear by counsel and cross-examine adverse witnesses.

2. Upon application by a party to the Commission or on the Commission's own motion, the Commission may issue subpoenas compelling the disclosure by any person evidence relevant to the Complaint, including a subpoena ordering, under oath as may be appropriate:

- a. The attendance and testimony of witnesses;
- b. Responses to written interrogations;
- c. The production of evidence; and
- d. Access to evidence for the purpose of examination and copying.

3. The Commission is authorized to administer oaths and compel attendance of any person at a hearing and to compel production of any documents.

4. In the event a party does not make an appearance on the day set for hearing or fails to comply with the rules of procedure set forth by the Commission for the conduct of hearings, the Commission is authorized to enter a default determination against the non-appearing and/or non-complying party.

B. Burden of proof. In any compliance review, complaint proceeding, investigation, or hearing, the burden of proof shall be upon the respondent to show compliance with the provisions of this Act by a preponderance of the evidence.

C. Hearing. The Commission shall conduct the hearing in a fair and orderly manner and extend to all parties the right to be heard.

1. The Commission shall not be bound by any formal rules of evidence.

2. The respondent shall have the opportunity to answer the complaint and the parties shall have the right to legal counsel, to present witnesses, and to cross-examine adverse witnesses.

3. The Commission shall issue its decision by a majority vote of a quorum present which shall be signed by the Chairperson of the Commission.

4. Copies of the decision shall be sent to all parties of record in the proceeding by certified mail, return receipt.
5. Records of the proceeding shall be recorded. Any party may request a transcript of the proceeding at their own expense.
6. The decision of the Commission shall be final with a right of appeal only on questions of law to the Navajo Nation Supreme Court.

§ 612. Remedies and sanctions

A. If, following notice and hearing, the Commission finds that respondent has violated the Act, the Commission shall:

1. Issue one or more remedial orders, including without limitation, directed hiring, reinstatement, displacement of non-Navajo employees, back-pay, front-pay, injunctive relief, mandated corrective action to cure the violation within a reasonable period of time, and/or, upon a finding of intentional violation, imposition of civil fines; provided that liability for back-pay or other forms of compensatory damages shall not accrue from a date more than two (2) years prior to the date of filing of the Charge which is the basis for the complaint.
2. In the case of an individual suit initiated pursuant to § 610(H), award costs and attorneys’ fees if the respondent’s position was not substantially justified.
3. Refer matters involving respondent contracts, agreements, leases and permits to the Navajo Nation Attorney General for appropriate action.

B. In the absence of a showing of good cause therefor, if any party to a proceeding under this Act fails to comply with a subpoena or order issued by the Commission, the Commission may impose such actions as are just, including without limitation any one or more of the following:

1. In the case of non-compliance with a subpoena of documents or witnesses:
 - a. An order that the matters for which the subpoena was issued or any other designated facts shall be deemed established for the purposes of the proceeding and in accordance with the claim of the party obtaining the order;

b. An order refusing to allow the disobedient party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting that party from introducing designated matters in evidence; or

c. An order striking pleading or parts thereof, or staying further proceedings until the subpoena is obeyed, or dismissing the action or proceeding or any part thereof, or rendering a judgment by default against the disobedient party.

2. In the case of non-compliance by a party or non-party with a Commission subpoena of documents or witnesses or with any other order of the Commission:

a. An order holding the disobedient person in contempt of the Commission and imposing appropriate sanctions therefor, including a civil fine; or

b. An order directing the disobedient person to pay the reasonable costs and/or attorneys fees caused by the non-compliance.

C. The person or party in whose favor a Commission's decision providing for remedial action is entered shall have the right to seek legal and/or equitable relief in the District Courts of the Navajo Nation to enforce the remedial action; provided that the Commission itself shall have the right to seek legal and/or equitable relief in the District Courts of the Navajo Nation to enforce civil fines or sanctions imposed by the Commission against a person or party. In both instances the Attorney General of the Navajo Nation shall have an unconditional right to intervene on behalf of the Navajo Nation. Any attempted enforcement of a Commission order or decision directing payment of money by the Navajo Nation or any of its governmental entities shall, with respect to the extent of any liability be governed by the Navajo Sovereign Immunity Act, 1 N.N.C. § 551 et seq., as amended.

LABOR

§ 613. Appeal and stay of execution

A. Any party may appeal a decision of the Commission to the Navajo Nation Supreme Court by lodging a written notice of appeal, in the form prescribed by the Navajo Rules of Civil Appellate Procedure and within ten (10) days after receipt of the Commission's decision.

B. In the absence of a stipulation by the parties approved by the Commission, a stay of execution of the decision from which the appeal is taken shall only be granted upon written application of the appellant to the Commission and an opportunity for response by appellee. The application for a stay shall be filed within the period prescribed for appeal in subsection (A) hereof. No stay shall be issued unless the appellant presents a clear and convincing showing that each of the following requirements have been satisfied:

1. Appellant is likely to prevail on the merits of the appeal;
2. Appellant will be irreparably harmed in the absence of a stay;
3. Appellee and interested persons will not be substantially harmed by a stay;
4. The public interest will be served by a stay; and
5. An appeal bond or other security, in the amount and upon the terms prescribed by subsection (C) below, has been filed with and approved by the Commission; provided that no appeal bond shall be required of ONLR, the Navajo Nation or any governmental agency or enterprise of the Navajo Nation.

C. The appeal bond shall be issued by a duly authorized and responsible surety which shall obligate itself to pay to appellee, or any other person in whose favor an award is made by the Commission decision, the amounts specified or described in the bond upon conclusion of the appeal and failure of appellant, following written demand by appellee, to satisfy the foregoing obligations.

1. The amount or nature of liability assumed by the surety shall be specified in the bond and shall include:
 - a. The total amount of all monetary awards made in the Commission decision, together with such interest thereon as may be prescribed in the Commission's decision;

b. Costs of appeal and attorneys' fees incurred by appellee in defending the appeal and which may be awarded to appellee by the Navajo Nation Supreme Court;

c. Damages sustained by appellee or other recipients of a Commission award for delay in satisfaction of the Commission decision caused by the appeal; and

d. Such other amount or liability reasonably required to be secured to protect the interests of the appellee or other award recipients.

2. The bond shall provide that the surety submits to the jurisdiction of the Commission and the Courts of the Navajo Nation, and irrevocably appoints the Commission as the surety's agent upon whom any papers affecting the surety's liability on the bond may be served. The surety's liability may be enforced on motion of the appellee filed with the Commission, with copies thereof served on the surety and appellant.

3. In lieu of posting an appeal bond, appellant may, with the approval of the Commission, post a cash bond and undertaking in the amount and upon the terms which are required above with respect to an appeal bond.

4. No appeal bond or cash bond and undertaking, nor the liabilities of the surety or appellant thereunder, shall be exonerated or released until all amounts and liabilities prescribed therein have been fully paid and satisfied.

D. Within three (3) business days following the filing with the Navajo Nation Supreme Court of any appeal from a Commission proceeding, the Clerk of such Court shall, in all cases other than those in which ONLR is not either the appellant or appellee, cause copies of the notice of appeal and all other documents filed in connection therewith to be sent to the ONLR Director and the Attorney General of the Navajo Nation. ONLR shall have an unconditional right to intervene and participate as amicus in the appeal proceedings upon timely application therefor by motion lodged with the Navajo Nation Supreme Court. ONLR's right of participation shall be coextensive with that of the parties to the appeal, including the right to file opening, answering and reply briefs, and the right to present oral argument to the Court.

§ 614. Non-Navajo spouses

A. When a non-Navajo is legally married to a Navajo, he or she shall be entitled to preference in employment under the Act. Proof of marriage by a valid marriage certificate shall be required. In addition, such non-Navajo spouse shall be required to have resided within the territorial jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation for a continuous one (1) year period immediately preceding the application for Navajo preference consideration.

B. Upon meeting the above requirements, such consideration shall be limited to preference in employment where the spouse would normally be in a pool of non-Navajo workers. In this instance, Navajo preference would place the non-Navajo spouse in the applicant pool of Navajos for consideration. However, preference priority shall still be given to all Navajo applicants who meet the necessary job qualifications within that pool.

C. Non-Navajo spouses having a right to secondary preference under this section shall also have and enjoy all other employment rights granted to Navajos under the Act, it being understood that Navajos retain a priority right with respect to provisions of the Act concerning preferential treatment in employment opportunities.

B. Subjective observations of the covered worker, by co-workers, supervisors, medical or emergency personnel or other witnesses, the statements, behavior or actions of the covered worker or other direct or circumstantial evidence establishes by clear and convincing evidence that the covered worker's use or abuse of alcohol, controlled substances or chemicals contributed to

1. Construction and application

"Therefore we hold that an injured employee is not barred from seeking nalyeeh from a third-party tortfeasor merely because he or she received workers' compensation from his or her employer. Nalyeeh is not satisfied merely by receipt of workers' compensation from the employer when a third party has some responsibility for the accident." Benally v. Mobil Oil Corporation, nka ExxonMobil Corporation, No. SC-CV-05-01 slip op. at 9 (Nav. Sup. Ct. November 24, 2003).

"In Largo we recognized the right of a tribal employee to seek nalyeeh from a third-party under certain procedural requirements set out in 15 N.N.C. § 1032 [now 15 N.N.C. § 1031]. . . . Therefore, an injured party could seek nalyeeh from a third-party, and receipt of workers' compensation would not be a bar." Benally v. Mobil Oil Corporation, nka ExxonMobil Corporation, No. SC-CV-05-01 slip op. at 9 (Nav. Sup. Ct. November 24, 2003).

"Section 1032(D) [now section 1031(C)] was amended in 1997. Navajo Nation Council Res. No. CO-83-97 (October 22, 1997). The amendments do not affect the ruling in this case because the injury here happened in 1996. The only substantive change made to section 1032(B) [now section 1031(C)] is that the statute now expressly states that a claim is in the 'control' of the Navajo Nation once it has been assigned the claim. . . . [T]he Navajo Nation maintains control of the claim, but even such control would not limit or terminate an injured worker's interest in the claim." Largo v. Eaton Corporation and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., No. SC-CV-09-99, slip op. at 11-12 (Nav. Sup. Ct. April 11, 2001).

"The stated policy is in accord with Navajo common law principles. . . . 'If a Navajo was injured by the act of another, the victim could demand nalyeeh, which is a form of compensation or reparation.' . . . This means the injured person has a personal right to seek nalyeeh for physical injuries contracted." Largo v. Eaton Corporation and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., No. SC-CV-09-99, slip op. at 5 (Nav. Sup. Ct. April 11, 2001).

"While section 1032(B) [now section 1031(C)] does not expressly permit the Navajo Nation to reassign a claim to the injured worker, we believe that sound public policy demands that personal injury suits be brought by the injured parties themselves." Largo v. Eaton Corporation and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., No. SC-CV-09-99, slip op. at 5 (Nav. Sup. Ct. April 11, 2001).

"The Navajo Nation Workers' Compensation Program provides a procedure for the fair and orderly resolution of injury claims. A worker may bring an action in court against a third-party for a covered injury without compromising receipt of workers' compensation benefits. 15 N.N.C. § 1032(A) (1978)." Note: Section 1032(A) is now Section 1031(C). Largo v. Eaton Corporation and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., No. SC-CV-09-99, slip op. at 2-3 (Nav. Sup. Ct. April 11, 2001).

See generally, George v. Tsosie and the Navajo Nation, No. SC-CV-30-98, (Nav. Sup. Ct. March 15, 2001).

2. Limitations

"Section 1032(B) [now section 1031(C)] is an assignment statute. Its function is to assign an individual's claim to the Navajo Nation, while [7 N.N.C. section 602(a)(1)] controls the time period for bringing a personal injury action. Thus, section 1032(B) [now section 1031(C)] is not a statute of limitations and our courts cannot use it to bar an injured worker's suit." Largo v. Eaton Corporation and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., No. SC-CV-09-99, slip op. at 4 (Nav. Sup. Ct. April 11, 2001).

3. Assignment, generally

"We hold that an injured worker may initiate a lawsuit against a third-party tortfeasor after the claim has been assigned, as long as the worker files the lawsuit and joins the Navajo Nation, as the real party in interest, before the statute of limitations expire. Such a procedure is allowed by Rule 17(a), Navajo Rules of Civil Procedure. . . ." Largo v. Eaton Corporation and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., No. SC-CV-09-99, slip op. at 10 (Nav. Sup. Ct. April 11, 2001).

"While section 1032(B) [now section 1031(C)] does not expressly state that the Navajo Nation may reassign a claim to an injured worker, we find that Navajo Nation public policy and Navajo common principles require reassignment of a claim Accordingly, we hold that section 1032(B) permits the Navajo Nation to reassign a claim to an injured worker." Largo v. Eaton Corporation and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., No. SC-CV-09-99, slip op. at 6 (Nav. Sup. Ct. April 11, 2001).

"After one (1) year, section 1032(B) [now section 1031(C)] assigns the worker's right to sue to the Navajo Nation, but the tortfeasor's liability to the injured party is not extinguished by the statutory assignment. Thus, the Navajo Nation can sue the tortfeasor, recover damages, deduct its lien, and release the remainder to the injured worker." Largo v. Eaton Corporation and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., No. SC-CV-09-99, slip op. at 4 (Nav. Sup. Ct. April 11, 2001).

4. Remedies

"We realize that section 1032(B) [now section 1031(C)] does not expressly state what happens to the worker's interest in recovery beyond the amount of benefits paid, such as claims for pain and suffering and emotional distress. We again tap into the Navajo common law principle of nalyeeh to conclude that the injured worker keeps an interest in such claims for the duration of the statute of limitations." Largo v. Eaton Corporation and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., No. SC-CV-09-99, slip op. at 9 (Nav. Sup. Ct. April 11, 2001).

§ 1032. Waiting period

Indemnity benefits shall be paid under the provisions of this Act only for an injury which results in the claimant's disability for more than seven (7) consecutive days. If the period of the claimant's disability lasts for more than twenty-eight (28) consecutive days from the date of his or her injury, indemnity benefits shall be paid from the date of disability. A claimant may not recover indemnity benefits for the period that he or she is compensated by paid leave. No employer shall allow a claimant to collect more than one hundred percent (100%) of his or her regular earnings. Paid leave time taken shall apply against the waiting period for indemnity payments.

C. When considering the average weekly wage, as defined in 15 N.N.C. § 1002(A)(6), where for exceptional reasons the method would be unfair, either to the claimant or the employer, such other method of computing average weekly wage may be resorted to as will most nearly approximate the amount which the claimant would be earning were it not for the disability.

A. Safety and health standards, rules and regulations shall be formulated in the following manner:

The Agency shall either propose adoption of national consensus standards or federal standards or draft such regulations, as it considers necessary after conducting sufficient investigations and consulting with the appropriate committee and other persons knowledgeable in the business for which the standards or regulations are being formulated.

Upon approval of the proposed standards or regulations, or both, the standards or regulations will take effect as provided in the regulation or standards. In addition, where appropriate any such standards or regulations shall prescribe the type of frequency of medical examination or other test which shall be made available, by the employer at his cost, to employees exposed to such hazards in order to most effectively determine whether the health of such employees is adversely affected by such exposure. Any standards or regulations promulgated pursuant to this Section shall assure, as far as possible, that no employee will suffer material impairment of health or functional capacity even if such standard is for the period of his working life.

D. In case of conflict between standards and regulations, the regulation shall take precedence.

E. Any person who may be adversely affected by a standard or regulation issued under this Act may, at any time prior to the expiration of sixty (60) calendar days after such standard or regulation is promulgated, file a complaint challenging the validity of such standard or regulation with the Agency Hearing Officer for an administrative review of such standard or regulation. The filing of such a complaint shall not, unless otherwise ordered by the Hearing Officer, operate as a stay of the standard or regulation. The determination of the Hearing Officer shall be conclusive if supported by substantial evidence in the record considered as a whole.

Subchapter 6. Inspection

§ 1451. Right of entry and inspection of place of employment

A. In order to carry out the purpose of the Act, the Director or his authorized representative, upon presentation of credentials shall be permitted to inspect places of employment, question employees, and investigate conditions, practices or matters in connection with issues of employee safety and/or health. Such inspections must take place at reasonable times, as determined by the Director or his authorized representative, for the purpose of determining whether any person has violated any provisions of the Act, or any rule or regulation issued thereunder. No employer or other person shall refuse to admit the Director or his authorized representative to any such place or refuse to permit any such inspection if the proper credentials are presented and the inspection is made at a reasonable time.

B. Any person, including any employee may file a written complaint with the Agency concerning any alleged violation of a regulation or any hazardous condition. A copy of the complaint shall be provided to the employer at the time of the inspection. However, upon the request of the complainant, the complainant's name shall not appear on the copy. The Agency shall investigate the complaint and notify the complainant and employer in writing of the result of the investigation and any action to be taken. If no action is contemplated, the Agency shall notify the complainant and include an informal review of any decisions not to take compliance action at the request of the complainant. The person who investigated the complaint shall not make the review.

C. In order to aid inspections, the employer or his representative and a representative of the employees shall be given an opportunity to accompany the Agency inspector during the physical inspection of the workplace. If there are no authorized employee representatives, the Agency inspector shall consult with a reasonable number of employees.

D. Prior to and during any inspection of a workplace, any persons employed in such workplace may notify the Agency or the Agency inspector in writing of any violation of the Act, which they have reason to believe exists in such workplace. The Agency shall establish procedures for informal review of the decision made by the inspector and if no citation is issued with respect to the alleged violation, the Agency shall furnish the employee requesting such review a written statement of the reason for the Agency's final disposition of the case.

E. If an inspection reveals that employees are exposed to toxic materials or harmful physical agents at levels in excess of those prescribed by regulations of the Act, the Agency shall provide the employees with access to the results of the inspection. The employer shall promptly notify those employees who are exposed to the agents or materials in excess of the applicable regulations and inform them of the corrective action being taken, or that review has been requested in accordance with Part E of § 1471.

F. It is unlawful for any person to give advance notice of any inspection to be conducted under the Act without the written approval of the Director.

G. The Director, in addition to initiating an investigation under Part B of this Section, may file in the District Court where the inspection was refused a complaint against an employer who violates Part A of this section and request an injunction against continued refusal to permit an inspection, or a writ of assistance or enforcement order to implement the requested action.

Note. Subsection (C) slightly reworded for clarity.

Subchapter 7. Citation

§ 1461. Citation

A. If the Director, in performing an inspection or investigation, determines that there is reasonable belief that a violation exists, he shall with reasonable promptness issue a citation to the employer. Each citation shall be in writing and shall contain the following:

1. A particular description of the nature of the violation, including, a reference to the particular provision of the standard or regulation alleged to have been violated.
2. A reasonable time for the abatement of the violation.
3. A notice that the employer may request a hearing pursuant to § 1491 if he is aggrieved by the citation.

B. A certified mail delivery receipt or a signed verification of delivery in person shall be prima facie evidence of receipt of a citation.

History

CAP-39-00, April 20, 2000.

Subchapter 8. Enforcement

§ 1471. Enforcement procedures

A. If the Director, following an inspection or investigation, issues a citation pursuant to § 1461 of the Act, he shall, within reasonable time, notify the employer by certified mail of any penalty proposed to be assessed pursuant to § 1481 of the Act. Each citation issued, or a copy thereof, shall be promptly and prominently posted by the employer, as prescribed in regulations issued by the Agency, at or near the place where the violation occurred. No citation may be issued under this section after six (6) months following occurrences of any violation.

1.¹ The Agency may issue an advisory notice setting forth de minimis violations of standards or regulations which shall carry no penalty, unless the employer willfully and repeatedly violated such standard or regulation, in which case the Agency may refer the matter to the Hearing Officer for appropriate action pursuant to § 1481 of the Act.

B. If the Agency issues a citation under Part A of this Section, it shall, within a reasonable time after issuance of said citation, notify the employer by certified mail of the penalty, if any, proposed to be assessed and that the employer has fifteen (15) working days within which to notify the Agency in writing that he wishes to contest the citation or proposed penalty. If, within fifteen (15) working days from the receipt of this citation, notification of intent to contest is not given by an employer as provided in Part E of this section within such time, the citation and the assessment of penalty, if any, as proposed, shall be deemed the final order of the Agency and not subject to review by the Hearing Officer or Court.

C. If the Agency has reason to believe that an employer has failed to correct a violation for which a citation has been issued within the abatement period permitted (which period shall not begin to run until the entry of a final order by the Hearing Officer in the case of any review proceedings under this Section initiated by the employer in good faith and not solely for delay or avoidance of penalties), the Agency shall notify the employer by certified mail of such failure to correct and of the penalty proposed to be assessed by reason of such failure, and that the employer has fifteen (15) working days within which to notify the Agency that it intends to contest the proposed assessment of penalty, the notification and assessment shall be deemed a final order of the Agency, and not subject to review by the Hearing Officer or Court.

