

Civic and Economic Education and the Current Financial Crisis I

Editor: Reinhold Hedtke

Reinhold Hedtke : Editorial: Financial, Economic and Political Crises – Carrying Social Science Education on as Before? .....	2–4
Thorsten Hippe : Exploring the Abyss The Financial Crisis of 2008 ff. as a Central Topic of Problem-Centered Social Science Education .....	5–19
Christoph Deutschmann : Paradoxes of Social Rise The Expansion of Middle Classes and the Financial Crisis .....	20–31
Tim Engartner : Less Government is Good Government? Deregulation as an Undermining Principle of Financial Markets .....	32–38
Peter Bendixen : The Rationale of Crisis Management – On the Handling of Coincidence in Economic Situations .....	39–48
Dirk Loerwald, Thomas Retzmann : Misselling as a New Topic of Financial Education? A Didactic Analysis of Investment Advice after the Financial Crisis .....	49–58
Andreas Klee, Andreas Lutter : “Greedy Buyers, Amoral Speculators and Lacking State Control” – Pupils’ Conceptions of the Crisis and their Relevance for Political and Economic Learning .....	59–65
Beyond the Main Topic of this Issue:
Kjetil Børhaug : Norwegian Civic Education – Beyond Formalism? .....	66–77
Nadine Malich : Die internationale Finanzkrise als Thema im dänischen Wirtschafts-/Politikunterricht [The International Financial Crisis as an Issue in Danish Courses for Economics/Politics] .....	79–93
Congress Report:
Matthias Busch, Tilman Grammes : Demokratie und Bildung .....	94–109
Matthias Busch, Tilman Grammes : Democracy and Education .....	110–125
Reviewers for the Journal of Social Science Education .....	126–127
Masthead .....	128

Keywords: deregulation, financial market, Hayek, interventions, liberalism, market constitution, neoclassicism, Business circle, rationale, culture, creativity, coincidence, intelligence of the unconscious, economic education, economic literacy, financial competence, financial literacy, moral education, „Lebenssituationen-Qualifikationen-Konzept“, investment advice, misselling, financial crisis, new institutional economics, principal-agent theory, signalling, screening, business ethics, Economic and Financial Crisis; group interviews; Pupils’ concepts, educational reconstruction, Dänemark, Finanzkrise, wirtschaft-politische Bildung, Samfundsfag, Schule, Unterricht, political education, civic education, Norway, citizenship, political participation, Anerkennungspädagogik, Bourdieu, Demokratiepädagogik, Informelles Lernen, Lehr-Lern-Forschung, Neo-Reformpädagogik, Neue Lernkultur, Partizipationskompetenz, scholastische Vernunft, Service Learning