D. Any employer that corrects violations for which a citation was issued within the period permitted shall so notify the Director in writing.

E. When an employer notifies the Agency in writing that it intends to contest the citation issued to it under Part A or notification is issued under Part B or C of this Section, and any employee of any employer so cited files a notice with the Agency alleging that the period of time fixed in the citation for the abatement of the violation is unreasonable, the Agency shall provide prompt opportunity for informal administrative review. If the matter is not successfully resolved at the informal administrative review, the petitioner may request a hearing before the Hearing Officer within fifteen (15) days after the informal administrative review. The Hearing Officer shall afford an opportunity for a hearing within thirty (30) days after receipt of such petition. In any such hearing, the employer shall be the respondent. The burden of proof shall be on the Agency (or the petitioner) to prove by substantial evidence non-compliance on the part of the employer. The Hearing Officer shall thereafter issue an order, based on findings of fact, affirming, modifying or vacating the Agency's citation proposed penalty or directing other relief. Such order shall become final fifteen (15) days after its issuance.

F. At any time prior to the expiration of an abatement period, an employer may notify the Agency in writing that it is unable to take the corrective action required within the period of abatement. The Agency shall provide prompt opportunity for informal administrative review. If the matter is not successfully resolved at the informal administrative review, the employer may request a hearing before the Hearing Officer. The Hearing Officer shall afford prompt opportunity for a hearing after receipt of such petition. The only grounds for modifying an abatement period under this subsection are a showing by the employer of a good faith effort to comply with the abatement requirement of a citation, and that abatement has not been completed because of factors beyond the employer's control.

G. Affected employees shall be provided an opportunity to participate as parties at informal Agency administrative reviews and hearings under this Section.

H. Any person adversely affected by an order of Hearing Officer issued under this section may, after exhausting his administrative remedies, obtain a review.

§ 1472. Emergency procedures

A. The Director shall have authority to restrict any conditions or practices in any place of employment that could create an imminent risk of death or serious physical harm. Any order issued under this Section may require such steps as may be necessary to avoid, correct or remove such danger or to maintain the capacity of a continuous operation up to the time that normal operations can be resumed, or where a cessation of operations is necessary, to permit such to be accomplished in a safe and, orderly manner.

B. When the Director determines that an emergency exists, he shall immediately inform the employee and employers of the hazards and take steps to obtain immediate abatement of the hazards by the employer.

C. The Director may file a petition in the District Court for a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction pending the outcome of an enforcement proceeding pursuant to the Act.

Annotations1. Construction of laws

“The statute means that the courts must construe the plain language of the statute, and resolve any doubt as to the meaning of a penal statute in favor of the defendant.” Navajo Nation v. Platero, 6 Nav. R. 422, 429 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1991), concurrence of Chief Justice Tso.

2. Court’s authority

“ . . . [T]he authority of the Navajo courts to order the forfeiture of an automobile used for the illegal delivery of liquor derives from many sources. These sources are: 7 N.T.C. § 253(1)

(1985 Cumm. Supp.) which gives the district courts original jurisdiction over ‘all violations of laws of the Navajo Nation’; 17 N.T.C. § 202(3) and (4) (1985 Cumm. Supp.) which state the purposes of the Navajo Criminal Code; 17 N.T.C. § 203 (1985 Cumm. Supp.) which gives the Navajo Nation courts jurisdiction over any person who commits an offense within the ‘Navajo Indian Country’; and 17 N.T.C. § 220(c) which gives the Navajo courts general sentencing power pursuant to its legal authority to decide criminal matters.” Begay v. Navajo Nation, 6 Nav. R. 20, 21 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1988).

§ 203. Territorial applicability

The Navajo Nation Courts shall have jurisdiction over any person who commits an offense by his or her own conduct if the conduct constituting any element of the offense or a result of such conduct occurs within the territorial jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation Courts as defined in 7 N.N.C. § 254, or such other dependent Indian communities as may hereafter be determined to be under the jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation and the Courts of the Navajo Nation. The Navajo Nation Courts shall also have jurisdiction over any member of the Navajo Nation wherever the conduct which constitutes the offense occurs.

§ 204. Civil prosecutions of non-Indians

A. Any non-Indian alleged to have committed any offense enumerated in this Title may be civilly prosecuted by the Office of the Prosecutor. In no event shall such a civil prosecution permit incarceration of a non-Indian or permit the imposition of a criminal fine against a non-Indian.

B. Procedure. Civil prosecutions under this section shall be conducted in accordance with the Navajo Rules of Criminal Procedure, and the non-Indian civil defendant shall be afforded all the heightened protections available to a criminal defendant under those rules including, but not limited to, the more stringent burden of proof beyond a reasonable doubt.

C. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to preclude exercise of criminal jurisdiction over any person who, by reason of assuming tribal relations with the Navajo people or being an “in law” or hadane or relative as defined by Navajo common law, custom, or tradition, submits himself or herself to the criminal jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation.

D. Civil Penalties. Upon a finding that a non-Indian has committed any of the offenses enumerated in this Title, the Court may impose any of the following civil penalties in any combination deemed appropriate by the Court:

1. A civil fine (fines listed for offenses under Title 17 may serve as a guideline for the calculation of a civil fine, but the criminal fines are not binding upon the calculation of a civil fine);
2. Any civil forfeiture made appropriate by the penalty sections of Title 17;
3. Restitution, or nályééh, consistent with the traditional principles of nályééh;
4. Exclusion from all lands subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation courts.

Annotations

1. Sufficiency of evidence

“We will not sustain a conviction based solely upon an extrajudicial admission. The possibility is great that an alleged admission may be fabricated to establish the defendant’s guilt. We doubt that an admission, in of itself, is sufficient to satisfy the law that in every criminal case, the Navajo Nation must prove every element of the offense beyond a reasonable doubt.” Navajo Nation v. Murphy, 6 Nav. R. 10, 15 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1988).

2. Burden of proof

“In civil actions, the required degree of proof is generally a preponderance of evidence. The required burden of proof in criminal cases is much higher because liberty interests are at stake. In criminal cases, the prosecution must prove each element of an offense beyond a reasonable doubt.” Apachito v. Navajo Nation, No. SC-CV-34-02, slip op. at 3 (Nav. Sup. Ct. August 13, 2003).

“Prosecution must prove each element of an offense, including intent, beyond a reasonable doubt.” Navajo Nation v. MacDonald, Jr., 7 Nav. R. 1, 5 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1992).

§ 207. Double jeopardy

No person shall be put twice in jeopardy for the same crime. The defense of double jeopardy may not be waived and may be used by the accused at any stage of a criminal prosecution either before or after judgment. When a complaint charges different offenses and an appeal is granted to the defendant, he or she may not again be tried for an offense greater than the one for which he or she was originally convicted.

§ 208. Witness immunity; prosecutor investigations; District Court proceedings

A. Investigation Proceedings. When a prosecutor has probable cause to believe that an offense has occurred, he or she may require any witness who he or she believes has knowledge of material information to give a sworn statement regarding such offense. If such a witness has been asked to give a sworn statement to produce a record, document or other object in connection with such investigative proceedings, the district court may, upon the written application of the prosecuting attorney, issue a written order granting use immunity and requiring the person to testify or to produce the record document or other object notwithstanding his or her privilege against self incrimination. In any application for such an order, the prosecuting attorney shall state under oath that probable cause exists and that he or she believes such order is in the public interest based on the following factors:

1. The importance of the investigation or prosecution to effective enforcement of the criminal law;
2. The value of the person's testimony or information to the investigation or prosecution;
3. The likelihood of prompt and full compliance with a compulsion order and the effectiveness of available sanctions if there is no such compliance;
4. The person's relative culpability in connection with the offense or offenses being investigated or prosecuted and their history with respect to criminal activity;
5. The possibility of successfully prosecuting prior to compelling them to testify or produce information; and
6. The likelihood of adverse collateral consequences to the person if he or she testifies or provide information under a compulsion order.

B. The District Courts of the Navajo Nation may grant the application and issue a written order if it finds:

1. The testimony or record, document or other object may be necessary to the public interest; and
2. The person has refused, or is likely to refuse, to testify or produce the record, document or other object on the basis of his or her privilege against self-incrimination.

C. Court Proceedings. If a person has been or maybe called to testify or produce a record, document or other objects in an official proceeding conducted under the authority of a district court, the district court may, upon the written application of the prosecutor issue an order granting use immunity to that person and requiring the person to testify or produce the record, document or other object notwithstanding his or her privilege against self-incrimination, if it finds:

1. The testimony or the record, document or other object may be necessary to the public interest; and
2. The person has refused, or is likely to refuse, to testify or to produce the record, document or other object on the basis of his or her privilege against self-incrimination.

§ 216. Affirmative defenses

A. Duress. It is an affirmative defense that the actor engaged in the conduct charged to constitute an offense because he or she was coerced to do so by the use of, or a threat to use, unlawful force against his or her person or the person of another, which a person of reasonable firmness in his or her situation would have been unable to resist and the actor did not recklessly or negligently place himself or herself in a situation in which it was probable he or she would be subjected to duress.

B. Justification. Conduct which the actor believes to be necessary to avoid a harm or evil to himself or herself or to another is justified and is an affirmative defense provided that the harm or evil sought to be avoided by such conduct is no greater than that sought to be prevented by the law defining the offense charged and the actor did not recklessly or negligently bring about the situation requiring his or her conduct.

C. Public duty. Conduct is justified and an affirmative defense when it is required or authorized by law.

D. Protection of self, property, or other person. The use of reasonable force upon or toward another person is justified and an affirmative defense when the actor believes that such force is immediately necessary for the purpose of protecting himself or herself or a third person against the use of unlawful force by another person or to prevent or terminate an unlawful entry or other trespass upon land or the unlawful carrying away of tangible movable property.

E. Mental disease. A person is not responsible for criminal conduct, and it is an affirmative defense, if at the time of such conduct, as a result of mental disease or defect, he or she lacks substantial capacity either to appreciate the criminality of his or her conduct or to conform his or her conduct to the requirements of law.

“If any person within the Navajo Nation does any act to facilitate (“To make easier or less difficult”) or aid (“To support, help, assist or strengthen”) the delivery of any beverage which causes alcoholic intoxication, there is criminal liability. [. . .] It certainly includes the act of providing a place to engage in bootlegging, knowing the activity is being carried on by another.” Stanley v. Navajo Nation, 6 Nav. R. 284, 286 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1990).

Subchapter 2. Sentencing

§ 220. Criteria

A. No person convicted of an offense pursuant to this Title shall be sentenced otherwise than in accordance with this subchapter. A sentence of incarceration is always considered an extraordinary measure under any offense enumerated in this Title and should be imposed only as a last alternative where a defendant is found to have caused serious injury to a victim or victims, or other serious circumstances warrant a jail sentence. All jail sentences must be supported by a written statement, by the Court, of reasons for imposition of a jail sentence.

B. The court may suspend the imposition of sentence of a person who has been convicted of a crime, may order him or her to be committed in lieu of sentence to a hospital or other institution for medical, psychiatric or other rehabilitative treatment, or may sentence him or her as follows:

1. To pay a fine;
2. To be placed on probation;
3. To imprisonment for a definite period within the term authorized;
4. To fine and probation or fine and imprisonment;
5. To community service.
6. To pay restitution or nályééh.

C. The court may, pursuant to its legal authority, decree a forfeiture of property, suspend or cancel a license, require full or partial restitution, remove a non-elected public servant or Navajo Nation government employee from office, or impose any other civil penalty, and such order or judgment may be included in the sentence.

LAW AND ORDER

2. Construction with other laws

“The Tribal Council enacted 17 N.T.C. § 220(c) with knowledge of the express forfeiture penalties in other sections of the Code; thus, the Court must interpret Section 220(c) as giving the Navajo courts power to order a forfeiture of an automobile used in the illegal delivery of liquor.” Begay v. Navajo Nation, 6 Nav. R. 20, 22 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1988).

3. Due process

“Therefore, we hold that a civil forfeiture proceeding must provide due process as set forth in the Navajo Nation Bill of Rights, 1 N.T.C. § 3; the Indian Civil Rights Act, 25 U.S.C. § 1302(8), and Navajo common law.” Begay v. Navajo Nation, 6 Nav. R. 20, 24 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1988).

“We hold only that the forfeiture of an automobile demands notice and a hearing. Navajo court proceedings must comply with the Navajo Nation Bill of Rights and the Indian Civil Rights Act, and as such, we must ensure compliance with procedural and substantive due process before someone is deprived of their private property.” Begay v. Navajo Nation, 6 Nav. R. 20, 24 (Nav. Sup. Ct. 1988).

4. Review

“We therefore hold that a district court must include findings of fact and conclusions of law in a judgment and mittimus issued after a criminal trial. As these were not included in this case, the District Court erred.” Navajo Nation v. Badonie, No. SC-CR-01-03, slip op. at 2 (Nav. Sup. Ct. July 15, 2004).

§ 221. Sentencing considerations

A. Before imposing sentence the court shall take into consideration the offender’s prior record, family circumstances, employment status, and any other circumstances which will aid in imposing a just and fair sentence.

B. The trial court shall review all charges to ascertain whether there is a personal victim of the offense(s) and whether restitution or nályééh shall be paid to the victim(s) or the Navajo Nation.

C. The trial court may utilize the services of the Navajo Peacemaker Court to determine nályééh and make a sentencing recommendation regarding that sentence, and the trial court may require the defendant to pay the fee of the peacemaker.

D. The trial court may consider the imposition of peace or security bond upon the defendant, including the pledges of family or clan sureties.

E. Upon the imposition of a bond or security pledges, the district Office of Probation and Parole shall counsel the sureties of the consequences of breach of the bond or pledge.

F. The trial court shall consider the utility of labor or community service sentences, under the supervision of the Navajo Nation Department of Public Safety or a public or private organization, including the Chapter in which the defendant resides.

G. The courts of the Navajo Nation shall establish a fund, to be collected from assessments against persons convicted of any offense under this Title and under Title 14 in addition to any fine to cover the cost of liability insurance for the community service program.

H. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section or section 220, the trial court may impose any reasonable condition of sentence which strives to rehabilitate the defendant or serves the reasonable needs of the victims of crime and of society and is not inconsistent with the sentencing terms established for the offense or offenses which the defendant is determined to have committed.

2. Violations

“The sentence violates 17 N.N.C. § 223 (2000) in two ways. First, it does not have a definite term. A ‘definite’ jail sentence must provide a specific number of days or months. Second, Petitioner’s sentence violates the one (1) year limit on jail sentences because the Petitioner could be and was held for over a year. We hold that to detain a convicted defendant indefinitely not only violates the sentencing provisions of Title 17 but is also prohibited by the Navajo Nation Bill of Rights as cruel and unusual punishment.” *Martin v. A. The court shall dismiss a prosecution if, having regard to the nature of the conduct charged to constitute an offense and the nature of the attendant circumstances, it finds that the defendant’s conduct:

1. Was within a customary license or tolerance, neither expressly negated by the persons whose interest was infringed nor inconsistent with the purpose of the law defining the offense; or
2. Did not actually cause or threaten the harm or evil sought to be prevented by the law defining the offense or did so only to an extent too trivial to warrant the condemnation of conviction; or
3. Presents such other extenuation that it cannot reasonably be regarded as envisaged by the legislature in forbidding the offense.

C. Defense precluded. D. Sentence.

1. Any person found guilty of solicitation of any offense under Subchapter 2 of Chapter 3 of this Title may be sentenced to imprisonment for a term not to exceed one hundred eighty (180) days, or be ordered to pay a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00), or both, but in no case shall the penalty imposed be greater than the penalty imposed for the crime which was the object of solicitation.

Annotations

1. Sentences

“Under DAPA the district court only has jurisdiction to enforce a protection order through prosecution for interfering with judicial proceedings under 17 N.N.C. § 477. See 9 N.N.C. §§ 1651(A)(1); 1663(A). As the respondent is charged under 17 N.N.C. § 477, the district court must follow the Criminal Code’s sentencing provisions for that offense, even in DAPA situations. Nothing in DAPA allows the district court the additional authority to reach beyond the sentencing restrictions in Section 477 merely because the offense arose out of the violation of a protection order.” Thompson v. Greyeyes, No. SC-CV-29-04, slip op. at 7 (Nav. Sup. Ct. May 24, 2004).

“The plain language of the revised section concerning the offense of interfering with judicial proceedings only allows the district court to order nályééh, a peace or security bond, and/or sentence of labor or community service. 17 N.N.C. § 477(B) (as amended by Resolution No.

CJA-08-00).” Thompson v. Greyeyes, No. SC-CV-29-04, slip op. at 5 (Nav. Sup. Ct. May 24, 2004).

“The issue in this case is whether incarceration for the offense of interfering with judicial proceedings is legal. We agree with petitioner that a jail sentence under 17 N.N.C. § 477 is illegal.” Thompson v. Greyeyes, No. SC-CV-29-04, slip op. at 4 (Nav. Sup. Ct. May 24, 2004).

2. Review

“The district court’s jail sentence was clearly outside of its discretionary boundaries, and amounts to legislating from the bench. That is impermissible. The district court therefore lacked the authority to incarcerate Petitioner under either docket number for interfering with judicial proceedings.” Thompson v. Greyeyes, No. SC-CV-29-04, slip op. at 5, 6 (Nav. Sup. Ct. May 24, 2004).

§ 478. Simulating legal process ing that sentence, and the trial court may require the defendant to pay the fee of the peacemaker.

Annotations

1. Conditions

“The discretion given to the district court judge under Section 1813 authorizes the imposition of condition on release that bear a reasonable relationship to insuring defendant’s appearance. [...] The Court fails to see any nexus between the district court’s requirement, that Petitioner be relieved of his duties as Chief Justice, as a condition of release from custody, and how this condition in any way insures Petitioner’s appearance at a subsequent hearing.” Chief Justice McCabe v. Hon. Walters, 5 Nav. R. 43, 48 (Nav. Ct. App. 1985).

2. Review

“Generally, the fact that a criminal defendant is employed is a factor justifying release on personal recognizance, and thus, it was an abuse of discretion to require a criminal defendant to leave his employment as a condition of release, as the Respondent has done in Petitioner’s case.” Chief Justice McCabe v. Hon. Walters, 5 Nav. R. 43, 48 (Nav. Ct. App. 1985).

§ 1814. Notice of date of appearance

Officers admitting persons to bail shall inform them in writing that, if they fail to receive notice of a date of appearance within fifteen (15) days, they should inquire of the court or the police as to their hearing date. The judges of the District Courts of the Navajo Nation are authorized to forfeit the bail of any person failing to meet the conditions thereof, and to cause warrants to issue for the return of such person. No person shall, in any single case, be admitted to bail after such person has failed to meet prior bail conditions in the same case.

A. The President of the Navajo Nation, or in his or her absence the Vice-President of the Navajo Nation, is empowered to close any or all of the Navajo Nation to nonmembers whenever the presence of such nonmembers would constitute a danger to life or property. The exclusion order may permit certain named individuals (or classes of individuals) to remain and may provide for a procedure whereby individuals or classes of individuals may seek entry or reentry to closed areas. i. Unauthorized surveying; or

j. Damaging property of any resident of the Navajo Nation or using such property without permission.

§ 1971. Summoning witness in the Navajo Nation to testify in another state

A. If a judge of a court of record in any state certifies under the seal of such court that there is a criminal prosecution pending in such court, or that a grand jury investigation has commenced or is about to commence, that a person being within the Navajo Nation is a material witness in such prosecution, or grand jury investigation, and that his or her presence will be required for specified number of days, upon presentation of such certificate to any judge of a court of record in the district in which such person is, such judge shall fix a time and place for a hearing, and shall make an order directing the witness to appear at a time and place certain for a hearing.

B. If at a hearing the judge determines that the witness is material and necessary, that it will not cause undue hardship to the witness to be compelled to attend and testify in the prosecution or a grand jury investigation in the other state, and that the laws of the state in which the prosecution is pending, or grand jury investigation has commenced or is about to commence, will give to him or her protection from arrest and the service of civil and criminal process, he or she shall issue a summons, with a copy of the certificate attached, directing the witness to attend and testify in the court where the prosecution is pending, or where a grand jury investigation has commenced or is about to commence at a time and place specified in the summons. In any such hearing the certificate shall be prima facie evidence of all the facts stated therein.

C. If the certificate recommends that the witness be taken into immediate custody and delivered to an officer of the requesting state to assure his or her attendance in the requesting state, such judge may, in lieu of notification of the hearing, direct that such witness be forthwith brought before him or her for the hearing; and the judge at the hearing being satisfied of the desirability of such custody and delivery, for which determination the certificate shall be prima facie proof of such desirability may, in lieu of issuing subpoena or summons, order that the witness be forthwith taken into custody and delivered to an officer of the requesting state.

D. If the witness, who is summoned as above provided, after being paid or tendered by some properly authorized person the sum of ten cents a mile for each mile by the ordinary traveled route to and from the court where the prosecution is pending and five dollars ($5.00) for each day that he or she is required to travel and attend as a witness, fails without good cause to attend and testify as directed in the summons, he or she shall be punished in the manner provided for the punishment of a witness who disobeys a summons issued from a District Court of the Navajo Nation.

1. "Mine Value Per Dry Ton", wherever used herein is hereby defined as the dollar value per dry ton of crude ores at the mine as paid for by the Atomic Energy Commission or other government authorized agency before allowance for transportation and development; however, if the government at any time hereafter does not establish and pay for said ore on a fixed or scheduled dollar value per dry ton of crude ores at the mine, or said ores contain salable minerals, some, or all, of which are disposed of to a custom treatment plant or smelter for treatment, and sale, then mine value per dry ton shall be the gross value per dry ton of said crude ore as paid for by the Atomic Energy Commission or other government authorized agency mill or other buyer, less any allowances or reimbursements for the following specific items: (1) transportation of ores, (2) allowances for exploration for, or development of ores, which specific amounts shall in such event be deducted from the gross sales price received from the metal content of said ores by the seller before percentage royalty is calculated and paid.

2. If no allowance or reimbursement is received by the seller for transportation of ores then six cents per ton mile up to and including 100 miles shall be deducted from the gross sales price received from the metal content of said ores by the seller as transportation cost from the mine to the mill before royalty percentage is calculated and paid.

3. Such payment shall be made on or before the 15th day of the month next following receipt by lessee of payment for said ores, together with a statement of the mine value of said ores and the amount of royalty due each lot shipped and sold.

B. When crude ore from the mine is upgraded in an upgraded plant before shipment to the mill the royalty payable to the Navajo Nation and the permittee shall be as follows:

PERCENTAGE ROYALTY SCHEDULE ON UPGRADED ORE

GRADE OF CRUDE ORE PERCENTAGES		ROYALTY ON UPGRADED PRODUCT
In % U ₃ O ₈	Tribe		Permittee

1. The above royalty percentages shall apply to the gross sales price received from the metal content of the upgraded product by the seller from the mill after deducting any allowances or reimbursements for transportation or development. If no allowances or reimbursement is received by the seller for transportation of ores then six cents per ton mile up to and including 100 miles shall be deducted from the gross sales price received from the metal content of said ore by the seller as transportation cost from the mine to the mill before royalty percentage is calculated and paid. And a further deduction of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per ton of crude ore upgraded, as upgrading cost, may be deducted before royalty is calculated and paid.

2. Such payments shall be made on or before the 15th day of the month next following receipt by lessee of payment for said ore, together with a statement of the value of the upgraded product and the amount of royalty due on each lot shipped and sold.

C. When minerals or other products are recovered which are not included in determining mine value per dry ton or included in percentage royalty schedule on upgraded ore as defined in this section, there shall be paid to the Navajo Nation for such minerals or other products, a royalty of ten percent (10%) of the gross value of such products.

§ 852. Uranium royalty schedule

Lessee shall pay or cause to be paid to the Area Director, Navajo Area, Window Rock, Arizona, for the use and benefit of the Lessor, a royalty, calculated on a monthly weighted average on the basis of dry short tons of ore mined and delivered to a treatment plant.

A. For Uranium-Lessee shall pay to the Lessor a percentage royalty of the value per dry ton based on royalty rates of twelve percent (12%) for or valued at one cent (1¢) per ton and increasing to twenty-five percent (25%) for ore valued at one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more per ton. The royalty rate shall be determined to the nearest one-hundredth of a percent (0.00%) in accordance with the following formula:

$$\text{Percentage Royalty Rate} = 12\% + 0.13\% ((\text{Value per dry ton})/$1.00)$$

B. "Value per ton" wherever used in this paragraph is hereby defined as the dollar value per dry ton (2,000 pounds) of crude ore, as determined by application to the uranium content of such ore of the following "Value Schedule for Uranium Ore”, multiplied by a fraction whose numerator is the weighted average price per pound of U_3O_8 in uranium concentrate received by the Lessee, or the seller of Lessee’s concentrate received by the Lessee, or the seller of Lessee’s concentrate, at the mill processing ores derived from the leased lands, during the month for which royalty is being computed and whose denominator is seven dollars and twenty-five cents ($7.25), except that if no sales have been made during the month for which royalty is being computed, then the numerator shall be the weighted average price per pound of U_3O_8 received by the Lessee or the seller of Lessee’s concentrate during the preceding six (6) months.

VALUE SCHEDULE FOR URANIUM ORES

plus a grade premium of seventy-five cents (75¢) per pound for each pound of U_3O_8 in excess of four pounds per ton of ore and an additional premium of twenty-five cents (25¢) per pound for each pound in excess of 10 pounds U_3O_8 per ton of ore. Fractional parts of a pound to be valued on a pro-rata basis to the nearest cent.

C. Whenever vanadium and other minerals associated with uranium are recovered and sold by Lessee, Lessee shall pay to Lessor a royalty of ten percent (10%) of the gross proceeds derived from such sale; and where the Lessee retains possession of the associated mineral products a separate royalty value will be negotiated.

D. Lessee agrees to pay to the Lessor a royalty of ten percent (10%) of the value of uranium recovered from mine waters (whether natural or introduced), from leaching ores in place on the leased lands or by leaching such materials after they have been mined or extracted from the leased lands, or by leaching the waste material resulting from the treatment of ores from the leased lands. The value of uranium, as used herein, shall be the weighted average price per pound for U_3O_8 in uranium concentrate received by the Lessee, or the seller of Lessee’s concentrate, at the processing plant producing such concentrate, during the month for which royalty is being computed, except that if no sales have been made during the month for which royalty is being computed, then the value of uranium shall be the weighted average price per pound of U_3O_8 received by the Lessee or the seller of Lessee’s concentrate during the preceding six (6) months.

§ 854. Overriding royalties

A. Subject to approval provided for in the mining permit assignments, operating agreements, and subcontracts may, in addition to other considerations, provide for the retention by and payment to the assignor in an assignment or the grantor in a subcontract or operating agreement, a royalty on all ore produced and sold from the premises (commonly known as an overriding royalty) not to exceed the following percentage based on the mine value per dry ton of ore as defined in 18 N.N.C. § 851:

1. On ore having a mine value per dry ton of thirteen dollars and ninety-nine cents ($13.99) or less, one percent (1%) of the mine value per dry ton.
2. On ore having a mine value per dry ton of more than thirteen dollars and ninety-nine cents ($13.99), and not more than thirty dollars ($30.00), two percent (2%) of mine value per dry ton.
3. On ore having a mine value per dry ton of more than thirty dollars ($30.00), and not more than sixty dollars ($60.00), three percent (3%) of the mine value per dry ton.
4. On ore having a mine value per dry ton of more than sixty dollars ($60.00), and not more than eighty dollars ($80.00), four percent (4%) of the mine value per dry ton.

5. On ore having a mine value per dry ton of more than eighty dollars ($80.00), five percent (5%) of the mine value per dry ton.

B. If two or more parties are the assignors or grantors, the royalty may be divided on such basis as such assignors, or grantors may agree upon.

C. The Navajo Nation Council may at anytime after five (5) years from the date of the first sale of uranium ore produced from property (as evidenced by records of the processing mill or other buyer) reduce the percentage of royalty retained by the assignor or grantor or entirely eliminate the same if the Resources Committee shall determine that such royalty payments so retained are so burdensome as to make the future operation of the mines on said lease impracticable or unprofitable, it being the intent that the Resources Committee shall at such time take such action as will serve the best interest of the Navajo Nation in assuring the continuous operation of the uranium mining industry on the Navajo Nation.

Annotations

1. Construction

Lease by Navajo Nation of "all oil and gas deposits" included helium gas discovered on such leasehold. Navajo Nation of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

2. Taxation

Where Arizona statute provided that royalties were non-allowable costs incurred in the mining or production of ore, royalties paid to Navajo Nation were not deductible from value of ore mined before computing tax. Industrial Uranium Co. v. State Tax Commissioner 387 P.2d 10 13, 95 Ariz. 130 (1963).

3. Damages

Where United States failed to inform the Navajo Nation, prior to assignment of 1942 oil and gas lease directly to Government, that lessee desired to surrender lease, the Navajo Nation was entitled to recover from the Government damages incurred as a result of such failure. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States (1966) 364 F.2d 320.

The Navajo Nation was entitled to appropriate adjustment of consideration paid to it for 1945 agreement permitting Government to increase its control over helium bearing gas, because of erroneous calculation of manufacturing allowance, with respect to unit value of helium-bearing as included in oil and gas lease executed by the Navajo Nation. Industrial Uranium Co. v. State Tax Commissioner 387 P.2d 10 13, 95 Ariz. 130 (1963).

4. Presumptions

Where Navajo Nation could not prove what would have happened if the Nation had been consulted prior to assignment of 1942 oil and gas lease directly to Government is attributable to failure of Government to keep Nation informed, the doubts should be resolved in favor of the Navajo Nation. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

5. Forfeiture

The general rule regarding forfeiture of oil and gas leases is that the sanction of forfeiture will not be imposed unless clearly required by the terms of the lease. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

Where 1923 oil and gas lease by Navajo Nation did not expressly provide for nullification of lessees' right to produce gas in event of their failure to pay shut-in rental, sanction of forfeiture could not be imposed upon lessees failure to pay. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

6. Interest

The Navajo Nation was entitled to interest on amount of damages recoverable from the United States as a result of failure to inform Nation, prior to assignment of 1942 lease directly to Government, that its lessee desired to surrender lease. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

7. Just compensation

The proposition that just compensation does not include enhancement in value resulting from purpose for which Government is taking property did not apply in suit by the Navajo Nation seeking additional compensation for oil and gas rights acquired by United States in an area within the Navajo Nation, where there was not any real prospect of finding a private party who would wish to incur the expense of producing the helium bearing gas included in the oil and gas lease. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

The commissioner was justified in refusing to accept the fair market values submitted by Navajo Nation as a means of computing royalty interest of Nation under the 1945 agreement, considering the nature of the gas and the various factors relevant to the matter of valuation. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

8. Transfer agreement

Where oil and gas leases transferred to the Navajo Nation rights in certain formations because United States had compensated them for their interests and in order to make possible the receipt by the Government of a new lease of such formations. The Navajo Nation was merely a necessary conduit in the transfer from the lessees to United States, and thus ownership of helium underlying 1923 leasehold was not acquired by the Navajo Nation under transfer agreements. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

9. Review

Navajo Nation seeking additional compensation for oil and gas rights acquired by United States within Indian Reservation failed to establish that the failure of Geological Survey to seek a larger royalty constituted a breach of any obligation to the Navajo Nation, and use of one-eighth royalty was proper. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

MINES AND MINERALS

Discount factor used by. Bureau of Mines in determining the total potential royalty payable on estimated reserve of helium bearing gas included in oil and gas leases executed by Navajo Nation was appropriate. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (1966).

Subchapter 1. General Provisions

§ 1401. Regulations; authority

A. The Navajo Nation Council is authorized and empowered, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, when in its opinion the best interests of the Navajo Nation so require, to approve and adopt regulations for the production of oil and gas on the Navajo Nation, and amendments thereto, on a Navajo Nation wide basis; or to adopt at their discretion as the regulations of the Navajo Nation Council, the rules and regulations of any state or states having territorial boundaries which lie within the Navajo Nation, together with any amendments or revisions in such regulations as maybe presented from time to time for consideration of the Resources Committee.

B. The Resources Committee may coordinate the activities and regulations of the Navajo Nation with those of the regulatory bodies of the states and federal government to the end that there may be joint and harmonious development of the resources on Navajo Nation lands as well as on state and federal lands.

B. The President of the Navajo Nation is further authorized to seek and formally request the Department of the Interior to shut-in and halt production of oil, gas, or other natural resources from Navajo Nation lands wherever such production is accompanied by waste and loss of any oil, gas, or other natural resource or by-products thereof, and to collaborate with the Secretary of the

A. The Resources Committee of the Navajo Nation Council declares its approval and support of secondary recovery and pressure maintenance operations in the Navajo Nation's oil fields; provided, however, that patterns of unitization for the areas affected, and other necessary safeguards, satisfactory to the Resources Committee, are established and adhered to by the interested operators.

B. As a general policy, and subject to modification as individual circumstances dictate, where water is to be used in such operations, the Resources Committee favors reinjection of water produced with the oil first, then any other available brackish, non-potable water, as determined under standards of the United States Geological Survey. In all cases where water which is usable for human, stock, or irrigation purposes is to be used, negotiations shall be had with the interested parties to develop a reasonable charge for such water use.

Subchapter 3. Special Agreements§ 1451. Special leases, joint operating, drilling or other agreements

A. The Navajo Nation Council is authorized, and empowered, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, when in its opinion the best interests of the Navajo Nation so require, to negotiate and conclude on behalf of the Navajo Nation with any responsible person or persons, special leases, joint operating, drilling, or other agreements on such terms and conditions as the Committee shall deem advisable for the drilling and development of oil and gas lands whenever: (1) drainage of Navajo Nation lands is, in the Resources Committee's opinion, either taking place or will be threatened in respect to any tract or area, to such an extent that the protection of Navajo Nation oil and gas resources can be most effectively accomplished through negotiating such agreement or agreements; (2) in the opinion of the Resources Committee, such leases, agreement or agreements would result in stimulating or facilitating higher bidding on surrounding lands to be offered for public bidding, whether the bidding be on the basis of bonuses or on the basis of the amount of royalties to be paid to the Navajo Nation; (3) wherever there are conflicts of title respecting ownership of Utah school land sections or other areas, and the development of such areas is thereby retarded, or their values are being, or will be, in the Resources Committee's opinion, depressed by reason of drainage or title conflicts.

B. The Navajo Nation Council may enter into any such leases or agreements upon whatever terms and conditions the Resources Committee deems advisable to permit the development of such lands, prevent waste, increase the Nation's participation in production or revenues therefrom, and otherwise protect the best interests of the Navajo Nation.

Annotations

1. Supervision of United States

The United States was responsible for supervision of the affairs of the Navajo Nation, including, in particular, supervision of oil and gas leases on Tribal property. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (Ct.Cl.1966).

2. Duty of Department of the Interior

Since the Department of the Interior had an obligation to safeguard the property of the Navajos when they were dealing with third parties, an even greater duty existed when the Department itself entered into transactions relating to oil and gas leases with the Navajos. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (Ct.Cl. 1966).

3. Construction and operation of leases

Lease by Navajo Nation of all "oil and gas deposits" under described acreage included helium gas discovered on such leasehold. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (Ct.Cl. 1966).

Where 1923 oil and gas lease by Navajo Nation did not expressly provide for nullification of the lessee's right to produce gas for nonpayment of shut-in rental, no such sanction should be placed on lessees. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (Ct.Cl. 1966).

Where oil and gas lessees transferred to lessor Navajo Nation their rights in designated formations because United States compensated them for their interests and in order to make possible the receipt by government of new lease of such formations, the Navajo Nation was merely a necessary conduit in the transfer from lessees to the United States, and hence ownership of helium underlying leasehold was not acquired by the Navajo Nation under transfer agreements. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (Ct.Cl. 1966).

4. Right to recover damages against United States

The Navajo Nation, as lessor of 1942 oil and gas lease, was entitled to recover damages from United States incurred as result of failure to inform the Navajo Nation, prior to assignment of such lease directly to the United States, that lessee desired to surrender lease. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (Ct.Cl. 1966).

Where inability of Navajo Nation, as lessor of 1942 oil and gas lease, to prove what would have happened if the Navajo Nation had been consulted prior to assignment of lease directly to the government was attributable to failure of government to keep the Navajo Nation informed, doubts would be resolved in favor of Nation. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (Ct.Cl. 1966).

Where Navajo Nation was entitled to recover damages against United States, it was also entitled to interest on amount recoverable. Navajo Tribe of Indians v. United States 364 F.2d 320 (Ct.Cl. 1966).

§ 1452. Agreements for taking delivery of oil and gas in kind

The Navajo Nation Council is authorized and empowered, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, when in its opinion the best interests of the Nation so require, to negotiate and conclude an agreement or agreements for taking delivery of oil or gas in kind, as leases from the Navajo Nation permit, and to dispose of the same on terms deemed by the Resources Committee to serve the best interests of the Nation.

§ 1602. Findings

The Navajo Nation Council finds and declares that:

A. Surface mining operations have resulted and may result in disturbances of surface areas that burden and adversely affect the Navajo Nation in both its proprietary and sovereign capacities, and burden and adversely affect the public welfare by destroying or diminishing the utility of land for commercial, industrial, residential, recreational, agricultural, cultural, and forestry purposes by causing erosion and landslides, by polluting the water, by destroying vegetation and wildlife habitats, by impairing natural beauty, by damaging the property of citizens and residents of the Navajo Nation, by creating hazards dangerous to life and property, by degrading the quality of life in local communities, and by counteracting governmental programs and efforts to conserve soil, water, and other natural resources.

B. The Federal Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement has encouraged, by the terms of its cooperative agreement with the Navajo Nation, the Navajo Nation to develop a Navajo Regulatory Program, including the development and passage of this Navajo Abandoned Mine Lands Reclamation Code. With the support, encouragement, and assistance of the Federal Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, the Navajo Nation has gained significant experience, knowledge, and technical capability for the reclamation of abandoned mine lands within the Navajo Nation.

C. There are a substantial number of acres of land throughout the Navajo Nation disturbed by surface and underground mining operations where little or no reclamation was conducted, and such lack of reclamation has imposed and may impose social (including health) and economic costs on residents in nearby and adjoining areas as well as continuing to impair environmental quality.

D. The health effects of uranium and other mines abandoned are of critical importance to the Navajo Nation, and studies conducted in the Shiprock area demonstrate the lingering effects of these mining activities in birth defects and cancer. Reclamation of these sites is desperately needed.

F. The Navajo Nation is committed to exercising its sovereignty over all lands within the Navajo Nation to the fullest extent. Such sovereign rights include the ability to permit, regulate, and enforce environmental and other standards for surface mining, and the Navajo Nation has developed significant expertise in this regard, as recently recognized by the Federal Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement. The Navajo Nation is committed to the exercise of this authority. Therefore, it is in the best interest of the Navajo Nation to enact, at this time, a reclamation code concerning the abandoned mine lands.

Pursuant to Title IV of the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 (“SMCRA”),¹ it is the purpose of this Code to:

A. Provide for the reclamation of mined areas left without adequate reclamation prior to August 3, 1977 and which continue, in their unreclaimed condition, to substantially degrade the quality of the environment, prevent or damage the beneficial use of land or water resources, or endanger the health or safety of the public; and

B. Provide for the use of Navajo abandoned mine land (“AML”) money to reclaim mined areas in a manner consistent with the labor policies of the Navajo Nation and with the desire to encourage the formation and development of Navajo business enterprises.

In no event shall the Department be held liable for monetary damages, and no employee of the Department including the Director shall have the authority to waive, either explicitly or by implication, the immunity from unconsented to suit recognized and established hereby. § 1636. [Reserved]

§ 1637. Acquisition and reclamation of lands within the Navajo Nation adversely affected by past coal mining practices

A. If the Director makes a finding of fact that:

1. Land or water resources have been adversely affected by past mining practices; and

2. The adverse effects are at a stage where, in the public interest, action to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent should be taken; and

3. The owners of the land or water resources where entry must be made to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent the adverse effects of past mining practices are not known, or readily available; or

4. The owners will not give permission for the Navajo Nation, its political subdivisions, agents, employees, or contractors to enter upon such property to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent the adverse effects of past mining practices; then, upon giving notice by certified mail to the owners if known or if not known by posting notice upon the premises and advertising once in a newspaper of general circulation in the Navajo Nation in which the land lies, the Director shall have the right to enter upon the property adversely affected by past mining practices and any other property to have access to such property to do all things necessary or expedient to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent the adverse effects. Such entry shall be construed as an exercise of the police power for the protection of public health, safety, and general welfare and shall not be construed as an act of condemnation of property nor of trespass thereon. The monies expended for such work and the benefits accruing to any such premises so entered upon shall be chargeable against such land and shall mitigate or offset any claim, in or any action brought by any owner of any interest in such premises for any alleged damages by virtue of such entry, provided, however, that this provision is not intended to create new rights of action or eliminate existing immunities.

B. The Director, his or her agents, employees, or contractors shall have the right to enter upon any property for the purpose of conducting studies or exploratory work to determine the existence of adverse effects of past mining practices and to determine the feasibility of restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of such adverse effects. Such entry shall be construed as an exercise of the police power for the protection of public health, safety, and general welfare and shall not be construed as an act of condemnation of property nor trespass thereon.

C. The Director may recommend the acquisition of land to the Navajo Land Department, which, upon the approval of the appropriate Committee(s) of the Navajo Nation Council, shall acquire any land, by purchase, donation, or condemnation, which is adversely affected by past mining practices where the Director determines that acquisition of such land is necessary to successful reclamation and that:

1. The acquired land, after restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of the adverse effects of past mining practices, will serve recreation and historic purposes, conservation and reclamation purposes, or provide open space benefits; and

2. Permanent facilities such as a treatment plant or a relocated stream channel will be constructed on the land for the restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of the adverse effects of past mining practices; or

3. Acquisition of refuse disposal sites and all coal refuse thereon will serve the purpose of this title or that public ownership is desirable to meet emergency situations and prevent recurrence of the adverse effects of past mining practices. For the purpose of this Subsection (C), the phrase "acquisition of land" includes acquisition of grazing rights on lands held in trust by the United States for the Navajo Nation.

D. Title to all acquired lands pursuant to this Section shall be in the name of the United States in trust for Navajo Nation or in the name of the Navajo Nation, should the United States fail or refuse to accept title to such land in trust for the Navajo Nation. The price paid for land acquired under this section shall reflect the fair market value of the land as adversely affected by past mining practices, as established by a competent appraisal.

E. The director shall from time to time recommend to the Navajo Land Department that specific lands be acquired for public purposes by the Navajo Nation pursuant to this title and/or pursuant to § 407 of SMCRA.¹ The director shall, in making such recommendations, identify valid public purposes to be served by the acquisition of such lands, and do all things necessary and proper to secure grants from the Secretary of the Interior pursuant to § 405(h) of SMCRA.²

F. The director shall, from time to time, recommend to the Navajo Land Department that specific lands acquired pursuant to § 407(c) of SMCRA³ be used for industrial, commercial, residential, or recreational development by the Navajo Nation. The director shall, in making such recommendations, identify the type of development or use of such lands and shall ensure that such development is consistent with the land use plans, if any, of the appropriate chapter and of the Navajo Nation.

G. Should the Director's recommendation under Subsections (C) or (F) be accepted or conditionally accepted by the Navajo Land Department and the appropriate Committee (s) of the Navajo Nation Council, or should other lands be acquired by the director under this Section and/or under § 407 of SMCRA,¹ the Director shall notify the public thereof and, after such appropriate public notice, in the appropriate chapter in which lands acquired pursuant to this section are located. The hearings shall be held at a time which shall afford local citizens and chapters the maximum opportunity to participate in the decision concerning the use or disposition of the lands after restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of the adverse effects of past mining practices.

H. In addition to the authority to acquire land under Subsection (D) of this Section, the director is authorized to use money in the fund to acquire land by purchase, donation, or condemnation, and to reclaim and transfer, with the approval of the appropriate oversight committee of the Navajo Nation Council and in accordance with Navajo law, acquire land to any chapter, or to any person, firm, association, or corporation, if he or she determines that such is an integral and necessary element of an economically feasible plan for the project to construct or rehabilitate housing for persons disabled as a result of employment in the mines or work incidental thereto, persons displaced by acquisition of land pursuant to this section, or persons dislocated as the result of adverse effects of mining practices which constitute an emergency as provided in § 1640 or persons dislocated as the result of natural disasters or catastrophic failure from any cause. Such activities shall be accomplished under such terms and conditions as the director shall require, which may include transfers of land with or without monetary consideration; provided, that to the extent that the consideration is below the fair market value of the land transferred, no portion of the difference between the fair market value and the consideration shall accrue as a profit to such persons, firm, association, or corporation. No part of the funds provided under this title maybe used to pay the actual construction costs of housing. The director may carry out the purposes of this Subsection directly or he or she may make grants and commitments for grants, and may advance money under such terms and conditions as he or she may require to any chapter, or any department, agency, or instrumentality of the Navajo Nation, or any public body or non-profit organization designated by the Navajo Nation Council.

§ 1638. Liens

A. Within six (6) months after the completion of projects to restore, reclaim, abate, control, or prevent adverse effects of past mining practices on privately owned land, the director, pursuant to the Navajo Abandoned Mine Reclamation Program, shall itemize the monies so expended and may file a statement thereof in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the Navajo Nation within whose jurisdiction the land lies, in a book separately maintained by such Clerk for the recording of judgments against land. The director may also file such statements in the office of the county in which the land lies which office records judgments against land. Such statement shall be accompanied by a notarized appraisal by an independent appraiser of the value of the land before the restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of adverse effects of past mining practices if the monies so expended shall result in a significant increase in property value. Such statement shall constitute a lien upon the said land. The lien shall not exceed the amount determined by the appraisal to be the increase in the market value of the land as a result of the restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of the adverse effects of past mining practices. No lien shall be filed against the property prior to May 2, 1977, and who neither consented to nor participated in nor exercised control over the mining operation which necessitated the reclamation performed hereunder.

B. The landowner may proceed as provided by Navajo law to petition on the appropriate District Court of the Navajo Nation within sixty (60) days of the filing of the lien, to determine the increase in the market value of the land as a result of the restoration, reclamation, abatement, control, or prevention of the adverse effects of past mining practices. The amount reported to be the increase in value of the premises shall constitute the amount of the lien and shall be recorded with the statement herein provided. Any party aggrieved by the decision may appeal as provided by Navajo law.

C. The lien provided in this Section shall be entered in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the Navajo Nation within whose jurisdiction the land lies, in a book separately maintained by such Clerk for the recording of judgments against land. The lien may also be entered in the office of the county in which the land lies which office records judgments against land. Such statements shall constitute a lien upon the said land as of the date of the expenditure of the monies and shall have priority as a lien second only to the lien of real estate taxes lawfully imposed upon said land by the Navajo Nation.

§ 1639. Filling voids and sealing tunnels

A. The Navajo Nation Council declares that voids, and open and abandoned tunnels, shafts, and entryways resulting from any previous mining operation, constitute a hazard to the public health or safety and that surface impacts of any underground or surface mining operation may degrade the environment. The Director, where requested by a duly promulgated resolution of the chapter with jurisdiction over the lands which include such voids and tunnels, is authorized pursuant to this Act and/or pursuant to § 409 of SMCRA¹ to fill such voids; seal such abandoned tunnels, shafts, and entryways or take other appropriate remedial action; and reclaim surface impacts of underground or surface mines which the Director determines could endanger life and property, constitute a hazard to the public health and safety, or degrade the environment.

B. Pursuant to Navajo Nation laws, the Director is authorized to request funds from the Secretary of the Interior pursuant to § 409(c) of SMCRA² to carry out non-coal reclamation projects if such projects relate to the protection of the public health or safety.

C. In those instances where mine waste piles are being reworked for conservation purposes, the incremental costs of disposing of the waste from such operations by filling voids and sealing tunnels may be eligible for funding providing that the disposal of these wastes meets the purpose of this section.

D. The director and the resources Committee, and in compliance with Navajo law, may with monies from the fund acquire by purchase or easement, or by donation or by other such interest in land as he or she determines necessary to carry out the provisions of this Section.

In this Chapter:

A. "Camping" shall be deemed to include any activity involving the use of Navajo land for purposes of establishing temporary living quarters for accommodations through the use of any motor vehicle, tent, trailer, other vehicle or shelter device, or for the purpose of overnight stay.

B. A "recreational area" shall include all areas designated as camping or recreational areas by the Resources Committee of the Navajo Nation Council and shall also include Navajo Nation parks. No areas or parks, other than those designated in Appendices (A) and (B) of this Chapter, have been designated as recreation areas. Recreation areas are classified as Class (a) areas, Class (b) areas, and Class (c) areas, as set forth in 19 N.N.C. § 405, and daily fees are charged for Class (a) and (b) areas.

C. A “regular camping permit” is a permit duly issued by the Director, or his or her authorized representative, in the form of a window sticker or such other form as may be prescribed by the Director and is required before any recreational area may be used for camping purposes. Daily fees for designated areas are in addition to fees for the camping permit.

D. A “special camping permit” is a permit duly issued by the Director, or his or her authorized representative, in the form of a window sticker or such other form as may be prescribed by the said Director, authorizing the use of Navajo lands other than recreational areas for camping purposes.

E. F. The term “Navajo lands” shall mean all lands subject to the jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation, and includes all areas commonly described as Land Management Districts 15, 16, and 19 and the Cutter Dam area.

G. The word “Director” shall mean the Director of the Parks and Recreation Department of the Navajo Nation.

H. “Private non-commercial vehicle” shall include any passenger car, station wagon, pickup, camper truck, motorcycle, or other motor vehicle which is conventionally used for private recreation purposes by a family.

History

CMY-19-88, May 3, 1988.

1988 Amendment. CMY-19-88 repealed former Chapter 11 “The Cultural Resources Management Program,” §§ 1001-1004, which was enacted by ACAP-86-77, April 27, 1977. The 1988 amendment replaced it with the “Navajo Nation Cultural Resources Protection Act”.

Note. CAP-41-94, April 20, 1994, also repealed the former Chapter 11, the “Cultural Resources Management Program”, 19 N.N.C. §§ 1001-1004. CAP-41-94 did not effect the Navajo Nation Cultural Resources Protection Act, 19 N.N.C. § 1001 et seq.

§ 1001. Findings

A. This Act may be cited as the “Navajo Nation Cultural Resources Protection Act”.

B. The Navajo Nation Council finds and declares that:

1. The spirit and direction of the Navajo Nation are founded upon and reflected in its cultural heritage;
2. The cultural heritage of the Navajo Nation should be preserved as a living part of our community life and development in order to give a sense of orientation to the Navajo People;
3. Cultural properties of the Navajo Nation are being lost or substantially altered, often inadvertently, with increasing frequency;
4. The preservation of this irreplaceable cultural heritage is in the interest of the Navajo Nation and its people so that its vital legacy of cultural, educational, aesthetic, inspirational, economic and energy benefits will be maintained and enriched for future generations of Navajos;
5. In the face of ever increasing energy development, economic development, sanitation and public health developments, the present Tribal governmental and non-Tribal governmental programs to preserve the Navajo Nation’s cultural resources are inadequate to ensure future generations a genuine opportunity to appreciate and enjoy the rich heritage of the Navajo Nation;
6. Increased knowledge of our cultural resources, the establishment of better means of identifying and administering them, and fostering their preservation will improve the planning of federal, Tribal, state and other projects and will assist economic growth and development and expeditious project implementation; and
7. Although the major role in cultural resource preservation has been borne by the federal and state governments, and both must continue to play a role, it is nevertheless essential that the Navajo Nation expand and accelerate its cultural resource preservation programs and activities.

Civil assessments shall be imposed by the Resources Committee of the Navajo Nation Council (hereafter referred to as the "Resources Committee"), in accordance with procedures adopted by the Resources Committee expressly for this purpose. The Resources Committee shall adopt such procedures within ninety (90) days of the adoption of this Act.

A. Violation of the provisions of § 1031 or § 1037 of this Act by any person who does business on the Navajo Nation shall be grounds for withdrawal of the privilege of doing business within the Navajo Nation. The Resources Committee shall consider whether or not to recommend to the Navajo Nation Council that any individual found to have violated § 1031 or § 1037 shall lose the privilege of doing business within the Navajo Nation.

B. Any non-Indian who visits or inspects cultural resources on Navajo lands without a valid Class A permit shall be committing trespass. Such individuals determined to be in trespass after a hearing before the Resources Committee of the Navajo Nation Council, shall be assessed a civil forfeiture of not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) for the first offense and not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each subsequent offense. For the purposes of this part, each visit to or inspection of a cultural resource on Navajo lands shall be considered a separate offense. The Resources Committee may, at its discretion, recommend to the Navajo Nation Council that any person found to be in trespass be excluded from the Navajo Nation.

C. Any non-Indian who engages in cultural resources inventory activities on Navajo lands, except under the authority of a valid Class B permit shall be committing trespass. Any individual determined to be in trespass after a hearing before the Resources Committee, shall be assessed a civil forfeiture of not more than one thousand dollars ($1000) for each offense. For the purposes of this part, each inventory on Navajo lands shall be considered a separate offense. The Resources Committee shall consider whether or not to recommend to the Navajo Nation Council that any individual found to have violated this prohibition be excluded from the Navajo Nation.

D. Any individual within Navajo lands who alters, collects, damages, defaces, destroys, excavates, removes or sells cultural resources or who collects ethnographic data without a valid Class C permit, or as permitted under the exceptions detailed in § 1033, or who engages in activities in violation of the terms and conditions of a valid permit shall be liable, after a hearing before the Resources Committee, to the Navajo Nation for civil damages as determined by the Resources Committee as follows:

1. Assessment of Actual Damages. The Resources Committee shall impose the civil assessments based upon actual damages in accordance with "Standards for Assessing Damages to Cultural Properties" that the Resources Committee shall adopt expressly for this purpose. The "Standards for Assessing Damages to Cultural Resources" shall include, but need not necessarily limit consideration to:

- a. Full costs of restoration of the cultural resource;
- b. Enforcement and administrative costs associated with the civil action;
- c. Costs of disposition of cultural resources, including as appropriate, costs of curation in perpetuity;
- d. Costs associated with documentation, testing and evaluation of the cultural resource in order to assess the characteristics of the cultural resource and plan for its restoration; and
- e. Costs of any additional mitigation measures the Resources Committee deems appropriate to implement.

2. Assessment of Treble Damages. In addition to the actual damages, the Resources Committee may, at its discretion, assess damages of up to three (3) times the amount of the actual damages.

3. Seizure of Equipment and Cultural Resources. The citing officer shall seize all cultural resources in the possession of any individual cited under § 1031 of this Act, together with any other property used for or related to the violation in the possession of the individual cited, as the officer may deem necessary to obtain payment of any civil assessment.

4. Forfeiture of Cultural Resources and Property. After hearing before the Resources Committee:

a. Any cultural resources obtained in violation of this Act shall be forfeited to the Navajo Nation;

b. Any other property seized in accordance with § 1038(D)(3), shall be released to the owner upon timely payment of any related civil assessments; and

c. Any seized property shall be forfeited to the Navajo Nation if the assessment has not been paid within fifteen (15) days of the hearing at which the civil assessment was levied or pursuant to this Act, whichever is later. Any such forfeiture shall be limited to the amount of the civil assessment. Any property remaining after forfeiture of property up to the value of the assessment shall be returned to the owner.

E. Civil assessments imposed under this part shall be reserved solely for the purposes of restoring damaged cultural resources and for meeting the purposes of this Act and shall be deposited in the Historic Preservation Revolving Account for disbursement in accordance with Navajo Nation budgetary procedures.

F. Any individual assessed by the Resources Committee pursuant to § 1038 of this Act shall have the right to appeal the decision of the Resources Committee to the Navajo Nation District Court as follows:

1. Any appeal must be filed in writing with the Navajo Nation District Court within thirty (30) days of notification of the action of the Resources Committee;

§ 26. Remedies of note or bondholders

A. Subject to any contractual limitations binding upon the holders of any issue of notes or bonds, or trustees therefor, including but not limited to the restriction of the exercise of any remedy to a specified proportion or percentage of such holders, any holder of any note or bond, or trustee therefor, shall have the right and power, for the equal benefit and protection of all holders of notes or bonds similarly situated:

1. By mandamus or other suit, action, or proceeding at law or in equity in the Courts of the Navajo Nation to compel the authority and its board, officers, agents or employees to perform and carry out their duties and obligations under the authority's plan of operation, and their covenants and agreements with such holders;

2. By action or suit in equity to require the authority and the board thereof to account as if they were the trustees of an express trust;

3. By action, suit or other proceeding at law or in equity to have a receiver appointed and/or to enforce any pledge, lien or security agreement given in connection with the issuance of any note or bond, such enforcement right to include the power to possess, control and sell the security in accordance with the applicable security agreement, lien or pledge;

5. To bring suit against the authority upon the notes or bonds, security instruments or loan contracts.

B. No remedy conferred by this section upon any holder of the notes or bonds, or any trustee therefor, is intended to be exclusive of any other remedy, but each such remedy is cumulative and in addition to every other remedy, and may be exercised without exhausting and without regard to any other remedy conferred by this resolution or by any other law. No waiver of any default or breach of duty or contract, whether by any holder of the notes or bonds, or any trustee therefor, shall extend to or shall effect any subsequent default or breach of duty or contract or shall impair any rights or remedies thereon. No delay or omission of any note or bondholder, or any trustee therefor, to exercise any right or power accruing upon default shall impair any such right or power or shall be construed to be a waiver of any such default or acquiescence therein. Every substantive right and every remedy, conferred upon such holder maybe enforced and exercised from time to time as often as may be deemed expedient. In case any suit, action or proceeding to enforce any right or exercise any remedy shall be determined adversely to the holder of the note or the bond, or any trustee therefor, then and in every such case the Authority and such holder, or such trustee, shall be restored to their former positions and rights and remedies as if no such suit, action or proceeding had been brought or taken.

C. The foregoing shall be construed as a limited exception to the general principles of Sovereign Immunity and shall not be construed to waive any immunity of the Navajo Nation, nor to extend any liability to any assets, revenues or income of the Navajo Nation other than the authority. Otherwise, the provisions of the Navajo Nation Sovereign Immunity Act (as amended) shall not be deemed altered or amended.

Revision note. Diné Power Authority was previously codified as Chapter 2, §§ 101-123, Title 21, Navajo Nation Code.

§ 201. Creation

A. There is established an authority of the Navajo Nation to be known as the Diné Power Authority (“authority”), in order to provide an instrumentality of the Nation to participate in the development of a major coal-fired, mine-mouth steam electric generating station to be located within the extended boundaries of the Navajo Reservation in northwestern New Mexico, together with all common facilities, transmission facilities and water facilities relating thereto, and related infrastructure, community development, communications, transportation and support service facilities and job training and other programs; and to conduct overall development and operations of high voltage transmission lines, related transmission facilities, switchyards, substations, electric generation production, renewable energy research and development, and related power and energy development on the Navajo Nation necessary to vertically and horizontally integrate the Navajo Nation's power, utility and resource infrastructure. The Authority is authorized to participate in the above activities or projects and any part thereof. The projects or activities developed, in whole or in part, may be located within or outside the extended boundaries of the Navajo Nation or on lands selected by the Navajo Nation pursuant to the Navajo-Hopi Settlement Act.¹

B. The Navajo Nation Council hereby finds and declares that the creation of the Authority is necessary and desirable in order to promote the development of the Navajo Nation's resources and new sources of electric energy and transmission capacity, to develop the social, economic and cultural well-being of Navajo People including those subjected to relocation from Hopi Partitioned Lands, to promote the economic vitality of the Navajo Nation through the production of goods and services, the employment of Navajo People and the utilization of Navajo businesses, to promote the efficient utilization and distribution of energy, to facilitate management of the Navajo Nation's interest in energy development activities and to limit the Navajo Nation's liability with respect thereto.

§ 207. Board of Directors; purpose; duties and powers

A. Direction of purposes and exercise of powers by board of directors. Subject to applicable laws and regulations, the authority shall be managed by or under the direction of the board of directors which shall direct the purposes and exercise the following powers and duties:

1. The board of directors is delegated authority and responsibility for the activities of the authority.

2. The board of directors is authorized to accomplish the purposes set forth in § 205 hereof and to exercise the powers set forth in subsection (B) below without previous authorization or subsequent approval of the Navajo Nation Council and all parties dealing with the authority shall have the right to rely upon any action taken by the board of directors pursuant to this authorization.

3. The board of directors shall exercise full power and shall be responsible for participation of the authority in the activities and projects (including the custody, management, operation, inventory, and maintenance of all property and facilities of the authority relating to the activities and projects), and the taking of any and all usual, necessary and convenient actions, incidental thereto including, should it be deemed advisable or desirable, the borrowing of funds, participation in other organizational entities, and the making of contracts or commitments which it deems necessary or advisable for participation in the activities and projects.

4. The board of directors may authorize the authority to enter into a project agreement or agreements for participation in the activities and projects on such terms as it deems necessary or advisable, including without limitation as owner, co-owner, partner, venturer, shareholder, trustor, trustee, beneficiary or some other capacity, and may designate one of its members, an officer or other person as a representative of the authority on any governing or other body related to the activities and projects.

5. The board of directors shall function in much the same capacity as an appointed board of an agency or instrumentality of the Navajo Nation as a public government and domestic sovereign nation, and shall be responsible for making investment decisions subject to the limitations contained herein; for any advance of funds; for the establishment and maintenance of effective policies; for the selection of management personnel and for continuous supervision of the activities and projects.

6. The board of directors shall exercise its authorized powers in good faith in a manner which it believes to be in the best interests of the Navajo Nation and in full compliance in accordance with the Ethics in Government Law of the Navajo Nation.

7. The board of directors shall select from its own membership a Chairman of the Board and other officers; and it shall adopt such rules as it may determine necessary for the orderly conduct of its business.

8. Minutes of each meeting shall be made available after each meeting to the Economic Development Committee of the Navajo Nation Council, and such other officials as maybe designated from time to time.

9. Directors shall be reimbursed for reasonable expenses actually and necessarily incurred in participating in all meetings, and the board of directors may, at its discretion, propose a fee to be paid to its members on any reasonable basis and not exceeding that paid by comparable enterprises' boards of directors within the Navajo Nation.

10. The chairman of the board or his or her designee shall make a formal written report to the Navajo Nation Council and the Economic Development Committee of the Navajo Nation Council not less often than semi-annually and in such report shall include a summary of the Authority's financial condition.

11. The board of directors may delegate the management of the day-to-day operation of the authority to the general manager or acting general manager, and in exercising its authority hereunder, may rely on its officers and other experts. The board of directors shall establish policies and retain responsibility for ultimate direction of the affairs of the authority but shall give usual and essential latitude to the general manager and his or her delegated employees, after establishing limitations on amounts which may be expended without specific approval of the board of Directors and any additional restraints on relationships with related persons and on other conflict of interest situations.

12. No contract or other transaction between the authority and any one of the members of the board of directors, or between the authority and any corporation, partnership, firm or other legal entity in which one or more of the members of the board of directors has a financial interest, directly or indirectly, shall be valid, for any purpose, unless the entire interest of the director or directors in such corporation, firm or other legal entity is fully disclosed to the board of directors and the proposed contract or transaction shall be approved, ratified or confirmed by the affirmative vote of at least a majority of the members of the entire authority board who are not so interested. Any director who has such a material financial interest may not vote on any matter affecting or affected by that interest, and must recuse him or herself from all discussions concerning any transaction involving that interest.

13. a. Except as provided in subdivision (b), in investing, reinvesting, purchasing, acquiring, exchanging, selling and managing the authorities investments, the board of directors shall: (1) avoid speculation (other than as may be associated with investments in the Project); and (2) comply with any standards imposed by the plan of operation or express terms of an instrument or agreement pursuant to which the assets were contributed to the authority.

b. No investment violates this subsection where it conforms to the provisions authorizing such investment contained in an instrument or agreement pursuant to which the assets were contributed to the Authority.

c. In carrying out duties under this Subsection, each director shall act as required by the standard of conduct applicable to public officials, and may rely upon others in performing the duty of director to the extent of relying on information, opinions, reports or statements including financial statements and other financial data, in each case prepared or presented by one or more officers or employees of the authority, counsel, independent accountants or other persons as to matters which the director believes to be within such person's professional or expert competence or a committee of the board of directors as to such matters the director believes to reasonably merit confidence, so long as, in any such case, the director acts in good faith, after reasonable inquiry when the need therefor is indicated by the circumstances, and without knowledge that would cause such reliance to be unwarranted.

14. Any action required or permitted to be taken by the board of directors may be taken without a meeting, if all directors shall individually or collectively consent in writing to such action. Such written consent or consents shall be filed with the minutes of the proceedings of the board of directors.

§ 502. Purposes and intent

A. The purposes of this Act are to make available within the Navajo Nation efficient, reasonably priced and rapid communications, to promote and expand communications within the Navajo Nation, and ensure that communication activity within the Navajo Nation is consistent with the traditions, customs and desires of the Navajo People.

B. It is the intention of the Navajo Nation Council that the provisions of this Act be construed and applied in each instance, so as to accomplish its purposes. Furthermore, the Navajo Nation by virtue of its inherent sovereign powers has the authority to assert jurisdiction over telecommunications not preempted by applicable law and regulation of the federal government of the United States. Areas which may be preempted include matters relating to frequency allocation, licensing, permissible use of specific bands and interstate commerce.

Federal laws now in force regulating telecommunications activity which do not preempt the Navajo Nation's jurisdiction to regulate telecommunications shall have the same force and effect and shall be binding and obligatory upon the Navajo Nation to the extent that said laws benefit and protect the traditions, customs and desires of the Navajo People and are not otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this Act.

Subchapter 5. Guidelines for Administration

§ 1501. General policy provisions

In taking any action under this Code, the Resources Committee and the Director of the Division of Natural Resources shall be guided by the following basic policy guidelines:

WATER

22 N.N.C. § 1501

A. Whenever practicable, actions taken should benefit the Navajo Nation and the members of the Navajo Nation and further the objective for which the Navajo Nation was created to provide a permanent home and abiding place for the members of the Navajo Nation, both now and in the future. Alternatives to existing and proposed uses are to be considered whenever practicable in order to achieve this goal. Included in those alternatives shall be the option to restrict or prohibit entirely any further use of water for the benefit of the Navajo Nation. If there is presented to the Resources Committee or the Director of the Division of Natural Resources a conflict between water uses for the benefit of the Navajo Nation or any of the members of the Navajo Nation and non-Navajo Nation projects or uses, the Resources Committee or the Director of the Division of Natural Resources may grant such preference as may be required by this Code, which lie in the best interests of the Navajo Nation and its members.

B. In taking any action under this Code which may impose substantial economic hardship on persons or entities presently using water, or which threaten degradation of other economic, cultural, religious, historic, aesthetic, natural or environmental values, the Resources Committee, or the Director of the Division of Natural Resources shall, in reaching their decision, carefully consider and weigh:

1. The economic dislocation and hardship which will be imposed by such actions;
2. The investment in time, money and other resources made by the parties affected in reliance upon any previous system of distribution and use of water;
3. Any other burdens as may be imposed by such action;
4. The nature and extent of degradation of other economic, cultural, religious, historic, aesthetic, natural or environmental values.

C. The Resources Committee or the Director of the Division of Natural Resources, when considering a proposed action, shall balance the adverse effects against the benefits to the Navajo Nation and other interests which are advanced as justifying the proposed action; shall consider alternatives to the proposed action which will lessen adverse effects; and shall shape any final action so that its adverse effects will be minimized to the greatest extent possible to protect the water resources.

D. When insufficient water supplies are present for whatever reason or term, the following priority of uses shall be considered in the order in which they are listed:

1. Domestic and municipal uses;
 2. Stock watering uses;
 3. Agricultural uses;
 4. Instream needs, for fish, wildlife conservation and recreational uses;
 5. Economic development uses including industrial and power uses;
- and
6. Other uses.

A. Rivers, streams, lakes and ponds within the Navajo Nation are to be retained substantially in their natural conditions, with the base flows and water levels necessary to provide for preservation of traditional and religious, recreation, wildlife, fish, scenic, aesthetic, and other environmental values, to the extent possible. Withdrawals of water which would conflict with these interests should be authorized only where it is clear that overriding considerations of the public interest and welfare will be served.

History

The Navajo Public Water Systems Supervision Program, previously adopted by resolution CD-57-86, December 10, 1986, and codified at 22 N.N.C. § 2501 et seq., was rescinded and replaced by resolution CJY-50-95 which originally enacted the Navajo Nation Safe Drinking Water Act. The Navajo Nation Safe Drinking Water Act was subsequently amended by resolutions CJY-70-98 and CAU-69-01. For purposes of organizational consistency and to maintain the NNSDWA's subchapters, the NNSDWA has been relocated from Subchapter 15 of Chapter 11 to its own Chapter 13 within Title 22 but maintains its section numbers at 22 N.N.C. § 2501 et seq.

b. The Director shall make available, at the Navajo Nation EPA offices, a copy of the inventory information and other information regarding each Navajo public water system and underground injection facility and shall provide a copy when requested to the appropriate public water system owner or operator, UIC owner or operator and to the general public.

c. All public water system and UIC owners and operators shall provide, in writing, all information, corrections or amendments necessary for the development and maintenance of a complete inventory.

4. Records. The Director shall establish and maintain a file for each public water system and underground injection facility listed in the inventory. These reports shall be made available for public inspection at the office of the Director during regular business hours.

B. Contracts and Grants. The Director is authorized to:

1. In compliance with Title 2 of the Navajo Nation Code enter into agreements, contracts or cooperative arrangements with other tribal departments, divisions or entities; with state, federal or interstate agencies; municipalities; local health departments, educational institutions or other organizations; or other persons for the purpose of ensuring the safety of drinking water or underground sources of drinking water within the Navajo Nation.

The notice shall specify the period available for public comment and the date, time and place of any public hearing, and shall make available to the public a copy of the proposed regulation. Not later than the date of proposal of the regulation in question, the Director shall establish a rulemaking docket and shall make the docket available to the public for inspection and copying during regular business hours. The Director shall provide a comment period at least thirty (30) calendar days; allow any person to submit written comments, data or documentary information; give interested persons an opportunity to present orally their views, data or arguments in the Navajo or English languages; and keep the docket open for at least ten (10) days after such proceeding to provide an opportunity for submission of rebuttal and supplementary information.

3. The final regulation shall be based on the record of the rulemaking proceeding, contained in the docket, and shall be accompanied by an explanation of the reasons for any major changes from the proposed regulation and a response to each of the significant comments submitted in written or oral presentations during the comment period.

- a. the underground injection of brine or other fluids which are brought to the surface in connection with oil or natural gas production or natural gas storage operations; or
 - b. any underground injection for the secondary or tertiary recovery of oil or natural gas, unless such requirements are essential to assure that underground sources of drinking water will not be endangered by such injection.
8. The regulations of the Director under this Section shall permit or provide for consideration of varying geologic, hydrological or historical conditions in different areas within the Navajo Nation.
9. Nothing in this Section shall be construed to alter or affect the duty of ensuring that underground sources of drinking water will not be endangered by any underground injection activities.

659 to 665.§ 2538. Wellhead Protection

A. Wellhead Protection Program. The Director shall develop by regulation a program to protect wellhead areas within the Navajo Nation from contaminants that may have an adverse effect on public health. Such program shall at a minimum:

1. Specify the duties of Navajo agencies, other governmental entities and public water supply systems with respect to the development and implementation of the program;
2. For each wellhead, determine the wellhead protection area as defined in Subsection (B) based on all reasonably available hydrogeologic information on groundwater flow, recharge and discharge and other information the Director deems necessary;
3. Identify within each wellhead protection area all potential anthropogenic sources of contaminants which may have an adverse effect on public health;
4. Describe a program that contains, as appropriate, technical assistance, financial assistance, implementation of control measures, education, training, and demonstration projects to protect the water supply with wellhead protection areas from such contaminants;
5. Include contingency plans for the location and provision of alternate drinking water supplies for each public water system in the event of well or well field contamination by such contaminants;
6. Include a requirement that consideration be given to all potential sources of such contaminants within the expected wellhead area of a new water well which serves a public supply system; and
7. Provide for the addition of new wellhead protection areas for water well sited after promulgation of the initial program.

B. Definition of Wellhead Protection Area. As used in this section the term "wellhead protection area" means the surface and subsurface area surrounding a water well or well field supplying a public water system, through which contaminants are reasonably likely to move toward and reach such water well or well field. The extent of a wellhead protection area is necessary to provide protection from contaminants which may have an adverse effect on the public health and is to be determined by the Director in the program developed under Subsection (A). The Director may rely on technical guidance issued by the Administrator in making such determination. In any event, the determination should reflect factors such as the radius of influence around a well or wellhead, the depth of drawdown of the water table by such well or well field at any given point, the time or rate of travel of various contaminants in various hydrologic conditions, distance from the well or well field, or other factors affecting the likelihood of contaminants reaching the well or well field, taking into account available engineering pump tests or comparable data, field reconnaissance, topographic information, and the geology of the formation in which the well or wellhead is located.

C. Public Participation. The Director shall establish procedures to encourage public participation in developing the wellhead protection program. Such procedures may include the establishment of technical and citizens' advisory committees and the presentation of program proposals at chapter meetings. Such procedures shall include notice and opportunity for public hearing on the program before it is promulgated by the Director.

D. Reports. Every two (2) years after promulgation of a wellhead protection program, the Director shall submit to the Navajo Resources Committee and to the Administrator a report describing the progress in implementing the program. Such report shall include amendments to the program for water wells sited during the two (2) year period.

§ 2539. Operator Certification

All operators of public water systems on the Navajo Nation must be certified to operate such a facility. The Director shall develop by regulation a program, consistent with guidelines published by the Administrator pursuant to § 1419(a) of the SDWA Amendments of 1996 (Pub. L. 104-182), to certify all public water system operators in accordance with the standards described below. The Director shall serve as the Certification Administrator. The Director shall:

A. Implement a program requiring the certification of all operators of public water systems and requiring that such operators comply with the applicable requirements of the certification and training program;

B. Classify all public water systems and specify operator certification, renewal and re-certification procedures and requirements for each level of classification;

C. Establish minimum operator qualifications to validate skills, knowledge, ability and judgment for each level of classification, and include provisions for reciprocity for operator certifications from neighboring states;

D. Establish procedures for suspension, revocation and other appropriate enforcement action for operator and owner noncompliance;

E. Establish a fee system for the examination and certification of operators;

F. Establish an advisory committee for ongoing involvement in the revision and operation of operator certification; and

G. Develop a procedure to review and evaluate the adequacy of the operator certification program, including to revise the certification requirements based on revisions to applicable law and on new technology or construction techniques that change operator requirements.

§ 2542. Reporting test and analyses

A. It shall be the duty of each public water system owner or operator to ensure that copies of all tests and analyses performed on each public water system, pursuant to the requirements of the Primary Drinking Water Regulations and other applicable Navajo and federal law, are, made available to the Director, on a timely basis, for inclusion in such files.

B. Except where a shorter period is specified in this Section, each public water system owner or operator shall report to the Director the results of any test, measurement, or analysis required by this Act or the regulations hereunder within:

1. The first ten (10) days following the month in which the result is received; or
2. The first ten (10) days following the end of the monitoring period required by the Director, whichever of these is shortest.

C. The public water system owner or operator shall report to the Director within forty-eight (48) hours any violation of a primary drinking water regulation (including failure to comply with monitoring requirements) set forth in this Act or the regulations thereunder.

D. The public water system owner or operator is not required to report analytical results to the Director in cases where a USEPA-approved laboratory performs the analysis and reports the results to the Director.

E. The public water system owner or operator shall, within ten (10) days of completion of each public notice required by this Act or the regulations hereunder submit to the Director a representative copy of each type of notice distributed, published, posted, and/or made available to the media or to persons served by the system.

F. The Director may request from the public water system owner or operator all pertinent information. The public water system owner or operator shall submit to the Director, within the time stated in the request, copies of any records required by this Act or the regulations hereunder to be maintained and copies of any documents which the Director is entitled to inspect pursuant to this Act.

G. By January 1st of each year the Director shall prepare, make readily available to the public and submit to the Administrator an annual report on violations of primary drinking water regulations by public water systems within the Navajo Nation, including violations with respect to maximum containment levels, treatment requirements determined to be significant by the Administrator after consultation with NNEPA.

H. The NNEPA must make reports of the public water systems available to the public upon request, and must maintain a copy of the reports for one (1) year. The certifications submitted by the public water system should be kept for five (5) years.

§ 2543. General public notification requirements

A. Each owner or operator of a public water system shall give notice of each of the following to the persons served by the public water system:

1. Failure of the public water system to comply with an applicable maximum contaminant level or treatment technique, specified in the regulations promulgated under this Act;
2. Failure to limit fluoride concentration to less than 2.0 mg/l;
3. Failure to comply with an applicable testing procedure established by this Act or the regulations promulgated hereunder;
4. The existence of a variance or exemption from an applicable maximum contaminant level;
5. Failure to comply with a schedule prescribed pursuant to such variance or exemption; or
6. Failure to perform any monitoring required by this Subchapter or the regulations promulgated hereunder; or
7. The concentration level of any unregulated contaminant for which public notice is required either under § 1414(c)(2)(E) of the Safe Drinking Water Act, 42 U.S.C. § 300g-3(c)(2)(E), or under this Section. Such notice shall comply with federal regulations issued under SDWA § 1414(c)(2) and the provisions set forth in this Section except to the extent that the Director establishes alternative requirements regarding form and content pursuant to SDWA § 1414(c)(2)(b).

B. If a community water system has violated an applicable maximum contaminant level, the public water system owner or operator shall notify the public of such violation in addition to the notification required in Subsection (C) below, as follows:

1. By publication for no fewer than three (3) consecutive days in a newspaper or newspapers of general circulation in the area served by the system. Such notice shall be completed within fourteen (14) days after the public water system owner or operator learns of the violation.

2. By furnishing a copy of the notice to the radio and television stations serving the area served by the system. Such notice shall be furnished within seven (7) days after the public water system owner or operator learns of the violation. The notice shall be given orally in English and in the Navajo language.

3. The requirements of paragraph (2) of this subsection may be waived by the Director if he or she determines that the violations have been corrected promptly after discovery, the causes of the violation have been eliminated, and there is no longer a risk to public health.

C. In addition, in the case of a community water system and with respect to all violations listed in Subsection (A) and the grant of variances and exemptions, the owner or operator of the system shall notify the users of the water system as soon as possible and in any event within three (3) months after a violation or grant of an exemption or variance. The notification shall be by any means necessary to ensure that all users are notified of the problem. This may require the house to house distribution of handouts in cases where inclusion with monthly utility bills is not practical. Such notice shall be repeated at least once every three (3) months as long as the violation or the variance or exemption remains in effect.

D. Customers of a community water system must be notified by the owner or operator of the public water system in question every three (3) months when drinking water concentrations for fluoride exceed 2.0 mg/l. The notification must consist of any means necessary to make users aware of the problem. The notices must also be mailed on a quarterly basis to tribal and federal public health officials, and published in the local newspaper(s). Continued notification is desirable to alert, new users who may begin using the system. The exact form and manner of such notice shall be prescribed by the Director as may be necessary to ensure adequate notice.

E. In the case of a non-community water system, the public water system owner or operator shall give notice by continuous posting of any violation of an applicable maximum contaminant level or of the granting of a variance or exemption from any such level to the persons served by the system as long as the violation or variance or exemption continues. The form and manner of such notice shall be prescribed by the Director, and shall ensure that the public using the system is adequately informed of the violation or the variance or exemption.

F. Notice given pursuant to this section other than that specified in Subsection (D) of this Section shall be written in a manner reasonably designed to inform fully the users of the system. The notice shall be conspicuous and shall not use unduly technical language, unduly small print, or other methods which could frustrate the purpose of the notice. The notice shall disclose all material facts regarding the subject, including the nature of the problem and, when appropriate, a clear statement that a primary drinking water regulation has been violated and preventive measures that should be taken by the public, such as the necessity for seeking alternative water supplies. Where appropriate, or where designated by the Director, bilingual notice shall be given. Notices may include a balanced explanation of the significance or seriousness to the public health of the subject of the notice, a fair explanation of steps taken by the system to correct any problem and the results of any additional sampling.

G. Notice to the public required by this Section may be given by the Director on behalf of the public water system owner or operator, where, in the Director's discretion, this is warranted.

H. In any instance in which notification by mail or other suitable means is required by this Section but notification by newspaper, radio or television stations is not required by this Section, the Director may nevertheless require the owner or operator of a public water system to provide notification by newspaper and to radio and television stations when circumstances make more immediate or broader notice appropriate to protect the public's health.

I. Any person who violates this Section or regulations issued under this Section shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000).

§ 2544. Lead public notification requirements

A. Each owner or operator of a public water system shall identify and provide notice to persons that may be affected by lead contamination of their drinking water where such contamination results from the lead content in the construction materials of the public water distribution system or the corrosivity of the water supply sufficient to cause leaching of lead.

B. Notice shall be provided in such manner and form as may be reasonably required by the Director. Notice under this Subsection shall be provided notwithstanding the absence of a violation of any Navajo Nation Drinking Water standard.

C. Notice under this Section shall provide a clear and readily understandable explanation of the potential sources of lead in the drinking water and the potential adverse health effects. The notice shall also include reasonably available methods of mitigating known or potential lead content in drinking water, any steps the system is taking to mitigate lead content in drinking water, and the necessity for seeking alternative water supplies, if any.

D. The public notice requirements shall apply throughout the Navajo Nation upon enactment of this Act.

Subchapter 5. Standards for Construction

§ 2551. Design criteria

A. Public Water Systems

1. No new or substantially modified public water system shall be authorized to begin construction or operation within the jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation until such time as the Director has reviewed the proposed design of such facility to ensure that it is capable of compliance with applicable minimum construction guidelines for public water systems. In conducting this review, the Director is authorized to rely upon the technical assistance of the Office of Environmental Health and Engineering, United States Indian Health Service.

2. In the event that the proposed design is satisfactory, the Director shall so advise the applicant, in writing, in a timely manner. Appropriate design changes must be made by the applicant prior to initiating any operation of the system.

B. Underground Injection Wells

1.¹ Proposed designs and plans for new or substantially modified underground injection wells must be submitted with the permit application for each such well. The Director shall decide what standards for construction shall be required based on the geologic formation of the area in question and any relevant standards in the regulations promulgated under this Act or in 40 C.F.R. part 146, and shall include any such requirements in the permit, if a permit is issued.

¹ So in original; no subsec. (B)(2) was enacted.

Subchapter 6. Variances and Exemptions

§ 2561. Variances

A. The Director may grant one or more variances from an applicable Primary Drinking Water Regulation to one or more public water systems which, because of characteristics of the raw water sources that are reasonably available to the systems, cannot meet the requirements respecting the maximum contaminant levels of such drinking water regulation. A variance may be issued to a system on condition that the system install the best technology, treatment techniques, or other means which the Administrator finds are available (taking costs into consideration), and based upon an evaluation satisfactory to the Director that indicates that alternative sources of water are not reasonably available to the system. Before the Director may grant a variance under this Subsection, the Director must find that the variance will not result in an unreasonable risk to health. If the Director grants a public water system a variance under this Subchapter, the variance shall become part of the permit issued to the public water system under § 2571, and the Director shall prescribe, at the time the variance is granted, a schedule for:

1. Compliance (including increments of progress) by the public water system with each contaminant level requirement with respect to which the variance was granted; and a.¹ The Director shall provide notice and opportunity for public hearing on the schedule before such schedule may take effect. A notice given pursuant to the preceding sentence may cover the granting of more than one such schedule and a hearing held pursuant to such notice shall include each of the schedules covered by the notice, and may be conducted as part of the permit hearing. A schedule prescribed pursuant to this Subchapter for a public water system granted a variance shall require compliance by the system with each contaminant level requirement with respect to which the variance was granted as expeditiously as practicable as the Director may reasonably determine.

B. The Director may grant to one or more public water systems one or more variances from any provision of a primary drinking water regulation which requires the use of a specified treatment technique with respect to a contaminant if the public water system applying for the variance demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Director that such treatment technique is not necessary to protect the health of persons because of the nature of the raw water source of such system. A variance granted under this Subchapter shall be conditioned on such monitoring and other requirements as the Administrator may prescribe, which conditions shall become part of the permit.

C. Before a variance proposed to be granted by the Director under Subsection (A) or (B) of this Section may take effect, the Director shall provide notice and opportunity for public hearing on the proposed variance. A notice given pursuant to the preceding sentence may cover the granting of more than one variance and a hearing held pursuant to such notice shall include each of the variances covered by the notice. The hearing may be conducted as part of a permit hearing. The Director shall promptly notify the Administrator of all variances granted by it. Such notification shall contain the reason for the variance (and in the case of a variance under Subsection (A), the basis for the finding required by that Subsection before the granting of the variance) and documentation of the need for the variance.

D. The Director shall condition each public water system's variance granted under Subsection (A) of this Section upon compliance by the public water system with the schedule prescribed pursuant to Subsection (A) of this Section. Any schedule or other requirement on which a variance granted under Subsection (A) or (B) of this Section is conditioned may be enforced under § 2583 as if such requirement were part of a primary drinking water regulation.

E. Each schedule prescribed pursuant to Subsection (A) of this Section shall be deemed approved by the Administrator pursuant to § 1415(a) of the U.S. SDWA² unless the variance for which it was prescribed is revoked by the Administrator or the schedule is revised by the Administrator under such Section.

F. If an application for a variance under Subsection (A) or (B) of this Section is made, the Director shall act upon such application within sixty (60) days after the date of its submission.

G. For purposes of this Subchapter, the term "treatment technique requirement" means a requirement in a national primary drinking water regulation which specifies for a contaminant (in accordance with SDWA § 1401(1)(C)(ii))³ each treatment technique known to the Administrator which leads to a reduction in the level of such contaminant sufficient to satisfy the requirements of § 1412(b)(3) of the U.S. SDWA.⁴

§ 2562. Small systems variances

A. In general. The Director may grant a variance under this Section for compliance with a requirement specifying a maximum contaminant level or treatment technique contained in a national primary drinking water regulation to:

1. Public water systems serving three thousand three hundred (3,300) or fewer persons; and
2. With the approval of the Administrator pursuant to Subsection (I) (9), public water systems serving more than three thousand three hundred

(3,300) persons but fewer than ten thousand (10,000) persons, if the variance meets each requirement of this Section.

B. Availability of variances. A public water system may receive a variance pursuant to Subsection (A) if:

1. The Administrator has identified a variance technology under SDWA § 1412 300g-1(b)(15) that is applicable to the size and source water quality conditions of the public water system;

2. The public water system installs, operates, and maintains, in accordance with guidance or regulations issued by the Administrator, such treatment technology, treatment technique, or other means; and

3. The Director determines that the conditions of Subsection (C) are met.

C. Conditions for granting variances. A variance under this Section shall be available only to a system:

1. That cannot afford to comply, in accordance with affordability criteria established by the Director, with a national primary drinking water regulation, including compliance through:

a. Treatment;

b. Alternative source of water supply; or restructuring or consolidation (unless the Director makes a written determination that restructuring or consolidation is not practicable); and

2. For which the Director determines that the terms of the variance ensure adequate protection of human health, considering the quality of the source water for the system and the removal efficiencies and expected useful life of the treatment technology required by the variance.

D. Compliance schedules. A variance granted under this Section shall require compliance with the conditions of the variance not later than three (3) years after the date on which the variance is granted, except that the Director may allow up to two (2) additional years to comply with a variance technology, secure an alternative source of water, restructure or consolidate if the Director determines that additional time is necessary for capital improvements, or to allow for financial assistance provided pursuant to SDWA § 1452 ¹ or any other federal or tribal program.

E. Duration of variances. The Director shall review each variance granted under this section not less often than every five (5) years after the compliance date established in the variance to determine whether the system remains eligible for the variance and is conforming to each condition of the variance.

F. Ineligibility for variances. A variance shall not be available under this Section for:

1. Any maximum contaminant level or treatment technique for a contaminant with respect to which a national primary drinking water regulation was promulgated prior to January 1, 1986; or

2. A primary drinking water regulation for a microbial contaminant (including a bacterium, virus, or other organism) or an indicator or treatment technique for a microbial contaminant.

G. Regulations and guidance. The Director shall promulgate regulations for variances to be granted under the section, specifying:

1. Procedures for granting or denying variances, including requirements for notifying the Director and consumers of the public water system that a variance is proposed to be granted (including information regarding the contaminant and variance) and requirements for a public hearing on the variance before the variance is granted;

2. Requirements for the installation and proper operation of variance technology that is identified for small systems and the financial and technical capability to operate the treatment system, including operator training and certification;

3. Eligibility criteria for a variance for each primary drinking water regulation, including requirements for the quality of the source water (pursuant to § 1412(b)(15)(A) of the SDWA ²); and

4. Information requirements for variance applications.

H. Approval of variances. Before proposing to grant a variance under this section to a public water system serving more than 3,300 and fewer than 10,000 person, the Director shall submit the variance to the Administrator for review and approval prior to the issuance of the variance, pursuant to SDWA § 1415(e)(9).³

I. Petition by consumers. Not later than thirty (30) days after the Director proposes to grant a variance for a public water system, any person served by the system may petition the Administrator to object to the granting of a variance, pursuant to SDWA § 1415(e)(10).⁴

J. Timing. No variance shall be granted by the Director until the later of the following:

1. Ninety (90) days after the Director proposes to grant a variance; or

2. If the Administrator objects to the variance, the date on which the Director makes the recommended modifications or responds in writing to each objection, pursuant to SDWA § 1415(e)(10)(A).⁵

§ 2563. Exemptions

A. The Director may exempt any public water system from any requirement respecting a maximum contaminant level or any treatment technique requirement, or both, of an applicable primary drinking water regulation upon a finding that:

1. Due to compelling factors (which may include economic factors) the public water system is unable to comply with such contaminant level or treatment technique requirement or to implement measures to develop an alternative source of water supply;
2. The public water system was in operation on the effective date of such contaminant level or treatment technique requirement or, for a system that was not in operation by that date, only if no reasonable alternative source of drinking water is available to such new system;
3. The granting of the exemption will not result in an unreasonable risk to health; and

B. If the Director grants a public water system an exemption under Subsection (A) of this Section, the exemption shall become part of the permit issued to the public water system under § 2571. The Director shall prescribe, at the time the exemption is granted, a schedule for:

1. Compliance (including increments of progress or measures to develop an alternative source of water supply) by the public water system with each contaminant level requirement and treatment technique requirement with respect to which the exemption was granted; and a.¹ Before an exemption or a schedule prescribed by the Director pursuant to this Section may take effect, the Director shall provide notice and opportunity for a public hearing on the exemption and schedule which hearing may be conducted as part of the permit hearing. A notice given pursuant to the preceding sentence may cover more than one such schedule and a hearing held pursuant to such notice shall include each of the schedules covered by the notice.

C. A schedule prescribed pursuant to this Subchapter for a public water system granted an exemption under Subsection (A) of this Section shall require compliance by the system with each contaminant level and treatment technique requirement with respect to which the exemption was granted as expeditiously as practicable (as the Director may reasonably determine) but not later than three (3) years after the otherwise applicable compliance date established under SDWA § 1412(b)(10).²

1. No examination shall be granted unless the public water system establishes that:

a. The system cannot meet the standard without capital improvements which cannot be completed prior to the date established pursuant to SDWA § 1412(b)(10).²

b. In the case of a system which needs financial assistance for necessary improvements, the system has entered into an agreement to obtain such financial assistance or an assistance program is likely to be available within the period of the exemption; or

c. The system has entered into an enforceable agreement to become a part of a regional public water system; and

d. The system is taking all practicable steps to meet the standard.

2. In the case of a system which does not serve more than a population of three thousand three hundred (3,300) and which needs financial assistance for the necessary improvements, an exemption granted under clause a or b of the above Subsection may be renewed for one or more additional two (2) year periods, but not to exceed a total of six (6) years if the system establishes that it is taking all practicable steps to meet the requirements of Subsection (C)(1).

3. A public water system may not receive an exemption under this Section if the system was granted a variance under SDWA § 1415(e)³ or § 2562 of this Act.

F. Each public water system's exemption granted by the Director under Subsection (A) of this Section shall be conditioned upon compliance by the public water system with the schedule prescribed pursuant to Subsection (B) of this Section. The requirements of each such schedule shall be enforceable by the Director under Navajo Nation law as part of the permit issued to the public water system. Any requirement of a schedule on which an exemption granted under this section is conditioned may be enforced under § 2583 as if such requirement were part of a primary drinking water regulation.

G. Each schedule prescribed pursuant to Subsection (B) of this Section shall be deemed approved by the Administrator unless the exemption for which it was prescribed is revoked by the Administrator under § 1416(d)(2) of the SDWA⁴ or the schedule is revised by the Administrator under such Section.

H. The Director will promptly notify the Administrator of the granting of any exemption under Subsection (A) of this Section. Such notification shall contain the reasons for the exemption (including the basis for the finding required by Subsection (a)(3) of this Section, before the exemption may be granted) and document the need for the exemption.

I. If an application for an exemption under this Section is made, the Director shall act upon such application within a reasonable period (as determined under regulations prescribed by the Administrator) after the date of its submission.

J. The Director shall make any revisions or revocations of exemptions or schedules that may be required by the Administrator, pursuant to the Administrator's authority to review such exemptions or schedules under the SDWA.⁵

Subchapter 7. Permit Requirements for Public Water Systems and Underground Injection Facilities

§ 2571. Permits

A. The Director shall establish, by regulation, a permit program, requiring owners or operators of public water systems and underground injection facilities within the jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation to obtain a Navajo Nation permit to operate or construct a public water system or an underground injection facility.

B. Such permit program shall specify permit fees to be paid upon application for a PWS or UIC permit and annually thereafter upon receipt of a permit and may also include fees for the processing of variances and exemptions. Such permit program shall also specify requirements for applications for and issuance of modifications to permits, shall specify monitoring and reporting requirements and shall provide for hearings on permit determination.

C. Before a UIC permit is issued under this Section, the owner or operator of the underground injection facility must demonstrate and maintain financial responsibility and resources to close, plug and abandon the underground injection facility as required by the Director by regulation. Evidence of such financial responsibility shall include a surety bond, letter of credit, insurance, corporate guarantee or other submission acceptable to the Director.

§ 2572. Submission of information

A. The Director may prescribe conditions for permits (by issuing regulations and/or on a case-by-case basis) and require the submission of plans, specifications, and other information in connection with permit applications of the issuance of permits or permit modifications, variances or exemptions.

B. All permit applications shall contain the following statement to which the applicant must agree and subscribe for the application to be complete and as a condition precedent to the issuance of any permit:

“Applicant hereby consents to the jurisdiction of the Navajo Nation in connection with all activities conducted pursuant to or in connection with, or directly affecting compliance with, any permit issued pursuant to this application or to which the provisions of the Navajo Nation Safe Drinking Water Act otherwise apply. This consent shall be effective when a permit is issued, and may not be withdrawn. This consent shall extend to and be binding upon all successors, heirs, assigns, employees and agents, including contractors and subcontractors, of the applicant.”

C. The applicant shall include the foregoing statement as a term and condition of any contract or other agreement it executes for services to be performed or goods to be provided within the Navajo Nation in connection with any permit issued under this Act or to which the provisions of the Act otherwise apply. Each party to any such contract or other agreement must agree and subscribe to said statement, substituting the name of the party for “applicant” as appropriate and substituting the phrase “this agreement” in place of the phrase “any permit issued pursuant to this application”. If applicant fails to include such statement, or enters into an agreement with another party without such party agreeing and subscribing to such statement, applicant shall be subject to civil penalties in accordance with this Act.

Monies derived from fees and penalties collected under this Act, appropriations authorized by the Navajo Nation Council for the use of the Navajo Nation Public Water Systems Supervision Program or the Navajo Nation Underground Injection Control Program, and federal, state or other grants to such programs, shall be available solely to the Navajo Nation EPA for the administration, implementation and enforcement of this Act and the regulations promulgated hereunder. Subchapter 8. Inspections, Enforcement and Judicial Review

A. The Director shall make such investigations and inspections as are necessary to ensure the compliance of public water systems and underground injection facilities with this Act, the Navajo primary drinking water regulations, Navajo underground injection control regulations, and other applicable laws, decisions, orders, rules or other actions taken pursuant to this Act.

B. The Director shall have the right to enter the property of any public water system or underground injection facility for the purpose of inspecting and investigating the sanitary condition of the public water system, the quality of the water, compliance with drinking water regulations or underground injection control regulations, and compliance with applicable Navajo law. This right shall include the right to review and copy the records required to be established and maintained by this Act.

C. Except in an emergency, as determined by the Director, notify and permit the public water system owner or operator or underground injection facility owner or operator to be present when an inspection or investigation is being conducted.

D. The Director is authorized to utilize the services of the United States Indian Health Service or appropriate tribal departments to ensure that necessary inspections are performed, to coordinate his or her activities with those agencies or departments, and to rely upon competent inspections and investigations performed by those agencies or departments.

E. In any instance in which an inspection reveals that a public water system or underground injection facility is not in compliance with applicable law, the Director is authorized to charge the owner or operator of such system or facility a fee for the cost of conduction inspection, whether undertaken by the Director or by another Navajo department (in which case the department undertaking the inspection would be reimbursed). Such fee shall be based on the time taken and expenses incurred in conducting the inspection, but not to exceed the costs of such time and expenses that are reasonable in light of the circumstances.

§ 2582. General Enforcement Authority

A. In general. Whenever, on the basis of any information available to the Director, the Director finds that any person has violated, or is in violation of, any requirement or prohibition of this Act, the regulations promulgated under this Act, or permits or orders, variances, exemptions, decisions, rules, or any other actions take pursuant to this Subchapter, the Director is authorized to:

1. Issue and serve on such person an order to comply with such requirement, or prohibition, including an emergency order to comply, in accordance with provisions of this Section;
2. Issue and serve on such person an administrative penalty order, in accordance with § 2584;
3. Request that the Attorney General bring a civil action including an action for injunctive relief in accordance with § 2583; and/or
4. Request that the Navajo Nation Prosecutor's Office bring a criminal action in accordance with § 2583(C) and/or refer any criminal enforcement action or portion of such action to the U.S. EPA Regional Administrator for Region 9.

B. Requirements for orders to comply. An administrative order, including an administrative penalty order, issued under Subsection (A)(1) or (A)(2) of this Section shall state with reasonable specificity the nature of the violation, shall state that the alleged violator is entitled to a hearing pursuant to the Uniform Hearing Regulations if such hearing is requested in writing within thirty (30) days after the date of issuance of the order, and shall specify a time for compliance that the Director determines is as expeditious as practicable, taking into account the severity of the violation and any good faith efforts to comply with applicable requirements.

- 1.¹ The order shall become final immediately upon the expiration of the thirty (30) days if no hearing is requested and, if a timely request for a hearing is made, upon the decision of the Director. The order may be conditional and require a person to refrain from particular acts unless certain conditions are met. A copy of the order shall be sent to the appropriate EPA region and, if the order is issued to a corporation, to the appropriate corporate officers and registered agent of the corporation. No order to comply issued under this Section shall prevent the Nation from assessing any penalties nor otherwise affect or limit the Nation's authority to enforce under other provisions of this Act, nor affect any person's obligations to comply with any Section of this Act, permits, orders, variances or exemptions issued pursuant to this Act, or regulations promulgated under this Act.

C. Emergency Compliance Orders.

1. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, if the Director determines that a contaminant which is present in or is likely to enter a public water system or an underground source of drinking water is presenting an imminent and substantial endangerment to the public health or welfare or the environment, and determines, in consultation with the Attorney General, that it is not practicable to assure prompt protection of public health or welfare or the environment by commencement of a civil action pursuant to § 2583, the Director may take such actions as the Director may deem necessary in order to protect the public health welfare or environment. Such actions may include requiring the immediate closure of such public water system or underground injection facility and issuing such orders as may be necessary to protect the health of persons who are or may be users of such system (including travelers), including orders requiring the provision of alternative water supplies by persons who caused or contributed to the endangerment. Such orders shall be effective immediately upon issuance and shall remain in effect for not more than sixty (60) days, unless the Director brings an action for injunctive relief pursuant to this Section within the sixty (60) day period. If the Director brings such an action, the order shall remain in effect for an additional fourteen (14) days or for such longer period as may be authorized by the court in which such action is brought.

2. In the event that the Director is required to take direct action, in place of the owner or operator of the public water system or underground injection facility at issue, to respond to an emergency in order to protect the public health and welfare from imminent and substantial endangerment, the Director may charge a fee to cover the cost of such action. Such action may include, but is not limited to, conduction cleanup, closing a facility or providing alternative water supplies to the affected population. The fee shall be charged to the owner or operator of the relevant public water system or underground injection facility, and may be in addition to any penalty imposed under Subsection (B) for failure to comply with applicable orders issued under this Section.

D. Enforcement of compliance orders. Enforcement actions of the Director shall be enforced by the Navajo Nation Environmental Protection Agency, the Navajo Department of Justice, Navajo Prosecutors Office, Resources Enforcement and/or the Division of Public Safety. Those authorized to enforce the Director's actions may take reasonable steps to assure compliance, consistent with the requirements established by this Act (including rights of appeal), including but not limited to:

1. Entering upon any property or establishment believed to be violating the order and demanding compliance; and
2. Terminating operations at facilities not in compliance.

E. Repeated violations. In addition, when a person has repeatedly violated any requirements of this Act, the regulations promulgated under this Act, or permits, orders, variances, or exemptions or other actions taken pursuant to the Act, or refused to comply with any such requirements, the Director may:

1. Issue an order prohibiting such person from continuing to operate a public water system or underground injection facility within the Navajo Nation;
2. Prohibit such person from entering into any new contracts (including leases) that would permit such person to engage in any activity within the Navajo Nation that is governed by requirements of this Act or regulations under this Act which the person has repeatedly violated;
3. Take action declaring the person ineligible to do business on the Navajo Nation pursuant to the Business and Procurement Act; or
4. Take any other action available under law.

§ 2583. Judicial enforcement

A. Civil judicial enforcement. The Director may request the Attorney General to file an action for a temporary restraining order, a preliminary injunction, a permanent injunction or any other relief provided by law, including damages and the assessment and recovery of civil penalties in an amount not to exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) per day per violation in any of the following instances:

1. Whenever a person has violated, or is in violation of, any requirement or prohibition of this Act, the regulations promulgated under this Act, or permits, orders, variances, exemptions, rules, decisions or any other actions taken pursuant to this Subchapter.
2. Whenever a person has violated, or is in violation of, any duty to allow or carry out inspection, entry or monitoring activities; or
3. Whenever a person is creating an imminent and substantial endangerment to the public health or the environment, in which case the Director shall request the Attorney General to pursue injunctive relief but not the assessment of civil penalties, unless the endangerment is caused by a violation, as specified in Paragraphs (1) and (2).

B. Calculation of Penalties.

1. For purposes of determining the number of days of violation for which a penalty is assessed under this Section or § 2584, if the Director has notified the violator in writing of the violation and the plaintiff makes a prima facie showing that the conduct or events giving rise to the violation are likely to have continue or recurred past the date of notice, the days of violation shall be presumed to include the date such and each day thereafter until the violator establishes that continuous compliance has been achieved, except to the extent that the violator can prove by a preponderance of the evidence that there were intervening days during which no violation occurred or that the violation was not continuing in nature. Notice under this section shall be accomplished by the issuance of a written notice of violation or written order to comply or by filing a complaint in the Navajo Nation District Court in Window Rock that alleges any violation described in Subsection (A) of this Section.

2. In determining the amount of a penalty assessed under this Section or § 2584, the court or the Director, as the case may be, shall consider the history, severity and duration of the violation; any good faith efforts to comply with the applicable requirements; the violator's full compliance history, including the severity and duration of past violations, if any; the economic impact of the penalty on the violator; as an aggravating factor only, the economic benefit, if any resulting from the violations; and any other factors that the court or the Director deems relevant. All penalties collected pursuant to this section shall be deposited in the PWS Fund or the UIC Fund, as the case may be, special revenue funds established under § 2573 of this Act.

C. Criminal Penalties. The Director may request that the Navajo Nation Prosecutor's Office initiate criminal proceedings against any person who knowingly:

1. Violates any requirement or prohibition of this Act, including but not limited to any regulation adopted pursuant to this subchapter, a variance, exemption or order issued pursuant to this Act, or a reporting or notice requirement under this Act;

2. Makes any false material statement, representation or certification in, or omits material information from, or alters, conceals or fails to file or maintain any notice, record, reports, or other document required pursuant to this Act to be filed or maintained; or

3. Tampers with any public water system as prohibited in § 2522 of this Act.

Such person shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) per day of violation or imprisonment for not more than one (1) year, or both, notwithstanding the provisions of 17 N.N.C. §§ 222 and 223, or be subject to any other penalty imposed by the court that is available under Navajo Nation law. In any instance where the Nation lacks jurisdiction over the person charged, or where the Director is limited in the amount of the fine that he may impose, the Director may refer the action to the appropriate EPA Regional Administrator pursuant to § 2582 of this Act. For the purpose of this paragraph, the term “person” includes, in addition to the entities referred to in § 2504 of this Act, any responsible corporate officer.

D. Jurisdiction and venue. Any action under this Section shall be brought in the Navajo Nation District Court in Window Rock, and such court shall have jurisdiction to restrain such violation, require compliance, assess civil and criminal penalties up to the amounts provided in this Section, collect any fees or noncompliance penalties owed the Nation under this Act, and award any other appropriate relief.

E. Failure to pay penalty. If any person fails to pay an assessment of a civil penalty, the Director shall request the Attorney General to bring a civil action in the Navajo Nation District Court in Window Rock to enforce the order or recover the amount ordered or assessed plus interest, from the date of the final order or recover the amount ordered or assessed plus interest, from the date of the final order or decision or the date of the final judgment, as the case may be. In such an action the validity, amount and appropriateness of the order or assessment shall not be subject to review. Any person who fails to pay on a timely basis a civil penalty ordered or assessed under this Section shall be required to pay, in addition to such penalty and interest, the Director’s enforcement expenses, including but not limited to attorneys’ fees and costs of collection proceedings. Such person shall also pay a quarterly nonpayment penalty for each quarter during which such failure to pay persists. The nonpayment penalty shall be no less than ten percent (10%) of the aggregate amount of the person’s outstanding penalties and nonpayment penalties accrued as of the beginning of the quarter; the Director may by regulation establish higher penalties to take into account situations where the prime rate is higher.

§ 2584. Administrative Assessment of Penalties

A. Basis for penalty. The Director may issue against any person an administrative order assessing a civil administrative penalty of up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per day per violation whenever the Director finds that a person has violated, or is in violation of, any requirement or prohibition of this Act, including but not limited to, a regulation adopted pursuant to this Act, or permits, orders, variances or exemptions issued pursuant to this Subchapter. The Director’s authority under this Subsection, combined with actions under Subsection (C), shall be limited to matters where the total penalty sought does not exceed one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) and the first alleged date of violation occurred no more than one (1) year prior to the initiation of administrative action, except where the Director and Attorney General jointly determine that a matter involving a larger penalty or longer period of violation is appropriate for administrative penalty action. The communications required to make such a joint determination and the method(s) utilized for making such a joint determination shall be privileged, and shall not be subject to judicial review. The Director may compromise, modify or remit, with or without any conditions, any administrative penalty imposed under this Section.

B. Hearing requirement. The Director shall assess an administrative penalty under this section by an order made after opportunity for a hearing, pursuant to § 2585 of this Act. Before issuing such an order, the Director shall give written notice of the proposed order to the person on whom the penalty is to be assessed and provide such person an opportunity to request a hearing within thirty (30) calendar days of receipt of the notice.

C. Field citations. After consultation with the Attorney General, the Director may implement a field citation program through regulations establishing minor violations for which field citations (assessing civil penalties not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per day per violation) may be issued by officers or employees designated by the Director, for any violation for which an administrative order could be issued under Subsection (A) to the extent permissible under applicable law. The Director's authority under this Subsection, combined with action taken under Subsection (A), shall be limited into total amount by the provisions in Subsection (A). Any person on whom a field citation is assessed may, pursuant to regulations issued under this Section, elect to pay the penalty or request a hearing on the citation under the provisions of Subsection (B). If a timely request for a hearing is not made, the penalty shall be final and the opportunity for judicial review shall be waived. Any hearing shall provide a reasonable opportunity to be heard and to present evidence. Payment of a penalty required by a field citation shall not be a defense to further enforcement by the Director to correct a violation or to assess the statutory maximum penalty pursuant to other authorities in this Act, except as to the days of violation for which the penalty required by a field citation is paid.

D. Judicial review. Any person subject to a penalty under Section A or C of this section may seek review of such penalty assessment in the Navajo Nation District Court in Window Rock, by filing a petition for review in such court within thirty (30) days following the date that the penalty becomes final and by simultaneously sending a copy of such filing by certified mail to the Director and the Attorney General. A notice of intent to challenge such penalty assessment, otherwise required by the Navajo Nation Sovereign Immunity Act, 1 N.N.C. § 551 et seq. is not required. Within thirty (30) days thereafter, the Director shall file in such court a certified copy or certified index of the record on which the penalty was based. The court shall not set aside or remand an order or assessment under this Section unless the record, taken as a whole, does not substantially support the finding of a violation or unless the order or penalty assessment constitutes an abuse of discretion. In any such proceedings, the Director may seek to recover civil penalties ordered or assessed under this Section.

E. Failure to pay penalty. If any person fails to comply with an administrative penalty order after the order or assessment has become final, the Director shall request the Attorney General to bring a civil action in the Navajo Nation District Court in Window Rock to enforce the order or recover the amount ordered or assessed plus interest, pursuant to the provisions of § 2583(E).

F. Calculation of penalty. In determining the amount of any penalty to be assessed under this Section the Director or the court, as appropriate, shall take into consideration the factors enumerated in § 2583(B) of this Act.

§ 2585. Administrative hearings and subpoenas

A. Administrative hearings. The Director shall, by regulation, establish a formal administrative hearing process which meets due process standards to hear appeals taken under §§ 2582(B) and 2584. Until the Director establishes this administrative hearing process and appoints a qualified presiding officer, the Navajo Office of Hearings and Appeals is authorized to conduct hearings under this Act; provided, in addition, that the Director may, at his/her discretion, transfer other hearings conducted under this Act and the regulations promulgated hereunder to the Navajo Office of Hearings and Appeals when the need arises.

B. Administrative subpoenas.

1. In connection with any investigation, monitoring, reporting, entry, compliance inspection or administrative enforcement proceeding under this Act, the Director may issue subpoenas for the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of relevant papers, books and documents, and may administer oaths.

2. Witnesses summoned shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid in the Navajo Nation courts. In case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpoena, the Navajo Nation District Court for the district in which such person is found, resides or transacts business shall have jurisdiction to issue an order requiring such person to appear before the Director and give testimony or produce papers, books or documents, or both, and any failure to obey such an order may be punished by the court as contempt. A person may challenge the lawfulness of an administrative subpoena issued by the Director in the Navajo Nation District Court for the District of Window Rock, naming as defendant the Director in his or her official capacity and not in any other manner, in any such action, relief will be limited to declaratory relief.

§ 2586. Judicial review

A. Any person aggrieved by any final action of the Director taken pursuant to the authority of this Act (but not including imposition of administrative penalties under § 2584), shall have the right to appeal such action in the Navajo Nation Supreme Court. The appeal shall be taken in accordance with the Navajo Rules of Civil Appellate Procedure. The Navajo Nation Supreme Court, in reviewing the final action, shall limit its review to the issues and the evidence that were before the Director at the time of the final action from which the appeal is taken. The Supreme Court may affirm, reverse, modify in whole or in part, or remand for further consideration, any final action that is the subject of the appeal, provided that final actions may be reversed, modified or remanded only when they are:

1. Arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion, or otherwise not in accordance with law;
2. In excess of statutory jurisdiction, authority, or limitations, or short of statutory right; or
3. Without observance of procedure required by law; or
4. Unsupported by substantial evidence.

B. Any challenge to the lawfulness of authority of the Navajo Nation Council to enact any provision of this Act or regulations promulgated thereunder must be filed in accordance with Navajo law within ninety (90) calendar days after the date of enactment of this Act in the district court for the District of Window Rock, naming as defendant the Navajo Nation, and not thereafter or in any other manner. Provided, however, that any challenge to regulations promulgated under this Act must be filed within ninety (90) days of their adoption. In any such action, relief shall be limited to declaratory relief. The district court for the District of Window Rock shall have exclusive jurisdiction and venue over any action challenging any provision of this Act. Any action brought pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be brought in compliance with the Navajo Nation Sovereign Immunity Act, 1 N.N.C. § 551 et seq. and not in any other manner.

§ 105. Assessment of Tax

A. The taxes imposed by the Code are assessed for a statutory period and are the liability of the taxpayers.

B. The Office of the Navajo Tax Commission is authorized to assess taxes against a person and those assessments are presumed to be correct.

1. When it appears that the return filed by a person understates the taxes due under the Code, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission is authorized to assess the person for any tax deficiency, interest, penalties, and costs. The assessment is binding on the person but may be appealed in accordance with rules and regulations.

2. If no return is timely filed as required, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission is authorized to make an estimate of the tax due and to assess the person for that tax, interest, penalties, and costs. This assessment is binding on the person unless shown to be clearly erroneous.

3. If a person fails to provide information within its possession or control which is relevant to a determination of taxes due and which it is required to provide under the Code, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission is authorized to make an estimate of the tax due and to assess the taxpayer for that tax, interest, penalties, and costs. This assessment is binding on the taxpayer unless it is shown that the estimate, on the basis of the best information then available to the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission, was clearly erroneous or unless the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission for other good cause shown relieves the taxpayer from the operation of this Section.

C. Any taxes assessed shall become the liability of the taxpayer on the date due. If the taxpayer is a corporation or a trust or a part thereof, then the corporation or trust shall be liable for the taxes. If the taxpayer is an association, joint venture, or partnership, or a part thereof, then all the associates, participants, or partners both general and limited, shall be jointly and severally liable for the taxes. Companies shall be treated as corporations or partnerships consistent with their treatment by the Internal Revenue Service.

D. The owners of the interests in a unit or lease shall be jointly and severally liable for the taxes assessed with respect to said unit or lease.

E. Consistent with § 129 of this Chapter, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission shall have the authority to redetermine incorrect or erroneous assessments, to issue amended assessments, if necessary, and to assess unassessed possessory interests as of the date on which they first became assessable.

§ 131. Procedure for appeal

A. Appeals from assessments, denials of refund, or other adverse action shall be made first to the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission according to procedures established in regulations; these procedures shall also apply to any challenges to the validity of the Code. The Commission may permit or require one or more levels of review by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission or its designees and may provide for hearings before the Commission as a body. The failure to duly proceed to a next required level of review under this Subsection shall constitute a waiver of any further appeal pursuant to this Subsection or Subsection (B).

B. Appeals from final actions of the highest level of administrative review shall be made only to the Supreme Court of the Navajo Nation, according to procedures established in regulations, but in no case may an appeal of an assessment be taken to the Supreme Court until payment of the taxes assessed has first been made.

C. Actions before the Supreme Court:

Review of administrative actions in the Supreme Court shall be on the record and not de novo, and shall be limited to the determination whether the administrative action was not supported by the evidence, or was arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion, beyond its authority, or otherwise contrary to applicable Navajo or federal law. However, where affirmation of an administrative action taken pursuant to § 116 would suspend a right of an appellant to engage in productive activity within the Navajo Nation, the appellant shall on request be entitled to a hearing de novo on any material question of fact.

2. The Supreme Court shall be empowered to affirm, reverse, or modify any administrative action, or to remand the matter for further action.

D. Procedures for staying the payment of taxes which are being appealed under Subsection (A) of this Section may be established in regulations. The Office of the Navajo Tax Commission in its discretion may condition the grant of a stay on the posting of a bond or provision of other security.

1. Due process

“ . . . [T]he statutory ‘pay first, litigate later’ requirement satisfies Blaze’s due process rights. Blaze was on notice of its obligation to pay the taxes, penalties and interest that were eventually assessed against it. [. . .] Further, we note that although due process does not require the Navajo Nation to provide predeprivation process, taxpayers are afforded an informal conference and a full hearing before the Tax Commission prior to paying their tax liabilities.” Blaze

“24 N.T.C. § 234(b) does not empower the Supreme Court with original jurisdiction to issue injunctions. Neither can the Supreme Court properly use 24 N.T.C. § 234(b) to invoke its supervisory authority over lower courts. An appeal to the Supreme Court of a final Tax Commission decision is the only remedy available under 24 N.T.C. § 234(b).” Chuska Energy Company v. The Navajo Tax Commission, 5 Nav. R. 98, 101 (Nav. § 132. Abatement of authority

A. In response to a written request for abatement, or when an assessment is found to be incorrect, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission may abate any part of the assessment determined to have been incorrectly, erroneously, or illegally made.

B. Upon a compromise of liability and according to the terms of the closing agreement formalizing the compromise, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission shall abate the appropriate amount of the assessment.

C. Abatements in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000) shall be recorded in the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission in a form available for public inspection. The records shall be maintained for a minimum of four (4) years after the date of the abatement.

A. If in good faith the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission at any time is in doubt of the taxpayer's liability, it may enter into a written closing agreement with the taxpayer that adequately protects the interests of the Navajo Nation, provided that such agreement shall be subject to approval by the Attorney General of the Navajo Nation.

B. If entered into after an appeal has been filed pursuant to § 131, a closing agreement shall be part of a stipulated order or judgment disposing of the case.

C. As a condition for entering into a closing agreement, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission may require the provision of security for payment of any taxes due according to the terms of the agreement.

D. A closing agreement is conclusive as to the liability or nonliability for payment of taxes relating to the periods referred to in the agreement only, except upon a showing of fraud, malfeasance, or misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact.

9. In recording tax liens on the property of a taxpayer or collecting taxes by levy upon the property or rights to property of a taxpayer;

10. In statistical releases not identifying the information provided as applicable to any single taxpayer;

11. To the extent of revealing whether a taxpayer has or has not made a designation (and, if so, the name and address of that designee), or whether a person is or is not a designee (and, if so, by whom he has been designated); and

C. For purposes of this Section, “employee of the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission” shall include any person for whose services the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission has contracted, provided that such person shall agree in the contract for services to abide by the provisions of this Section.

D. Any Navajo Nation employee or former employee who violates any of the provisions of this Section shall be subject to a civil fine not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00). The District Courts of the Navajo Nation shall have jurisdiction to hear cases arising under this Section, which may only be brought by the taxpayer harmed by the violation of this Section.

Annotations

1. Construction with other laws

Unilateral imposition by Navajo Nation of possessory interest tax (PIT), which applied to mining activity on Navajo Partitioned Lands within former Joint Use Area, did not violate Navajo-Hopi Land Settlement Act, notwithstanding provision for joint management of subsurface mineral estate by Navajo Nation and Hopi Tribe; PIT did not require Hopi approval as Navajo Nation acted under its governmental authority in imposing tax, which did not constitute management of subsurface mineral estate, and Hopi Tribe's management interest in coal did not constitute governmental interest. Pea- body Coal Co. v. Navajo Nation, 75 F.3d 457, (9th Cir.(Ariz.) 1996).

2. Prior approval

Possessory interest tax (PIT) imposed by Navajo Nation, which affected coal mining activity on lands partitioned to Navajo pursuant to Navajo-Hopi Land Settlement Act, did not require approval of Secretary of Interior, which was mandated only when "otherwise required by law," as PIT was not a contract or agreement which would have required such approval. Peabody Coal Co. v. Navajo Nation, 75 F.3d 457 (9th Cir.(Ariz.) 1996).

§ 203. Administration

The provisions of Chapter 1, the Uniform Tax Administration Statute, shall apply to this Chapter.

1. Approval of taxes

It was not necessary that Secretary of the Interior approve taxes imposed by an Indian tribe on the value of leasehold interests in tribal lands and on receipts from sale of property produced or extracted for the sale of services within those lands. Kerr-McGee Corp. v. Navajo Tribe of Indians, 471 U.S. 195, 105 S.Ct. 1900, 85 L.Ed.2d 200, (U.S.Ariz.1985).

§ 204. Definitions

Subject to additional definitions (if any) contained in the subsequent sections of this Chapter, and unless the context otherwise requires, in this Chapter:

A. "Possessory interest" means the property rights under a lease approved, consented to, or granted by the Navajo Nation, including the rights to the lease premises and underlying natural resources.

B. "Assessment date" means each January 1st.

C. "Lease" means any agreement conferring rights to use or possess tribal lands or to sever products therefrom, including, but not limited to, a lease, right-of-way, use permit, or a joint venture or operating agreement.

D. "Owner" means any person who owns an interest in a lease, or part thereof, as grantee, lessee, permittee, assignee, sublessee, or transferee, whether of the whole interest or less than the whole. In the case of parties to a joint venture or operating agreement, owners and their interests shall be determined under regulations.

E. "Tertiary recovery project" means an enhanced recovery project by the following means:

1. Alkaline or caustic flooding—an augmented water flooding technique where the water is made chemically basic by the addition of alkali metals;

2. Conventional steam drive injection—the continuous injection of at least fifty percent (50%) quality steam into injection wells to effect oil displacement toward production wells. This method may include the supplemental injection of water, solvents, or other fluids;

3. Cyclic steam injection—the alternating injection of at least fifty percent (50%) quality steam and production of oil with condensed steam from the same well or wells;

4. Immiscible gas displacement—the injection of non-hydrocarbon gas into an oil reservoir to effect oil displacement under conditions in which miscibility with reservoir oil is not obtained. This method may include the supplemental injection of water and has a ten percent (10%) volume requirement;

5. In situ combustion—the combustion of oil in the reservoir sustained by continuous air injection, to displace unburned oil toward producing wells—provided it continues until at least fifteen percent (15%) of reservoir volume has been served or is burned;

6. Microemulsion flooding—an augmented water flooding technique in which a "surfactant" system is injected to enhance oil displacement toward producing wells;

7. Miscible fluid displacement—an oil displacement process in which fluid is injected into an oil reservoir at pressure levels such that the injected fluid and reservoir oil are miscible. This method may include the supplemental injection of water and has a ten percent (10%) volume requirement;

8. Polymer augmented waterflooding—an augmented waterflooding technique in which polymers are injected with the water to improve areal and vertical sweep efficiency;

9. Unconventional steam drive injection—the continuous injection of at least fifty percent (50%) quality steam to effect oil displacement toward producing wells. This method may include the supplemental injection of water, solvents, or other fluids and applies only to steam drive projects with an average depth greater than twenty-five thousand (25,000) feet or which recover oil with a gravity less than ten (10) degrees API;

F. "Expanded tertiary recovery project" or "expansion" means the addition of injection and producing wells, the change of injection pattern, or other operating changes to an existing tertiary recovery project that will result in the recovery of oil that would not otherwise be recovered;

G. “Incremental production value” means (1) the value of the oil that could be produced by a tertiary recovery project in excess of the base production value established under conditions before production under the tertiary recovery project; or (2) the value of the oil that could be produced by an expanded tertiary recovery project in excess of the base production value established under conditions before production under the expanded tertiary recovery project;

H. “Base production value” means (1) the value of the oil which could have been produced economically and efficiently from the unit by production methods being utilized prior to the tertiary recovery project being certified by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission; or (2) the value of the oil which could have been produced economically and efficiently from the unit by production methods being utilized prior to the expanded tertiary recovery project being certified by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission.

I. “Class one possessory interest” means any lease used to extract, sever, transport or process coal, oil, gas, minerals, and other natural resources.

J. “Class two possessory interest” means any lease used for the generation of electricity, or used for the transportation of electricity upon lines greater than 14.5 kV.

K. “Class three possessory interest” means any lease used for commercial, industrial, manufacturing, assembling or fabricating purposes.

L. “Class four possessory interest” means any lease used for residential purposes.

M. “Class five possessory interest” means any lease used for other purposes.

Annotations

1. Proceeds

Possessory interest tax (PIT) constituted “proceeds” derived from coal underlying former Joint Use Area, which Navajo Nation thus had to share with Hopi Tribe pursuant to Navajo-Hopi Land Settlement Act, even though Navajo excluded one-half of value of leasehold from PIT in attempt to divide otherwise “undivided” interest in coal, as PIT was tax on rights to “underlying natural resources” granted under lease to mining company and was thus a benefit derived from coal in which Hopi interest was “joint, undivided, and equal” with that of Navajo. Peabody Coal Co. v. Navajo Nation, 75 F.3d 457 (9th Cir.(Ariz.) 1996).

§ 205. Valuation

A. The value of a possessory interest shall be determined as provided in this Section, or by any method adopted by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission which accurately reflects fair market value. Provided, that the value of a possessory interest shall exclude the value of leasehold improvements.

24 N.N.C. § 205

B. Fair market value method: The value of a possessory interest may be determined on the basis of the selling prices of comparable leases (whether within or without the Navajo Nation) which are sold by willing sellers to willing buyers, neither of whom are under a compulsion to act.

C. Present value of income method: The value of a possessory interest may be determined by computing the capitalized value of the gross income to be received from the lease less the reasonable expenses to be incurred in producing the income. The allowable expenses shall be set forth in regulations. Such capitalization shall be done for the remaining life of the lease. If the lease term is indefinite, for the purpose of this method, the life of the lease shall be presumed to be twenty-five (25) years.

D. The Office of the Navajo Tax Commission may engage private appraisal firms for the valuation of possessory interests and determination of valuation factors.

§ 208. Exemptions

A. No possessory interest with a taxable value of less than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) shall be subject to this tax. Provided, however, that all possessory interests of a person who owns interests in more than one lease, and of related persons, shall be combined to determine the eligibility of said possessory interests for this exemption.

B. 1. The portion of the possessory interest value attributable to a tertiary recovery project (certified after 1/1/96) or the portion of the possessory interest value attributable to an expanded tertiary recovery project (certified after 1/1/96) shall be exempt from the Possessory Interest Tax from the date the application is received subject to the following:

a. The operator must file an application with the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission for certification of a tertiary recovery project or an expanded tertiary recovery project. At the time the application is filed, the operator must file its projection of base production value for validation and approval by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission. The Office of the Navajo Tax Commission will review the application and make a determination if the project qualifies as a tertiary recovery project or an expanded tertiary recovery project. The Office of the Navajo Tax Commission will certify or reject the project in writing to the operator in a reasonable timely manner.

b. Disapproval of the base production value or rejection of the project shall constitute an adverse action appealable pursuant to § 131 of the Uniform Tax Administration Statute.

2. The exemption granted under § 208(B)(1) shall be limited as follows: the value associated with the exemption shall not exceed three-fourths of the total value. The Possessory Interest Tax shall be applied to the greater of the following: the base production value or twenty-five percent (25%) of the total value, including the value associated with the incremental production.

3. The exemption granted by this Subsection shall be separate from and in addition to any exemptions granted under other chapters of Title 24.

The Office of the Navajo Tax Commission may by form or regulation require the information and documents which it deems necessary for proper and efficient administration of the tax and require that the declaration be signed by specified persons.

B. If an owner fails to provide information or documents within its possession or control which are relevant to a determination of the value of a possessory interest and which it is required to provide under this Chapter, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission may proceed to determine the value and to assess the taxes. This assessment is binding on the owner unless it is shown that the valuation, on the basis of the best information available to the Office of the Navajo Commission, was clearly erroneous or unless the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission for other good cause shown relieves the owner from the operation of this Subsection.

§ 304. Definitions

Subject to additional definitions (if any) contained in the subsequent sections of this Chapter, and unless the context otherwise requires, in this chapter:

A. "Severance" means severing, producing, or taking from the soil in any manner whatsoever.

B. "Products" means oil, natural gas, or other liquid hydrocarbons, individually or any combination thereof.

C. "Value" means the actual price received for the products at the production unit, or the value which is determined under § 305.

D. "Production unit" means a unit of property which is designated and identified under § 305(C).

E. "Interest" means an entire or fractional interest of any kind or nature in products at the time of severance from a production unit.

F. "Operator" means any person engaged in severing products from a production unit, or who owns an interest and receives all or a portion of the products for its interest.

G. "Owner" means any person who owns an interest, or who has a right to a monetary payment which is determined by the value of products.

H. "Purchaser" means any person who is the first purchaser of products after severance from a production unit.

I. "Period" means a calendar month.

J. "Tertiary recovery project" means an enhanced recovery project by the following means:

1. Alkaline or caustic flooding—an augmented water flooding technique where the water is made chemically basic by the addition of alkali metals;
 2. Conventional steam drive injection—the continuous injection of at least fifty percent (50%) quality steam in to injection wells to effect oil displacement toward production wells. This method may include the supplemental injection of water, solvents, or other fluids;
 3. Cyclic steam injection—the alternating injection of at least fifty percent (50%) quality steam and production of oil with condensed steam from the same well or wells;
 4. Immiscible gas displacement—the injection of non-hydrocarbon gas into an oil reservoir to effect oil displacement under conditions in which miscibility with reservoir oil is not obtained. This method may include the supplemental injection of water and has a ten percent (10%) volume requirement;
 5. In situ combustion—the combustion of oil in the reservoir sustained by continuous air injection, to displace unburned oil toward producing wells—provided it continues until at least fifteen percent (15%) of reservoir volume has been served or is burned;
 6. Microemulsion flooding—an augmented water flooding technique in which a “surfactant” system is injected to enhance oil displacement toward producing wells;
 7. Miscible fluid displacement—an oil displacement process in which fluid is injected into an oil reservoir at pressure levels such that the injected fluid and reservoir oil are miscible. This method may include the supplemental injection of water and has a ten percent (10%) volume requirement;
 8. Polymer augmented waterflooding—an augmented waterflooding technique in which polymers are injected with the water to improve areal and vertical sweep efficiency;
 9. Unconventional steam drive injection—the continuous injection of at least fifty percent (50%) quality steam to effect oil displacement toward producing wells. This method may include the supplemental injection of water, solvents, or other fluids and applies only to steam drive projects with an average depth greater than twenty-five thousand (25,000) feet or which recover oil with a gravity less than ten (10) degrees API;
- K. “Expanded tertiary recovery project” or “expansion” means the addition of injection and producing wells, the change of injection pattern, or other operating changes to an existing tertiary recovery project that will result in the recovery of oil that would not otherwise be recovered;
- L. “Incremental oil production” means the volume of oil produced by a tertiary recovery project or an expanded tertiary recovery project in excess of the base production established under conditions before production under the tertiary recovery project or expanded tertiary recovery project;
- M. “Base production” means (1) the amount of oil which could have been produced economically and efficiently from the unit by production methods being utilized prior to the tertiary recovery project being certified by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission; or (2) the amount of oil which could have been produced economically and efficiently from the unit by production methods being utilized prior to the expanded tertiary recovery project being certified by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission.

§ 305. Value and unit

A. The Commission may determine the value of products severed from production unit when: The operator and purchaser are affiliated or related persons; or, the sale and purchase of products is not an arm's length transaction; or, products are severed and removed from a production unit and a price is not established for such products.

B. The value determined by the Commission shall be commensurate with the actual price received for products of like quality, character, and use which are severed in the same field or area. If there are no sales of products of like quality, character, or use severed in the same field or area, then the Commission shall establish a reasonable value based upon the best information available.

C. The Commission shall designate the property that will constitute a production unit and assign to each production unit a number or symbol, which shall serve as identification for the purposes of reporting the severance of products and paying taxes. The Commission shall inform the operators of production units as to the designations made and identification so assigned. If the Commission fails to designate production units and assign numbers, taxpayers are in no way relieved from the liability imposed by this Chapter and the operator shall request that such designations and assignments be made.

A. Taxpayers must file reports of the severance or purchase of products and the tax due, or withheld and remitted, for the period, by the fifteenth day of the second month after the end of each calendar month, in accordance with subsections (B), (C), and (D) of this Section. The Commission may by form or regulation require that information and relevant documents which it deems necessary for the proper and efficient administration of the tax be included in or with reports, and that reports be signed by specified persons.

B. Each purchaser shall include in its report the total value, volume, and kind of products purchased during the period, by production unit, and any tax withheld from payments. Provided that, under an agreement with an operator to which the Commission consents, a purchaser may be relieved of an obligation to report purchases.

C. Each operator shall include in its report the name of the property and the total value, volume, and kind of products severed and sold, by production unit, the identity of each owner and any tax withheld therefrom. For products severed and taken-in-kind other than for itself, the operator's report need not include the value of the products taken.

D. An owner whose interest in products severed is reported under Subsections (B) or (C) of this Section is not required to file a report. Provided that, where an operator or purchaser has not reported or not included in a report, any part of the value, volume, and kind of products severed and sold or taken with respect to an owner, such owner shall be required to file a report as to its interest, in accordance with this Chapter and the regulations.

§ 404. Definitions

Subject to additional definitions (if any) contained in the subsequent sections of this Chapter and unless the context otherwise requires, in this Chapter:

A. “Branch” means any person engaged in trade, commerce, manufacture, power production, or any other productive activity, whether for profit or not, wholly or in part within the Navajo Nation.

B. “Source-gains” of a branch are the gross receipts of that branch from the sale, either within or without the Navajo Nation, of Navajo goods, or services, as those terms are defined in paragraphs (C) and (D) of this Section, minus the deductions allowable under § 405.

C. “Navajo goods” are all personal property produced, processed, or extracted within the Navajo Nation, including coal, oil, uranium, gas, and other natural resources and electrical power.

D. “Services” are all services performed within the Navajo Nation, including the transport or transmission by whatever means of coal, oil, uranium, gas, other natural resources and electrical power.

1. General rule: A “sale” consists of a transfer of ownership between buyer and seller for a consideration.

2. Intra-branch rule: A “sale” also consists of the delivery of Navajo goods, or the performance of services, by a branch, for the use or benefit of any person of which the branch is a part.

F. "Gross receipts" of a branch means and are to be determined according to the following rules.

1. General rule: Except as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3) below, the "gross receipts" of a branch are the amount of money or the fair market value of property and services received by the branch on the sale of Navajo goods or services.

2. Sales without the Navajo Nation: For sales without the Navajo Nation, "gross receipts" are determined by the value of the Navajo goods and services at the time and place said goods and services are transported outside the Navajo Nation.

3. Sales among related persons: On the sale of Navajo goods and services by a branch to a related person, "gross receipts" are the fair market value of the Navajo goods or services sold.

4. Estimate of fair market value: When practical, fair market value is to be determined on the basis of consideration paid in comparable transactions, but if such information is not available, the estimate of fair market value will be made according to regulations.

G. "Period" means a calendar quarter.

H. "New business" means a manufacturer or processor that occupies a new business facility or a grower that commences operation in the Navajo Nation on or after January 1, 1999.

I. "New business facility" means a facility in the Navajo Nation that satisfies the following requirements:

1. The facility is used by the taxpayer in the operation of a revenue-producing business. The facility shall not be considered a "new business facility" if the taxpayer's only activity with respect to the facility is to lease it to another person;

2. The facility is acquired by or leased to the taxpayer on or after July 1, 1998. The facility shall be deemed to have been acquired by or leased to the taxpayer on or after the specified date if the transfer of title to the taxpayer, the transfer of possession pursuant to a binding contract to transfer title to the taxpayer, or the commencement of the term of the lease to the taxpayer occurs on or after that date, or if the facility is constructed, erected, or installed by or on behalf of the taxpayer, the construction, erection or installation is completed on or after that date;

3. The facility is a newly acquired facility in which the taxpayer is not continuing the operation of the same or a substantially identical revenue-producing business that previously was in operation in the Navajo Nation; a facility is a "newly acquired facility" if the facility was acquired or leased by the taxpayer from another person even if the facility was used in a revenue-producing business in the Navajo Nation immediately prior to the transfer of the title to the facility to the taxpayer or immediately prior to the commencement of the term of the lease of the facility to the taxpayer by another person, provided that the revenue-producing business of the previous occupant was not the same or substantially identical to the taxpayer's revenue-producing business; and

4. The facility is not a replacement business facility for a business facility that existed in the Navajo Nation.

§ 411. Filing of return

A. Except as provided in Subsection (B) of this Section, each branch must file a return of source-gains and the tax due for the period by the fifteenth day of the second month after the end of each calendar quarter. Returns are due on May 15, August 15, November 15, and February 15 of each calendar year. The Commission may by form or regulation require that other information and relevant documents which it deems necessary for the proper and efficient administration of the tax be included with the return, and that the return be signed by specified persons.

B. No return need be filed by a branch for any period in which gross receipts are less than one hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($125,000). This exception does not apply if the branch had annualized gross receipts of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) or more in any of the three (3) years preceding the period. Nor does this exception apply if the branch is a general contractor subject to the exception in § 405(E) and the reduced tax rate provided in § 406, or if the branch is a subcontractor described in § 408(D) and for any period to which that Subsection applies.

C. If the branch is one, which is described in Section 405(D), and one to which the limitation of that Subsection will apply, then for Subsection (B) of this Section to apply, all the related branches must in the aggregate meet both qualifications.

D. If a branch is an association, joint venture, or partnership, or a part thereof, the Commission may require that each associate, participant, or partner whether general or limited, file a separate return in accordance with regulations, provided that the limits under § 405(D) shall apply as though each associate, participant, or partner were owned or controlled by the branch and by each other.

E. No return need be filed by any person who is exempt under § 408(A), (B), and (C), provided that the Commission may require such person to file the information necessary to establish its exempt status.

F. Exclusions from gross receipts shall be claimed in a return. In the case of the exclusion provided in § 408(D), a proper certificate of exemption shall constitute such a claim.

Annotations1. Validity

While as a general proposition the inherent sovereign powers of an Indian tribe do not extend to the activities of nonmembers on non-Indian fee land located within reservation boundaries, under Montana rule, two possible bases exist for tribal jurisdiction over non-Indian fee land: first, a tribe may regulate, through taxation, licensing, or other means, the activities of nonmembers who enter consensual relationships with tribe or its members, through commercial dealings, contracts, leases, or other arrangements, and second, a tribe may exercise civil authority over conduct of nonmembers on fee lands within reservation when that conduct threatens or has some direct effect on the political integrity, economic security, or health or welfare of tribe. Atkinson Trading Co., Inc. v. Shirley, 532 U.S. 645, 121 S.Ct. 1825, 149 L.Ed.2d 889, (U.S.N.M. 2001).

Indian tribe lacked authority to impose hotel occupancy tax on nonmember guests staying in hotel rooms located on non-Indian fee land that was within boundaries of tribe's reservation; neither exception to general Montana rule that inherent sovereign powers of an Indian tribe do not extend to the activities of nonmember was applicable, as no consensual relationship between tribe and hotel guests sufficient to justify taxation existed, and tax was not necessary to vindicate tribe's political integrity. Atkinson Trading Co., Inc. v. Shirley, 532 U.S. 645, 121 S.Ct. 1825, 149 L.Ed.2d 889, (U.S.N.M. 2001).

§ 702. Rate of tax

The rate of tax imposed by this chapter is five percent (5%) of the price paid for a room in a hotel. On January 1, 1994, the rate of the tax imposed by this Chapter will increase to eight percent (8%) of the price paid for a room in a hotel.

A. Suspension and revocation of license. Regardless of the date of discovery of any violation(s), the license(s) (if any) of the violator(s) shall be deemed automatically suspended pending a preliminary review by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission. The suspension shall be deemed effective as of the date of the first act, omission, or date of any document filed or submitted, in violation of this Chapter and corresponding regulations.

B. Closure of refinery. The Office of the Navajo Tax Commission is hereby authorized to immediately close any refinery that is in violation of any applicable provision(s) of this Chapter and corresponding regulations, by issuing a Notice of Closure to the alleged violator(s). Thereafter, the privilege of any violator(s) to engage in productive activity within the Navajo Nation may be

C. Closure of retail facility. The Office of the Navajo Tax Commission is hereby authorized to immediately close any retail facility that is in violation of any applicable provision(s) of this Chapter and corresponding regulations, by issuing a Notice of Closure to the alleged violator(s). Thereafter, the privilege of any violator(s) to engage in productive activity within the Navajo Nation may be immediately suspended according to procedures found in the Uniform Tax Administration Statute.

D. Impoundment of fuel, vehicles, or other property. The Office of the Navajo Tax Commission, or any on-duty officer of the Navajo Nation Division of Public Safety, is hereby authorized to immediately detain and/or impound any fuel load, fuel inventory on hand, transportation vehicles, cargo tanks, storage tanks, equipment paraphernalia, measuring or other devices, or any other tangible personal property used for or incident to the distribution, transportation, delivery, refining, storage, possession, or retailing of fuel, which fuel or property is owned or possessed by any person(s) discovered violating or having violated any applicable provision(s) of this Chapter and corresponding regulations.

E. Preliminary review.

1. Request for preliminary review. Within ten (10) calendar days from receipt by the alleged violator(s) of a Notice of License Suspension or a Notice of Closure, the alleged violator(s) may request a preliminary review of the action taken by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission. Upon receipt by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission of a written request for review by the alleged violator(s), a preliminary review shall be held within thirty (30) calendar days after receipt by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission of the request for review.

b. Return of excess revenue from sale. Any amount of fuel and/or property remaining after such sale shall be returned to the person(s) from whom it was impounded within ten (10) working days of the final date of such sale. In lieu thereof, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission may, in its discretion, determine the fair market value of such fuel and/or property and apply this amount as a credit against any subsequent fuel excise tax or taxes owing, provided that the person(s) to receive such credit has, within sixty (60) days after impoundment, demonstrated full compliance with all applicable provision(s) of this Chapter and corresponding regulations.

2. Civil penalties. In addition to any other applicable penalties provided for in this Chapter, the following penalties shall apply:

Failure to lift a license suspension, failure to rescind the closure of a refinery or retail facility, or the imposition of a standard or per-gallon penalty by the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission, after conclusion of the preliminary hearing conducted pursuant to § 918(E) of this Chapter, shall be considered an adverse action which may be appealed pursuant to § 131 of the Uniform Tax Administration Statute.

H. Relief of penalties. Upon receipt of an appeal and upon written recommendation of the Director of the Compliance Department of the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission, the Office of the Navajo Tax Commission may in its discretion relieve the appealing person(s) of all or part of the penalties assessed under this Chapter.

I. Regulations. The procedure for the determination, assessment, and/or relief of penalties under this § 918 shall be prescribed and governed by regulations.
